A Nervy Boy

Coasting down the streets on his wagon yesterday, George Lavelle, about 13 years of age, lost the end of his third finger on his left hand Just how the accident occurred, we do not know, other than George's own statement that he went over a bump, and off came my finger." The digit was severed at the first joint. George is evidently possessed of lots of nerve, for he wrapped the end of his finger in a piece of paper and hiked for the Dr. for treatment, stating that while his mother knew he had his finger hurt she didn't know what he had wrapped up in the paper. The finger, we understand, will have to be further amputated to fix it up properly —Durham Chronicle

Poor Old Folks—

Looks as if they'll have to go "over the hill to the Poor-house."

Their children either can't or won't support them.

Tragic? Yes! But not half so tragic as the old folks' remembrance of the fact that their present plight is due to their lack of foresight in not making provision for their declining years.

Be independent in YOUR old age.

A small amount invested annually for a few years in an Imperial Endowment Policy will enable you to end your days in comfortable independence instead of as a burden upon the charity of friends or in a paupers' home.

WHOSE OX IS GORED?

On the anniversary of Vimy Ridge a banquet was given in one of the big Toronto Hotels, and according to the Farmers Sun, four thousand dollars worth of damage was done by drink maddened men. The Sun charges the Toronto daily press with supressing the news, and states that "The Ontario License Board was investigating long before the papers were bold enough to print a timid note or two, inexplicable to all but those in the know."

It is not long since that a sensation was caused by a certain "all night" party at the legislature itself and an investigation was asked for but refused. The Ontario License Board somehow failed to be seized of the importance of investigating that little event, and the Sun ignominiously failed to give publication to the scandal.

Why should it censure the dailies for failing to do what the Sun itself failed to do?

There is an old saying, "It makes all the difference in the word whose ox is gored." There is another which also might be applicable, and which has become an aphorism, "people who live in glass houses should not throw stones."

We say let both cases be investigated and publish all the evidence. Such reports would sell papers like hot cakes. Of course reputations might suffer, but some papers do not care for reputations when the subscription list prospers.

HE TAKES EXCEPTION

Mr. Leeson, M. P. P. for South-east Grey writes The Advance that he takes exception to our figures regarding the Walkerton cement quarry. The statement supplied us by the Hydro Commission gives the figures as follows:

Total payment principal and interest	$424,217.22
Sale price, including principal and interest	310,000 00
Total net loss	$ 51,441 66

From the figures supplied us we do not see how anything else can be made of it.

The wireless telephone which is now becoming popular, is going to be a wonderful thing for isolated communities or for farms. The installation costs a very small sum, and after a time all farms equipped with telephones will instal the new invention and listen in to the distant music or entertainments. Imagine the boon it will be to an invalid who is deathly tired of the little world in which he is confined. The aerial telephone is going to make a different place of this old sphere.

What is electricity for if not to give shocks? Hamilton is the latest to suffer one of these pulsations. The Hydro Board of that city thought they had a surplus, but discover that there is a deficit of $285,000. Some shock!

The storm Monday night, though the lightning was vivid and the thunder was heavy, did comparatively little damage in this vicinity; but Mr. Samuel Locke, of Sydenham, near Hoath Head has reason to remember it in the loss of two head of cattle. Four cows were in the stable when it was struck by lightning, and two were instantly killed, while the others were unhurt. The loss, fortunately, is partly covered by insurance; and luckily the lightning did not set fire to the building.—Advertiser

ABOUT SOIL FOODS.

Determining the Need of Chemical Fertilizers.

The appearance of the growing leaves and tissues can frequently be taken as an indicator for the presence or absence of nitrogen in sufficient quantity to satisfy the maximum demands of plants. A yellowish tinge or a dull green is an indicator of abundant nitrogen. Drouth and excessive moisture may also cause the yellowing or weakening in the coloration of foliage. Failure of clover on lands that at one time produced good yields may be taken as an indication of a shortage of lime and phosphorous. A decline in the wheat grade after years of wheat production can generally be attributed to a shortage or failure in the phosphorous supply.

How to Make Experimental Plots.

However, these generally observed conditions are not sufficiently accurate to be a definite guide, and should be supplemented by a miniature field test, using square rod areas with various chemical mixture applications. This is accomplished by simply staking off a representative area one rod wide and six rods long, and dividing it into six plots. This done apply before seeding on plot one, nitrogen; on plot two, phosphorous; on plot three, potash; on plot four, nitrogen and potash; on plot five, nitrogen, potash and phosphorous; plot six, potash and phosphorous. The adjoining soil will serve as a check plot for all areas. By watching the plots during the crop season and the following two years, a fairly definite conclusion relative to the needs of the field can be secured.

Every soil area should be studied by itself, since the requirements of one field may differ from the requirements of the field adjoining.—L. Stevenson, Secretary Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

Popular Varieties of Strawberries.

From the beginning of commercial strawberry growing, about 1800, the Large Early Scarlet was the leading variety grown in the United States. About 1860 the Wilson replaced this variety, because it was much firmer and was more suitable for shipping to distant markets, and its hardiness and good bearing qualities helped to make strawberry growing more popular in Ontario. From about 1880 varieties began to replace each other in more rapid succession, until at present 25 sorts constitute about 90 per cent. of the total commercial strawberry acreage. The Klondike, the leading variety in the Southern States, heads the list, constituting 28 per cent. of the total strawberry acreage. The Aroma, the favorite variety in the South Central States, is second with 13 per cent. of the total acreage, while the Dunlap in the Northern States ranks third, with 10 per cent. In Ontario among the most popular varieties commercially are the Glen Mary, Williams, Dunlap, Gandy, Splendid, Parsons, and Sample. Among the fall bearers the Superb and Progressive are preferred.

FIRST IN ITS CLASS

The man who holds a high position in public esteem usually has earned it. So it is with automobiles.

You know the popularity of the Chevrolet car in this district and you know there must be a reason for it.

In fact there are many reasons. Here are some of them:

The Chevrolet is a car of high quality, remarkable performance, easy operation and control, excellent riding qualities and fine appearance. It is an economical car, too, in operation and upkeep.

If you would like to have a ride in the Chevrolet car we have been telling you about now and then, we would be glad to drive out to your place almost any day or evening and take you and your family for a little spin.

Our motto:—"Square Treatment." Ask any Chevrolet owner what he thinks of our treatment and service.
