

FORD MOYNES

ON THE MAIN STREET

For sheer stirring and stimulating rhythm and a kaleidoscope of beautiful colour, the Centennial Wagonwheel Jamboree held by the Lindsay Circle Eights Saturday night takes the cake and all the frosting.

Members of the Circle Eights were out in full force for the concluding dance of the season and were accompanied by visitors from Peterboro, Bowmanville, Whitby, Oshawa, Toronto and other places with as many as 30 squares occupying the large arena floor at one time.

The year end function was one of the most colourful assemblies ever held in Lindsay. It was a well arranged and well conducted event.

Donald McQuarrie, more familiarly known as Dan, was honoured by the members of Faithful Brethren Lodge A.F.

and A.M. No. 77 recently.

He was honoured in his unavoidable absence, by the presentation of an honorary life membership.

Worshipful Brother McQuarrie joined masonry when he was a member of the teaching profession in the Canadian west. On returning to his home village of Argyle, he was associated with the Harding Lodge at Woodville, and when he moved to Lindsay he became affiliated with the No. 77 Lodge and had a very successful year as Master of the lodge.

W. Bro. McQuarrie was for many years a teacher and his first school was in Bexley Township.

During his active career he was associated with many organizations including a very active presidency of the Red Cross Society, he was the founder of the Victoria County Historical Society, industrial commission of Lindsay for some five years during which time he succeeded in securing five industries.

He has been identified with several other organizations, but for some time past he has been confined to his home due to illness.

The Kiwanis Music Festival has been revived as the Club's centennial project. A few years ago the Festival held it's twenty-fifth yearly session and it is stated that several thousand boys and girls received their first introduction to music and instruction in the project.

Past presidents of the Festival included Ford Moynes, Dan McQuarrie, Donald McLeod, Eldon Dettman, Roy Neville, James Wood, Ray Patterson, W. S. Battersby, W. S. W. Breese, Percy Skitch, Donald Anderson, Joseph Staples, Joseph Holtom, Thomas Quinn Glen Gordon, Jack Deyell, Harry Johnson, Bill Alleley, B. Whyte. The Kiwanis officials in charge of this year's festival are William Perry and Harry Johnson.

Attractions at the Academy Theatre have been so numerous that many citizens have been unable to keep up with the pace financially.

Every theatrical production has been very worthy. The latest show "Separate Tables" presented by Lindsay's Little Theatre group deserved larger audiences.

It was performed by Lindsay actors and actresses well staged, beautifully costumed and very well performed. The show deserved a much larger patronage. It is very commendable the amount of time and talent local people contribute to amateur presentations and for this they are to be praised. Few towns can boast of such talented performers and few towns can boast of such a fine theatre. Orchids to the members of the Little Theatre organization.
