Markdale's Bargain House

All Lines of Winter Goods are yet Being Sold at CLEARING PRICES.

Never before during January have we found business so brisk, and never selling so easy. That is entirely owing to our superior values. Customers who have made this store their shopping headquarters for years are doing so still, knowing that in no line of merchandise are we being undersold. Then there are scores of people who have been attracted to Markdale by "bargains on paper." These expected remarkable values elsewhere, but as they told us afterward most all the bargains were "rather too ancient," and as a consequence we did all the selling. Our clearing sale continues until all lines are sold and these are among the sacrifices:

Ladies' Fur Coats	Men's Overcoats	Boys' Overcoats
" Fur Capes	Men's and Boys' Suits	Men's Rubbers
" Fur Mitts	Men's Fur Coats	Men's Overshoes
" Caperines	Men's Caps	Men's Underwear
" Cloth Jackets	Ladies' Wool Shawls	Mantle Cloths

Mantle Cloths, Ladies' Wool Vests, Dress Goods (hundreds of yards) Trimmed and Untrimmed Millinery, Wool Blankets, Heavy Tweeds Ordered Clothing, Groceries and Crockery, all lines

There's one thing we'd like to caution you against. Do not buy old, inferior, shop worn goods that possess merely a semblance of cheapness until you first discover what new up-to-date goods at GENUINELY REDUCED PRICES will cost you. We have confidence in our stock and values. Had we not we'd probably refuse to exchange goods or refund customers their money. As it is your money is not ours until you are satisfied.

Cash Buyers please make a note of this.

OUR NEW KING

King Edward the Seventh is now our reigning King. His first speech upon accession to the throne, which we publish elsewhere, is a straightforward, manly utterance which will go far towards quieting any fears which might have been entertained that matters of state would suffer under the new regime. The speech breathed deep veneration for his illustrious parents, and his desire that the name of his father should stand alone in history can be respected. His purpose to walk in the footsteps of his mother and reign a constitutional king is a proof of his genuine nobility as a man. May he have the strength to fulfil these promises, and may the mantle of his mother fall upon him in ample folds and weave around him the hearts of his people as they were knitted to her. God save the King, and grant that he may fulfil our hopes and become to us a king not only in name, but may he become recognized as a king among men as was his beloved mother a queen among women.

For The Advance.

VICTORIA—IN MEMORIAM

Oh, sad comes the news flashed under the ocean!
It rends every heart as it stings to the core,
And makes our breasts heave with a labored emotion—
"Victoria the Good!" is our sovereign no more.

Victoria the Good! What a just appellation,
For one with so pure and unsullied career.
Oh, women beloved by a now weeping nation,
Thy name we hold sacred, thy name we revere.

Her prayers have been answered, that God might grace lend her,
And wisdom provide for the work of each hour;
She reposed on an arm that was strong to defend her—
In that arm lay the strength of Victoria's power.

Though she is dead she will speak through the ages,
And her race to lives virtuous and noble will call.
Her name shall endure throughout history's pages,
A pattern for monarchs, example for all.

* * * * *

All hail to the son, on whom has descended
The sceptre long swayed in his mother's wise hand;
By the King of all Nations may he be defended.
All hail to Prince Edward, the king of our land! —T. R. McKENZIE

Portlaw, Jan. 29, 1901.

The King's Speech

The following is the full text of his Majesty's accession speech:

"Your Royal Highnesses, my Lords and Gentlemen,—This is the most painful occasion on which I shall ever address you. My first and melancholy duty is to announce to you the death of my beloved mother, the Queen, and I know how deeply you and the whole nation and, I think I may say, the whole world sympathize with me in the irreparable loss we have all sustained. I need hardly say that my constant endeavor will be always to walk in her footsteps. In undertaking the heavy load which now devolves upon me, I am fully determined to be a constitutional sovereign in the strictest sense of the word, and, so long as there is breath in my body, to work for the good and amelioration of my people.

"I have resolved to be known by the name of Edward, which has been borne by six of my ancestors. In doing so I do not undervalue the name of Albert, which I inherit from my ever to be lamented great and wise father, who, by universal consent, is, I think deservedly, known by the nation as Albert the Good, and I desire that his name should stand alone. In conclusion, I trust to parliament and the nation to support me in the arduous duties which now devolve upon me by inheritance, and to which I am determined to devote my whole strength during the remainder of my life'

The Canadians' Part

During the past weeks the part which the Canadians took in the capture of General Cronje at the battle of Paardeberg has been told and retold by the greatest authority on the subject—General Roberts—and several of his leading officers. The picture which is given free by the weekly Globe to its yearly subscribers is pronounced by those who were there a very accurate description of the scene. A sample of it can be seen at this office. It should be in every home in Canada.

Had Catarrh since Childhood But Catarrhozone Cured Him

Ulric Breault of Sweetsburg, Que., says: "Since childhood I have been afflicted with catarrh of the throat and nose and never knew what relief meant till I tried Catarrhozone. Two bottles completely cured me and I have not one single symptom of catarrh now. I can heartily recommend Catarrhozone for catarrh, and would advise all sufferers to get an outfit at once and be cured as I was." Catarrhozone is sold by all druggists. Trial outfit sent for 10c in stamps by N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., Proprietors.

The Ridgetown Dominion records that a young man named Jenner, of Raleigh township, for two different nights dreamed of falling off a load of hay, telling his wife of the great impression it made on his mind, so that when a neighbor wanted him to deliver some hay he very reluctantly put on a load for him. Before leaving home he carefully examined the build of the load and his wife did the same. Kissing her good bye, he got on again, though she asked him to walk if he felt so nervous. The roads being rough, he stopped a passer-by and made him examine the load to see if it was all right. Being reassured of its safety, he started on again, but had not gone far before the load upset and in jumping off the opposite way to its fall he struck head first, it is supposed, on the axle of the front wheel, and never regained consciousness.

Mr. C. Munshaw met with a rather unpleasant experience on Friday evening last. Returning from a concert at Markdale in company with a couple of young ladies the cutter was upset a mile or so this side of that village and the horse ran away, leaving the occupants on the road. A horse and cutter belonging to Mr. H. Irwin was requisitioned and the party came home. Charley went back Saturday morning and found the runaway at Mr. Goodfellows, one mile this side of where the accident occured. The horse had run into the barnyard where it remained with the cutter still attached to it until 8 a.m. before being discovered by the family. The cutter shafts were considerably broken.

Carnaghan Coming

Mr. W. J. A. Carnahan, Canada's leading baritone, will give a high class concert in the Town Hall Feb. 13, under the auspices of the Flesherton Tennysonian Club. You cannot afford to miss this treat, because we are not often treated with the presence of such a singer as is Mr. Carnaghan. The leading daily and weekly papers of Canada all join in giving him the highest recommendations for a clear, rich, strong baritone voice, and with perfect enunciation and expression. Watch for program in this paper. Following are a few press comments:

The Owen Sound Sun says: "His voice is a rich, round baritone, of great compass. His enunciation was perfect, every word being distinctly heard in every part of the large auditorium."

Cobourg Star: "His songs were received with rapturous applause."

The proceeds will go towards assisting the public library.

Missionary Expansion

To the Editor of The Advance:

DEAR SIR,—In many respects the 19th century, and especially the Victorian era, has been remarkable, but in none more so than in the unexampled expansion of foreign mission enterprise. The following figures and facts make this apparent and kindle bright hopes, almost exultation, in the minds of all who look and long for the universal reign of the Prince of Peace. At the beginning of the century there were six mission societies. Now there are 437 including Women's Auxiliary societies. The total amount contributed for this work a hundred years ago was $75,000. Last year contributions amounted to $19,000,000. There are 1,600,000,000 people in the world, and the Bible has been translated in whole or in part into the language of 1,000,000,000, so that three-fourths of the world's population can now have the Bible in their own tongue. There are now 22,000,000 children attending Sabbath school, and of these about 1,000,000 are in Foreign mission fields; and of these 140,000 are in Mission college institutes and high schools. At the beginning of the century there were no native evangelists, whilst now there are 77,338 natives teaching the Gospel to their own people. There were then no Bible Societies. Now there are 80, and the British and Foreign Bible Society alone issues four and one half millions of Bibles or portions of Bibles a year. There are fourteen great national student organizations comprising 1400 separate organizations, with a total membership of nearly 80,000 students and professors who are studying missions and preparing for foreign mission work. There are on foreign mission communion rolls 1,317,634 names. If we include others who have abandoned their idols and who, although not on the communion roll, are under christian instruction, the total is 4,414,236. The first Women's Foreign Missionary Society in England was organized in 1834. The first in America was organized in 1861. There are now 208 women's societies and they contributed last year about $4,000,000. Then one third of the world was unknown. The social, moral and spiritual conditions are now known. There is rapid communication by railroad, steamship and electricity. Printing is rapid and inexpensive. Beginning with such facilities, knowledge and organization, what will the present century bring forth? All things are possible to Him who leads His hosts to certain victory. Let us be co-laborers with Him. R. P. McKAY

Foreign Mission Secretary

Eugenia

From Our Own Correspondent

Hughey Pedlar has gone to Flesherton to take a position in The Advance office.

Now that business at Eugenia is booming one thing needed is a good physician to come and settle in the village. He would soon have a good practice in the locality.

Mrs. Sloan and son of Chesley were welcome visitors at Mr. Fenwick's the past week.

Miss Ethel Fenwick of Gilhs Hill is visiting her grandparents here.

Mr J. W. Boath of Leith has been visiting his mother and other friends in this locality for the past few days.

Mr. Henry Cairns, who has been very ill with the grippe for some time, is, we are glad to report, improving.

Mrs. Thompson and children have been visiting her parental home in Mulmer for some time past.

The grippe is playing havoc with a good many people here. Mr. Meldrum, Mr. Woodburn and Mr. George Pedlar have all come under its influence.

The Eugenia Epworth League held their first literary meeting on Thursday evening last. The League chose the life of Alfred Tennyson for discussion. Mr. Sine took charge of the meeting and opened by giving a brief but interesting sketch of the poet's life from his earliest days up till the time of his death. Then a very interesting program was rendered, a large number of Tennyson's most beautiful lines were read or recited by members of the League.

KEEPING PACE WITH CANADAS' PROGRESS!

All Canadians Rejoice in it.

T. J. Sheppard's busy store is among those who keep with it. Indeed in some modest terms, notably the retailing of dry goods, clothing, shoes and groceries. People say we set the pace. We're getting ready for stock. We're almost reckless now in clearing the way for new goods, over confidence in the future makes us more than ever determined to reduce stocks on hand and fairly plunge into the enthusiasm of spring. We mean to do a larger business this year than we did last and that will not come by idly waiting for trade but by using these early days for plan and preparation such as this store has ever known.

T. J. Sheppard's New Century Sale Commences to-day, January 31.

Dress Goods Department.
