Kansas Winter Wheat

At the Ontario Agricultural College

In 1895 the Ontario Agricultural College imported eleven varieties of winter wheat from Kansas, four from Indiana, one from Iowa, six from Ohio, etc. The Turkish or Turkey Red, regarding which we are hearing so much at the present time, was one of the varieties imported that year, and has therefore been grown at the college in each of the past seven years. We again imported fresh seed of the Turkey Red variety in 1896 and sowed both the Canadian and the western grown seed in the autumn of that year. The results from the two crops in 1897 were slightly in favor of the Canadian grown seed but were almost identical, there being a difference of less than one peck in the yield of grain per acre.

The annual report of the Agricultural College for 1898 gives the average of five years' results of tests with each of 45 varieties in strength of straw, weight of grain per measured bushel, and yield of grain per acre. It also gives the comparative hardness of the grain of each variety as determined with an apparatus similar to one invented by Prof. N. A. Cobb of Australia. The tabulated results on page 254 are followed by a report of about 1000 words specially dealing with the relative hardness of the grain of the varieties there given, including the Turkey Red, the Dawson's Golden Chaff, and the early Red Clawson. Rather than recommend any one variety of winter wheat for Ontario, the College publishes from time to time the exact results of practical experiments and then allows those interested to make their own selection. The report closes with the following remarks: "The varieties which the farmers are likely to grow are those which they can usually harvest with the least amount of labor, and that will produce the greatest financial returns for their time and labor in growing the crop. The requirements of the markets, however, should be closely watched, and the aim should be to grow those varieties which will give the best results, and at the same time furnish that quality of grain for which there is the greatest demand. A careful study of the results of our experiments with winter wheat will greatly aid in this selection. Work is now being done in the Experimental Department with the object of improving the best varieties of winter wheat by means of careful selection and cross fertilization." The College Reports are printed by the by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto, Ont., and are distributed from there to all who apply for them. In the winter of 1898-9, from 85 to 90 per cent. of both the Dawson Golden Chaff and the Turkey Red varieties were winter killed. Both varieties, however, came through the following winter in good condition. The following are the average results of the field tests for six years with both the Turkey Red and the Dawson's Golden Chaff:—

	Turkey Red.	Dawson's Golden Chaff
Relative hardiness	Hardy	Hardy
Strength of straw	Weak	Strong
Height of crop (inches)	42.8	46.7
Nature of head	Bearded	Bald
Date of maturity	July 17	July 18
Amount of rust	Slight	Some
Color of grain	Red	White
Weight of grain meas.	61.0	60.3
Yield straw per acre ton	2.6	3 4
Yield grain per acre bus.	41.3	56.7

The college report for 1893 states that the grain of the Turkey Red was harder than that of any other variety in the crop of 1896 and that the grain of the Turkey Red and the Pride of Genesee was the hardest of the varieties mentioned for 1898. The Dawson's Golden Chaff was referred to as a softer wheat, and the Early Red Clawson as being the softest of the red varieties. Mr. Robert Harcourt of the chemical department of the college has been doing some work with the past two years in determining the gluten content and the bread yielding power of some of the varieties of winter wheat grown in Ontario and as the work continues the results are becoming of increased value.

Men of long experience in handling wheat differ greatly in their judgment of the value of the Dawson's Golden Chaff variety. Within the past week the writer invited leading millers of Guelph, Galt, Preston, Berlin and Bridgeport to pass judgment upon the comparative value of two varieties of winter wheat for milling purposes. These were the Dawson's Golden Chaff and the Treadwell, both of which were grown at the college this year. The judgments were made separately and resulted in three of the millers selecting the Dawson as the best and the other three selecting the Treadwell as the best wheat. The Treadwell sample must have been a good representative of the old time Treadwell as Mr. S. J. Cherry of Preston, who has been in the milling business for many years, stated that he never saw a better sample of the Treadwell wheat than the one shown him, and the Goldie Bros. of Guelph considered it to be of extra good quality and, in fact, the very best of the 36 varieties of white wheats grown at the college this year.

In the autumn of 1898 Mr. Peter Shirk of Waterloo county imported a car load of seed of the Turkey Red variety of winter wheat from the state of Kansas, but as the wheat did not reach Ontario until very late only a small quantity was sown that autumn. A somewhat larger amount, however, was sown in the fall of 1899. In order to ascertain the results of growing this wheat on different farms, the writer recently went to Mr. Shirk's place at Bridgeport and was given the names of the persons residing near Bridgeport and Berlin, who had grown at least a few acres of the Turkey Red wheat this year. Six growers were called upon and the following gives the report made by each.

Peter Shirk—4 acres, very rich land, crop badly lodged, 25 bushels per acre, about 64 lbs. per measured bushel.

Richard Quickfall—4 acres, killed out badly in spots last winter, very bad straw resembling barley straw, estimated yield 12 or 13 bushels per acre.

Moses Betzner—11½ to 11¾ acres, excellent wheat land which formerly yielded 50 bushels of the Fultz wheat to the acre, in 1899 plowed under a crop of clover and also applied farm yard manure crop leaned badly, yield of grain this year 425 bushels, weight of grain per measured bushel from the machine about 63 lbs.

Monno Bowman—3 acres, clover sod, very weak straw being about one-half down, total yield of grain 30 bushels.

Elias Kolb—9 acres, corn ground, not as strong as some varieties, estimated yield 30 bushels per acre.

J. H. Shepherd—3 acres, badly winter killed in spots last winter, straw crinkled like barley.

It will be seen from the foregoing reports that the result obtained from growing the Turkey Red variety of wheat in Waterloo county and at the college are very similar.

We have found from our experimental work with winter wheat that very frequently the season has a much greater influence than the variety in determining the quality of the grain. For instance the weight per measured bushel of the Turkey Red was 64.5 lbs. in 1898 and 55 1 lbs. in 1897 and that of the Dawson's Golden Chaff was 61.6 lbs. in 1898 and 55 5 lbs. in 1897. It will be remembered that in 1897 there was an exceptionally wet harvest and that a large amount of wheat throughout Ontario was sprouted that year. I understand that there was a large export trade from Ontario of flour made from the wheat grown in 1897, and this might have something to do with the reputation of our flour in the foreign market.

Stone's Settlement.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Editor, indisposition has prevented your correspondent sending in his usual budget for the last few weeks, but we hope to be better able to attend to business in the future.

The pleasant countenance of our amiable teacher again illuminates our public school. The attendance since the re-opening has been below the average, but will probably increase after harvest is finished.

Mr. and Mrs. John Whittaker of Ceylon partook of their wedding dinner at the residence of the former's uncle, Mr. Richard Whittaker on Wednesday last. We extend congratulations to the happy couple, trusting that their future path through life may be strewed with the sweetest of roses.

We were pleased to hear that Miss Annie Harrow, who has been attending the Owen Sound Collegiate, has succeeded in passing a highly creditable examination.

Although the late rains have somewhat retarded the completion of the harvest in this section, we have been doubly compensated by the improvements to the late crops. Although the straw is generally short the grain is fairly good, and all signs of a fodder famine the coming winter are at end. The hills and pastures, too, which were so dry and parched, have again assumed a spring-like appearance, much to the relief of the cattle and sheep.

That "spook," or rather, that nocturnal, spherical, luminous phenomenon is again on the rampage, and was vasty visible for two long hours to a party of agriculturists who were drawing grain in the neighborhood on Thursday night last. The next time you see it, Jack, be prepared to take a "snap shot."

After a lapse of thirty-four years, Mr. Fred Gee, who was formerly a Sergeant in the Bedfordshire regiment, under Col. Peacock, recieved, last week, from Ottawa, the service medal and clasp for the Fenian Raid of 1866. The ribbon attached to it is similar to that of the Indian Mutiny (1857-8) medal ribbon which has two bars red and two white, the Fenian Raid medal ribbon having two red and one white bar.

We understand that the erection of the new building for the use of our sabbath school and League has been postponed until next spring, in order to allow the lumber to get thoroughly seasoned. A wise idea.

On Friday evening Roy, second son of Mr. Wm. Fletcher, met with a serious accident while raking stubble with the horse rake. Some portion of the harness broke, causing the horse, a spirited animal, to bolt. Roy was violently thrown to the ground, which caused dislocation and fracture of the shoulder blade. Drs. Boyle and Hutton were in attendance. Some weeks will elapse before Roy will be able to be around again.

During the thunderstorm on Saturday evening the barn of Angus McKinnon was struck by lightning and totally consumed, together with his entire grain crop. Fortunately and almost miraculously, the stables, which are situated only a short distance from the barn, and contained the bulk of his hay crop, escaped the fire. We cannot state whether there was any or no insurance, but in either case Mr. McKinnon will suffer loss.

Priceville

From Our Own Correspondent.

Harvesting operations are about wound up for this year. It is many years since the farmers have completed their season's work so early. Already the whistle of the steam thresher is heard and the prospects for a short run is evident as the crop is light this year. We trust, however, that the price of grain will be such as in some measure to compensate for the shortage in yield.

Mr. James Watson of Cheboygan, Mich, is visiting friends in this vicinity. J. W. met the local lodge of A.O.U.W. at the hall on Monday evening and received old acquaintances.

Miss Bertha James is visiting friends in Owen Sound this week.

Miss Grace Johnson of Simcoe is the guest of Mrs. E. Grier at present.

Mrs. Jones of Owen Sound visited friends in the village this week.

Miss Nathalie Grier is spending a few days with friends in Dundalk.

Mrs. Scanlan and children of StCatherines are the guests of Mrs. Bolger of the Crown Hotel.

Mrs Murray of Toronto spent spent a few days lately with her parentas, Mr. and Mrs. Dougal McLean.

Miss M. A. McArthur of Dundalk spent Sunday with her parents.

Mr. Herman McLean took a pleasant drive over to Collingwood last Saturday.

Mr. Dougal Wright of of Collingwood is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs D. McLean.

Eugenia

From Our Own Correspondent

The beautiful rains have cooled the atmosphere and have started the grass growing again. Late crops and roots are receiving great benefit.

Rev. Mr. White took advantage of the recent excursion from Owen Sound to Niagara Falls and visited a day or two with friends in Toronto. Our pushing sawmill man, F. T. Carr, also took a well earned holiday and excurted with the happy gang from Owen Sound to the Falls, but also combined business with pleasure, prospecting for a few hours amongst the machine shops of Toronto for some machines he proposes to add to his mill plant here. Both these gentlemen were delighted with their trip.

Mrs. Lucy Sloan of Meaford is visiting at Mr. Beecroft's.

Mrs. Henry Fenwick has been very seriously ill during the past week with spinal disease and still remains in a very critical condition.

Mr. W. H. Fenwick of Toronto is home at present.

Walter Carruthers of Creemore is visiting his aunt, Mrs. W. Pedlar.

Miss Jean Fleming, who has been visiting at Mr. Woodburn's, has returned to her home in Philadelphia.

Mrs. F. T. Carr, Eugenia Falls, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. J. T. Burns, Charlotte st.—Belleville Sun.

Dundalk

From Our Own Correspondent.

Harvesting will soon be a thing of the past around here and the prospects are fairly bright for a good yield.

Rev. L. W. Thom of Flesherton preached the preparatory sermon in Erskin Presbyterian church on Friday evening, and on Sabbath Rev. Buchannan administered the sacrament of the Lord's supper.

Mr. Geo. Hanbury, who has been visiting friends in Brandon and Winnipeg for some weeks, returned home on Saturday last. He likes that country well.

Miss Fannie Wilson of Markdale visited her sister, Mrs. J. Whitby, for two or three days last week.

A number of our townspeople are visiting out of town.

Rev. Mr. Campbell has started revival services here assisted by a former pastor, the Rev. Mr. Mahood.

Kimberley

From Our Own Correspondent

Harvesting is practically over in the valley and many will be sowing their fall wheat this week.

Mr. W. S. Bishop had Mr. John Wright's engine running his mill last week. The water was too low for a continuous run. During the time Mr. J. R. Fawcett had a quantity of timber sawn for a big contract in bridge building.

Miss Lily Graham of Detroit is home visiting her parents at the "Klondyke" Mills up the Beaver.

We offer our congratulations to Mr. Wellington Graham on his success in passing his Junior Leaving examination.
