THE VALLEY ROAD.

The valley road from Flesherton to Kimberley has been opened through, the first vehicles passing over it about two weeks ago, and has proved itself a great boon to the travelling public during this month of storms and drifts. On Friday last two Flesherton gentlemen made the trip in one hour and fifteen minutes. About four miles at this end of the road is still rough but it will not require much of an expenditure to make it a choice winter road, and we believe in a short time it will also be made one of the most pleasant and fastest roads for summer travel to be found in this county. At least we hope it will be given an opportunity to prove its utility for summer as well as winter travel. It behoves the Euphrasia council to straighten out the bit of road for a half mile this side of Kimberley, and then it will be a continuous river road nearly to Heathcote. The people of Kimberley ought to spur up their council to a sense of their duty in this respect. When this is done Flesherton will be placed within one hour's travel from Kimberley and Kimberley people can get to the railway in half the time at present taken up. This is a desideratum worth working for.

The British House of Commons has appointed a commission to consider the anti-Catholic phase of the coronation oath. This probably means that it is intended to make a change along the line asked for.

A very important case is to be decided before the Court of Appeal of the Methodist church at Toronto on April 12. A minister has been discovered in that body who is addicted to the use of the pipe. The chairman of Victoria, B. C., district, said the use of the weed in this way was not contrary to discipline, and the president of the British Columbia Conference upheld him in that view, but the plaintiff in the case was not satisfied and so the case is before the Court of Appeal at Toronto.

Once more the last of the winter months has departed and we hail with joy the first spring month of the new century.

If there is any truth in the old adage, when March comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb, we are safe in predicting an early spring.

Mr. Jack Robinson held a very successful sale which was well attended, despite the cowardly wretch who wrote on many of the bills stating that the sale would be postponed, signing Mr. Robinson's name, thus detaining many from attending. We hope the perpetrator may be caught and punished. We understand Mr. Robinson intends moving to the West, where we wish him every success.

Mr. Crumbie had the misfortune to get his load stuck in a snow bank, while engaged in hauling logs to the mill. Two large team were attached, which resulted in drawing his sleigh to pieces.

Last Friday evening some ladies were out driving near Wareham, when they met a wood hauler returning from Proton with his empty sleigh, who thus addressed them: "Ye'd better turn off there. It won't hurt ye. It a'in't bad." We give Mr. R.S. warning. Try that just once more and he will find it is not a lady that will settle with him.

Dr. Bruce of Toronto, while in town on Tuesday, called on Mrs. A. M. Gibson, who has been seriously ill with a mysterious disease for the past nine months. He pronounced the complaint as progressive atrophy of the muscles and said that in his experience he had met with but one other case of a like nature. The many friends of the family will be saddened to learn that the disease is surely fatal and that the specialist believes her end is near. Great sympathy is extended to Mr. Gibson and family in their trouble.

Benefit Concert

We are within the mark in stating that the W. Petch benefit concert on Tuesday was the most successful affair of the kind ever held in the Town Hall. It was an inspiring audience, the hall being packed to the doors. A choice program was introduced by Mr. Fred Hickling in a few well chosen words. Vandeleur string band gave us some very nice orchestra music. A duet by Miss Christoe and Mrs Blackburn, "Where the sweet magnolias bloom," and solos by Miss Ayres, Miss Christoe, Miss Joy, Mr. Barnhouse and Dr. Murray, were all rapturously and deservingly applauded. The big attraction of the evening, however, was a burlesque of Sousa's Band under the leadership of Mr. R. N. Henderson as Sousa. This baffles our descriptive powers. It was simply the funniest burlesque the audience had ever seen and howls of appreciation greeted each number from Prof. Henderson's aggregation. The amount realized will not be known for a few days, but no doubt the committee in charge will be heard from in next week's issue.

Personals

Miss Minnie Munshaw, who is attending the Toronto Conservatory of Music, came home Friday to help wait on her brother, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gibson of Toronto spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Gibson.

Mrs. T. J. Sheppard, who has been at Toronto Junction for some time attending the sick bed of her father, returned home last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Osburn of Nottawa were visiting Mrs. W. J. Bellamy over Sunday.

Miss Carrie Sullivan spent a few days of the past week with friends in Orangeville.

Miss Eva Rutledge, who has been at home since her father's death, returned to her duties at Mont Clair, N. J., on Tuesday.

Mr. T. J. Sheppard received a sudden call to the bedside of his father at Toronto Junction on Tuesday.

Thos. Johnson, of Violet Hill, has a two year old boy with a healthy appetite. There is nothing peckickety in his taste, he just sizes up the article and if he thinks it will go down, down it goes. The other day Baby Johnson cast his eye about him in search of eatables and by chance discovered a box of Dr. Williams's Pink Pills for Pale People. The boy evidently thought that, if he was not pale at the time, he might be at some future period and he proceeded to fortify himself against the contingency. Anyhow the pills tasted good and before his repast was interrupted by his mother he had swallowed all but three of the pills. It is a question whether the patent medicine is without any potent quality, or the boy's digestive organs are made of cast iron, but all the same he shows no more effect of the dose than if the pills were cherries.—Shelburne Free Press.

A good deal of interest has been taken recently in the establishment of Cement Works in Durham, but the business is for the present in a quandary. In the first place a local company was organized with $150,000 capital. A charter had been secured, and all was going smoothly, when one W. F. Cowan appeared on the scene with proposals for a more extensive business with a $1,000,000 capital. He proposed to float the extra $850,000. The new company was organized, a charter secured, and the local stock books were opened in Durham, and quite a number of subscribers secured. It appears though that in the meantime the outside promoters had taken up $250,000 worth of stock, held a meeting of themselves, then the only shareholders, elected themselves as Directors, and voted themselves $250,000 worth of extra stock. The result is that they would have a controlling interest in the company and received a nice block of stock as a gratuity. As soon as this was discovered by the Durham people, they ceased soliciting stock and have declared their unwillingness to go ahead. The main difficulty is that this company has options on the marl beds and the water power, and if they go ahead at once and erect the works they will have control of the valuable cement properties which formerly belonged to the local company in Durham. The situation is a troublesome one, and those locally interested, and that means the whole town of Durham, are very much annoyed at the turn affairs have taken. It looks as though, the outsiders were ahead just now. If they let their options lapse, though the local company will be reorganized and no foreigner need apply for admittance next time.—Reflector.
