Catching a Thief

On Sunday evening Chief of Police McAuley received a telegram from Chief of Police Dewney of Sault Ste. Marie, asking him to arrest M. D. Herrmann, who was enroute to Buffalo coming down the lakes on the Alberta, which was due to arrive Sunday morning. The despatch stated that Herrmann was wanted for obtaining goods under false pretences. Very little description was given, merely that he was of medium hight and wearing light clothes The Chief assigned to Policemen Herron and Graham, who are on night duty, the task of capturing the man wanted, as the boat was due any time after 4 a.m. On the arrival of the Alberta Policeman Graham soon spotted the fellow, who was going by the assumed name of Parker. Graham accosted him quickly "Good morning Mr. Herrmann" and thus gained his acknowledgment of this being his name, and he was taken into custody and taken up town to the cells. His luggage addressed to Buffalo, was also taken in charge by the police. It transpires that Herrmann who is a Dane, went to a tailor in the Soo, and had a suit cleaned and a pair of pants made, representing that he had money in the bank and would pay for them on Saturday morning. Instead of doing this he slipped away on the Alberta which leaves the Soo early in the morning. To Chief McAuley, he admitted that he had intended to defraud the tailor, and as it was clearly a case of that this charge was made the ground on which Police Magistrate Spencer committed him to goal pending the arrival of an officer from the Soo. Herrmann, after being arrested, was very anxious to settle for clothes, and pay the costs, and this fact was made known to the parties at the Soo by the chief when he telegraphed them of his arrest. It is quite possible, however, that the charge being changed to theft may prevent the case being settled in this way but the police magistrate advised that this be done and let results be what they might. Herrmann is quite a young man, and seemed to feel his position somewhat keenly.

The young fellow was allowed to square all accounts, including cost, and proceed on his journey, happy to get off so easy.

A good thing was noticed in front of a certain hotel the other day. The proprietor and a guest were sitting side by side on the verandah, the guest amusing himself by whittling the arm of the chair he was sitting on. The proprietor took out his knife and started cutting buttons off the guest's vest. Two of them were cut off before the gentleman noticed it when he immediately asked, "Say! what are yot cutting the buttons off my clothes for?" The proprietor answered, "For the same reason you are cutting my chair—to pass away the time."

The Reeve of Nottawasaga had a contest with a swarm of bees the other day, and to judge from the appearance of his face shortly afterwards, he must have had a hotter time than he had in some of his election contests.—Star.

A Warning to the Public

To the Editor of The Advance.

DEAR SIR,—Kindly allow us a little space in your valuable paper to emphatically deny a disreputable, disgraceful and lying story that has come to our hearing concerning our two daughters, Ida and Rachel, which is a lie of the blackest and lowest origin. Our two daughters are now home in perfect health and appearance, from Weston, where they have been for the past three and five months respectively. The person who originated the foul and lying report cannot but be of the lowest type of humanity and may yet be prosecuted, and we further make this public statement and warning that any person known hereafter to repeat the report referred to will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

FRANCIS SHIRE,
MARY A. SHIRE.

An exchange figures it out as follows: "In state or church it is rule or be ruled; in courtship and marriage, it is fool or be fooled; in logic or law, it is lick or be licked; in gambling or trade, it is trick or be tricked; in treaty or war it is beat or be beaten; in the struggle of life, it is eat or be eaten; in politics, it is crow or eat crow; in newspaper life, it is hoe your own row."

Chas. Lawrence, a Normanby carpenter, was killed recently by falling from the roof of a barn, he was shingling, to the ground, a distance of forty feet. He leaves a wife and nine children.

Joshua Metzker, who for many years has been fuming near Singhampton, died last week. He was formerly a railway engineer, and we believe had the honor of running the first engine over the milroad into Collingwood.

Farmers in the vicinity of Cotswold report that a strange pest has visited that section and devoured the entire mangle crop. Priceville

From Our Own Correspondent.

We would advise all tramps, vagrants, mendicants, vagabonds, burglars, horse-thieves, etc., etc, to give our burg a wide berth in the future. This gratuito counsel was suggested by a stirring event which occurred within the precincts of this village not many moons ago. One night about 12 o'clock one of our residents noticed two suspicious looking characters apparently loafing around the street as if intending mischief. Their faces, their dress and general appearance and actions were anything but reassuring and hence word was soon quietly sent around to the villagers who hadn't retired to muster out to run down these nocturnal strollers. Soon a crowd of respectables swarmed out on the highway armed to the teeth (in some instances) with various weapons, both ancient and modern, ready to face the biggest desperados that ever robbed a bank or plundered a hen roost. Meanwhile their game had got scent that trouble was brewing, so they sprinted for their dear lives and succeeded in completely eluding their now thoroughly aroused and excited pursuers, who diligently searched stables, barns, poultry houses, etc., till near break of day. But the next day the fun began, when it leaked out that the supposed midnight marauders were none other than two respectable but badly scared lads, who were having a bit of sport, but they never dreamed that they were going to kick up such a dust in the town.

The hay crop is exceedingly light this year. It is reported that one farmer near here cut a ten-acre field and drew the whole of the crop into the barn in one load. The price of fodder will undoubtedly be high next winter.

As one of our young men was about to visit a sister village he was asked by his sister to bring him a few moth balls. He did so with a vengeance, as he purchased enough to supply the whole burg. Of course he "didn't know." We don't wish to be personal for fear we may get a "tanning."

Mr. G. Watson visited friends in Hopeville at the beginning of this week.

Misses Beatrice Robertson and Laura Bennetts returned to their home in Palmerston this week after a very pleasant visit at Mr. S. Blakeston's.

Died—On Saturday, July 14, James Bolger, aged 30 yrs. 6 mos. The Deceased was a young man of very pleasant and affable disposition. For some time he was in the harness making business at Bell's Corners but that dreaded disease, consumption, seized him and he was compelled to dispose of his shop. He then came to Priceville and resided with his brother, Mr. P. Bolger of the Crown Hotel, when he was faithfully and tenderly cared for by his sister, Miss Mary Bolger. The funeral took place on Monday to the R. C. Cemetery in the South of Proton and was largely attended.

Mr. Tudor, who is working Mrs. Scotts farm east of the village, lost one of his horses lately in a very peculiar way. Near the farm is a pond which is open to the road and at which Mr. Tudor often gives his horses water, so when the horses were unhitched from the mower a short time ago they went to the pond for drink but on this occasion they were checked up and as a result waded into the centre of the pond and began to sink in the mud. An alarm was soon given, but shortly after the animals were extricated one of them died.

The E. L. and S. S. of the Methodist church intend holding a Lawn Social at the parsonage next Friday (to-morrow) evening. A good program is in preparation. See bills.

Kimberley

From Our Own Correspondent

Mr. Editor, We have been a long time silent, perhaps because every one around here is busy.

Berry picking is the order of the day. There seems to be an abundant supply everywhere and young and old are providing for winter. Mr. S. S. Burritt holds the record for good picking having picked twenty-three quarts during part of a day last week.

The farmers in this locality are busy cutting their wheat. Many have a very fair crop considering the kind of year.

Mr. Geo. Walter, our enterprising implement agent, has introduced a few binders, mowers and sulky rakes into the valley. He sold one to Mr. Thos Hawkins, in the suburbs, and many critics went up to see it work. They pronounce it a success.

Mr. W. H. Thurston, his daughter Miss Flossie, and Miss Howe of New Jersey wheeled down to our village on Saturday evening, coming by way of Wodehouse in order to get a view of the valley from a most favorable place. The scene is old to Mr. Thurston yet we believe has not lost its charm for him.

Mr. Alfred Fith and Mr. Hubert Ellis of Meaford spent Sunday with Mr. J. E. Hammond.

Rev. R. T. White addressed the members of the Orange Lodge last Sunday, his text being Psalm 20- 5.

Misses Jennie and Dorothy Mundle of Toronto are visiting at their parental home.

Mr. Will Walters leaves to-day for Rat Portage.

Our postmaster and his good lady are taking a well earned holiday visiting the home of Mr. Hammond's early years over in Pennsylvania.

Inistioge

From Our Own Correspondent.

News is very scarce, everybody being busy.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher spent Sunday with Mulmur friends.

Miss Armstrong of Toronto is visiting at Mr. Strain's.

Miss Ida Rosborough of Dundalk spent last week with the Misses Johnson.

Miss Ludlow of Alliston was the guest of Miss Maud Johnson for a few days recently.

Mr. J. B. Williamson has returned home after spending the winter at Little Current. Welcome home, Rob.

Rev Mr. Arnold of Toronto and Miss Kate Moore of Owen Sound are visiting at the home of Mr. Geo. Moore.

M. H. McClure of Toronto spent a few days with his brother last week.

Miss Gibson of Dundalk spent Sunday with Miss Jennie Gott.

Mr. Frank Campbell, who lives with his brother, Mr. Wm. Campbell, 10 con., Proton, on Monday, while laboring under a mental delusion, blew out his brains. Ill health had affected the deceased mental powers and he had dropped hints that he intended to do away with himself. He finished dinner before the rest of the family and went into his room, where he had secreted a double barrel shot gun. Placing the muzzle against his head he fired the gun and was killed instantly. The gun was loaded with small shot and a few grains of buck shot. Dr. McWilliam was sent for but the deceased had been dead for several hours before his arrival. An inquest was considered unnecessary. Mr. Campbell was about 55 years old, and unmarried. He had lived with his brother for a number of years, and generally followed the occupation of threshing. He was a quiet, inoffensive man, and it is no doubt that brooding over his ill-health led him to commit this rash deed. The aged mother was prostrated by the terrible blow, and much sympathy is felt for her and the remainder of the family.—Herald.

Partridges were so depleted last season that they were in danger of extinction, and therefore the game law was amended that partridges could not be offered for sale, and provision was made to enable the Government to prohibit shooting the birds at all, as it was feared would be necessary this season. The season, however, has been a good one for partridge, dry weather prevailing during the brooding, and the open season will be as usual.

D. R. Dobie, secretary of the Owen Sound school board, is dead.

Four hundred gold sovereigns were handed out by mistake for four hundred coppers at the Dominion Bank at Orillia last week. The mistake was made in this way. A well-known fur and hide buyer came into the bank the other day, and asked for $4 worth of coppers. They were handed to him in a bag, which he took away. Subsequently it was discovered that the bag contained gold sovereigns instead of coppers. Naturally the mistake caused considerable perturbation. Constable George Clark was communicated with, and instructed to trace the coin. The buyer had gone to Coldwater, and readily turned over the bag when asked for it, never having noticed that he was carrying gold instead of copper. He refused the reward proffered him.—Packet
