REMARKS.

We have delayed issuing our Prices Current longer than usual, owing to the lateness of our arrivals from sea, and the consequent inactivity of our market. Within the last few days, however, our Spring Fleet has been dropping in, and our market begins to show some signs of animation, although the transactions are not yet on any extended scale. An uneasy feeling has for some weeks been entertained by many in consequence of constant and continued drought, and the fear that large quantities of Timber would remain in the woods. The late rain has partly dispelled this fear, but the accounts we receive from above are very contradictory. Holders of Stocks, however, manifest a good deal of firmness, and our future prices will in a great measure be affected by the tonnage coming out, as well as the state of the weather, for the next two or three weeks. Few fresh Rafts have yet arrived. A sale of a small one of 63 feet has been made at 7d., and a fine lot of last year's was placed some weeks ago at 9d. of 80 feet average. For logs in shipping order our quotations are demanded, and we question if much or any deduction would be conceded to. Red Pine is held at 1s. for 40 feet in shipping order.

Oak has been sold at 20d., measured off, for large average, and this price is asked in shipping order. The Stock wintering here has been large, but little has been made the past winter; this, with what remained over last year in Upper Canada, will be about one-half of the supply of last season, and if the export is an average one we expect it will maintain its price.

Elm is scarce, especially for good, and if low waters continue, this article will more than any other feel its effects, as much of it is got out on small streams.

Ash and Birch are scarce. The manufacture of both has caused such loss to parties during the preceding three years, that very little has been made during the past winter.

Tamarac is still dull for Flatted, of which the stock continues large, but Square is in moderate demand at from 9d. to 1s.

Staves have opened at £65 for Pipe, and £16 for W.O. Puncheon. Although they may decline a little in summer, we do not expect to see them low, as the supply of both will be moderate.

In Deals we have not as yet had any large sales during the last few weeks, but holders seem to expect £12 10s to £13 for Floated, and £13 10s to £14 for Bright 1st quality, and ⅓rds for 2nds, and for Spruce, which are likely to be less abundant, £7 for 1sts, £6 2nds, and £4 10s for 3rds, is asked.

Freights opened pretty well, 37s to 37s 6d having been paid for Liverpool and the Clyde, but have gradually declined, and we now quote them dull at 35s for Liverpool and 36s for the Clyde.

Comparative statement of Arrivals and Tonnage at this Port, in the years 1855 and 1856, to the 24th May, are as follows:—

1855,	94 vessels,	51,776 tons.
1856,	102 vessels.	59,358 tons.

Special Notices.

The great antidote for epidemics, is Dr. James McCuntock's diarrhœa medicine which has frequently been administered to over two hundred patients in a single day at the City Cholera Hospital and City Prison Philadelphia, during the fright ful epidemic of 1832. In cases of Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, Dysentry, Cholera Infantum and Summer Complaints, it gives instant relief. A speedy cure is sure to follow its use. It is mild and safe for children and adults.

A Blooming Complexion and a Good Appetite are the results of using Dr. Jas. McCuntock's Alterative Syrup for purifying the Blood, Eradicating Simple Boils, Scrofula, and all kinds of Taint from the system, and creating New, Pure, and Rich Blood; also his Dyspeptic Elixir, for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and all diseases incident to this complaint it strengthens the stomach, assists digestion, creates a good appetite, and speedily restores to health the sufferer.

Delicate Lungs cannot safely be trifled with and yet tens of thousands of our population are annually swept off by pulmonary diseases, which in their incipiency a few doses of Dr James McCuntock's cold and cough mixture would have radically cured. Colds and coughs lay the foundation of consumption and bronchitis, and where this has unfortunately been the case, the patient is earnestly recommended to try Dr McCuntock's Pectoral Syrup as the only means of present relief and prospective cure.

Dr McCuntock's Medicines have this great merit—they strike at the very root of disease. They do not merely alleviate the symptoms, but totally extinguish the complaint. Those who have tested his Fever and Ague Syrup,

ORANGE ASSOCIATION B.N.A.

PROCLAMATION

By the Right Worshipful the Grand Master of British North America, JOHN FLANIGAN, Esq.,

TO HIS COMPANIONS AND BRETHREN, GREETING:—

AFTER mature deliberation and after consultation with his official Brethren, with whom he has taken a calm survey of events as they are now presented to the public, and in consideration of the proceedings had in high places, the Right Worshipful the Grand Master has resolved to convene a special meeting of the Right Worshipful the Grand Lodge.

Chief among the considerations that have induced the Right Worshipful the Grand Master to take this step is the conviction that every effort should be made to effect a union of the Brethren, and that all minor considerations should be laid aside to effect that great object. Inasmuch as the Brethren unhappily now in connection with the adverse Grand Lodge, will hold their annual meeting at a distance from the place at which the Grand Lodge will assemble, and as on that account all negotiations must meet with more or less interruption and embarrassment, it is deemed advisable that an emergent meeting should be held to devise means by which all such difficulties may be obviated, and the great object so much desired by all true Orangemen honorably accomplished.

In the opinion of the R. W., the Grand Master, no one can doubt the necessity that the double administration of affairs should cease. It has already been attended with serious evils, and, if continued, will render the institution itself perfectly inactive and inefficient. It is no period now for discussing who is right or who is wrong, but the welfare of the whole demands mutual and immediate concessions, such concessions as will convince the world that as a brotherhood, Orangemen have means by which to settle their unhappy differences. He who was for years the acknowledged head of your order, retired from the high position to which his Brethren had elected him, hoping thereby to bring us the blessings of peace and union, and the R. W., the Grand Master, hopes that the example so honorably set will be followed by the Brethren generally. For himself, the R. W., the Grand Master, declares he never had any desire to be placed where the too favorable opinion of his Brethren placed him. His only object was to serve and be useful to the order, and while now ready as ever to maintain the integrity and rights of the order with his property and his existence, he will cheerfully join with his Brethren in making any sacrifice consistent with the dignity of the association, which its general interests may demand.

Movements are afloat, which, more or less, must affect the Protestant constitution of the Association, and therefore in the opinion of the R. W., the Grand Master, it is necessary that the original position of the order should be restored and maintained in an energetic condition. If, after mature deliberation and consultation, the order is of opinion that the movements of the day are adverse to those great protestant principles, to maintain which the Brethren are bound together, then, in the opinion of the R. W., the Grand Master, the order should place itself in the front of battle and stoutly and resolutely oppose the same.

But if the convictions of the Brethren are such that they recognize in the movements of the day and in the questions propounded, support for those principles of civil and religious liberty which they are bound to maintain, and which, if impaired, must produce their ruin and overthrow, then, in the opinion of the R. W., the Grand Master, the brethren should endeavor by all constitutional means to carry out those undertakings by again placing themselves at the head of the movement.

It signifies nothing that a temporary cessation of aggressive movements be brought about—if danger really exists—if there be cause for action on the part of the order—if it be conceived that attempts are made or making to betray the interests and principles of the order to its opponents, then the emergency arises which must unite Orangemen to seek to obtain a voice where opinions tell and where principle must ultimately triumph. But distracted as the order now is before the public, although its members are perfectly convinced of each other's private sentiments, opinions, and feelings, they are incapable of effecting any good, and cannot resist the phalanx of their opponents. This disorder, this sad disorganization, requires speedy attention, unless it be desired that the gangrene should effect the permanent division of the order.

Dissimulation should never be employed by the order, nor does the R. W. the Grand Master mean to intimate that it has been, but he puts forward these statements that all may know that when Orangemen avow their undertakings they will stand by them, and whether affirming or opposing a principle, the resolution to succeed will be equally evident and clear, and he really and sincerely believes that on the re-union, re-modelling and re-organization under one head, the entire prosperity of the order depends. Straightforward and lofty principles will conduce to this desirable end, while selfishness and unworthy ambition must lead to ruin and defeat.

The R. W. the Grand Master begs to call the attention of the Brethren to the fact that the Grand Lodge has, ever since these deplorable differences arose, used its best endeavors to reconcile them, and has been always ready to lay aside any minor considerations of its own position to effect this object. Unfortunately their endeavors have hitherto been ineffectual, but the R. W. the Grand Master fondly hopes that the effort which he is desirous of making on the present occasion will be attended with happier results.

While thus expressing his convictions more immediately to those, who, as in duty bound, have faithfully adhered to what they believe to be the legitimate authority of the institution, the R. W. the Grand Master also earnestly appeals to that high sense of duty and honor which has always been characteristic of all true Orangemen, whether they have for the time being been in connection with the proper authorities of the institution or not, and he is confident that all who are sincerely desirous of maintaining intact the integrity and purity of the order, will, in the present emergency, heartily join with him in laying aside all minor differences and meeting any concessions that the Grand Lodge may be willing to make in the spirit in which they are offered, and will on their part have no hesitation in making such concessions as the mutual interest of all parties may require.

Wherefore in the opinion of the R. W. the Grand Master, much consultation is required to remove obstacles and embarrassments which stand in the way, and no better method can be devised to deal with them than such means as may be suggested at a special convocation of the R. W. the Grand Lodge; and it is that these matters may be all duly considered with moderation and caution, that in the opinion of the R. W. the Grand Master an early convocation of the R. W. the Grand Lodge should be held, and in order that the convenience of all may be consulted, an EMERGENCY MEETING of the R. W. the GRAND LODGE OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA will be held on the 5th June, 1856, in the City of Kingston, at the hour of 12 o'clock, noon.

By order of the R. W. the Grand Master.
