Economical—Dependable Comfortable—Beautiful

The "Master-Four" Touring Model 23-35 Special

The McLaughlin-Buick "Master Four" Touring is its own best advertisement. Every car sold means a new friend made. Its all-round goodness commends it to everyone and its thorough dependability insures its staying sold with its owner.

A close inspection of its construction, finish and equipment and a comparison with other cars of its price will convince anyone of its unusual value. But its value does not end here, as it is continually making new records in operation cost and low cost of repairs.

It is a car that is always ready to start—and to keep going. It has proven its dependability under the hardest conditions in all parts of the world. It has the beautiful, graceful lines that grow on one and in comfort of riding and ease of operation it leaves nothing to be desired, as a ride in it will quickly prove.

Standard equipment includes massive crown fenders, drum type head and cowl lamps, bumper, combination tail and stop light, scuff plates, transmission lock, etc.

W. H THURSTON EDITOR

THE NEW ONTARIO CABINET

It is a feather in Mr. Ferguson's hat to know that the Farmer's Sun and Christian Guardian both endorse his cabinet as being a strong one and peculiarly satisfactory, considering the veiled opposition offered during the campaign by the latter and open opposition of the former. Both have decided that prohibition was not passing through such a serious crisis as they feared. The Guardian especially is quite open in its praise of the new Cabinet and has some very nice thngs to say about the individual members thereof. As a matter of fact we have probably got today the most virile Cabinet that Ontario has seen since the days of Sir Oliver Mowat or Sir James Whitney.

The Guardian looks upon the matter from a purely prohibition standpoint, ignoring other questions and the business acumen of the new government, which will count qute as big.

Many of our readers have read the Sun's favorable comment on the new government, and we quote below some of the Guardian's comment, from which it will surely be learned by those who voted against the Ferguson candidates in the recent election from conscientious motives, and others from political motives, that prohibition has not, and never had, anything to fear from the new government. Prohibition never was in jeopardy at the hands of Mr. Ferguson, and his enemies now admit it. The following excerpts are from last week's Guardian, and should make some of those who got too hot under the collar during the campaign feel rather ashamed of themselves. The Guardian says:

"Once more, however, the pesimists have been proven wrong."

The choice of Attorney General is "a peculiarly satisfactory one. His administration ought to show energy and ability. He is also exceedingly fovorable to the O.T.A."

"Dr. Forbes Godfrey, who becomes Minister of Public Health and Labor, is the only member of the Cabinet who has outspoken opposition to prohibition, and his position should not give him many opportunities to do the Ontario Temperance Act much harm."

"Col. W. H. Price, Provincial Treasurer will manage his department well. He is also sympathetic to the O. T.A. and was one of Mr. Hearst's right hand men in introducing temperance legislation into the province."

ETERNAL JUSTICE

The fiendish murder of a little girl in northern Ontario last week is almst sufficient to make one disbelieve that mankind was made in the image of God. Some of them, at least, appear to have been made in the image of satan. Only a devil could commit an act like that. And the pity is that sometimes the criminal goes unpunished on this earth. In this case he has not yet been discovered, and one is reminded of a similar crime committed near Stayner some years ago, when Gloria Whalen, a little school girl, was done to death in a similar manner and her slayer was never identified. Our detective force is pretty untiring and successful in its efforts, but the criminal is sometimes too cunning even for them, and his case is left for a higher authority to deal with. We pity the man who does not believe that eternal justice reigns, and that murder will meet its just reward, if not here, then hereafter.

KITCHENER NOT BETRAYED

It is queer what pranks newspaper type will sometimes play. The Toronto Star on Saturday last printed an editorial to prove that Kitchener was not betrayed by a spy, but rather that the vessel on which he sailed was sunk by a mine. The first paragraph in the article read as follows:

"The report that Kitchener was betrayed to his death by the idle prattle of the Czar while in his travelling was not torpedoed. It was blown the facts concerning the great general's fatal voyage on the way to Russia."

We presume, in common courtesy we will have to accept the above argument as indisputable evidence that Kitchener was not betrayed, but it looks at this distance as though the Star's editor had been betrayed by a Toronto bootlegger.

Mrs. George Holtby, who lived near Brampton, was thrown from a rig alighting on her head. She was picked up unconscious and died a few hours afterwards.

Mrs. Hector McLean

Mrs. Hector McLean, an old pioneer of Artemesia, died at her home, two miles south of Priceville, on Tuesday of last week at the age of 80 years,The Durham Chronicle says of her :

Mrs McLean was about 80 years of age and to the last enjoyed the health of those who have lived their life with nature, in the open fields and by the babling brooks, rather than in the cooped-up life of the modern town or city. Mrs. McLean enjoyed her good health up to within a week of her death, and when her time came, slept peacefuly away, with scarcely a tremour to tell the anxious watchers when the slender thread had snapped and her spirit had moved on to join her forebears. Mr. McLean, her husband, died 14 years ago

Mrs. McLean, whose maiden name was Christina McMillan, was born in Argylshire, Scotland, on the Island of Tyree, about 80 years ago. She came to Canada in 1851, with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Colin McMillan, and settled at Fergus, where they remained till about 1854, when the family came to Lot 5 on the South Line, Artemesia. Mr. McMillan, her father, died about 35 years ago, and her mother about 40 years ago.

Ms. McLean was married in 1863 to the late Hector McLean, who died in 1909, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Donald Fraser, who was then pastor of the Presbyterian congregation at Priceville. The young couple commenced homemaking on the farm on which she died, and where she has always lived since her mariage 60 years ago.

A family of eight sons and one daughter were born, as follows : Colin, John, Archie, Donald and Malcolm, all residents in the vicinity of Priceville, the latter on the homestead ; Neil, died in 1914; Alexander, in South Dakota ; William, in big Sandy, Montanna, and Sarah C. (Mrs. Ibbitson), in Toronto.

Mrs. McLean also leaves two brothers, Messrs. Malcolm and Donald McMillan, both residing on the South Line

Mrs. McLean was a devoted member of St. Columbia Presbyterian Church, in which she took deep interest and to which she contributed in no small manner since its commencement many years ago.

The funeral is being held this afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be made in the old cemetery at Priceville. Her pastor, Rev. C. S. Jones, will have charge of the services.

GOOD MONEY IN GOOD FARMING

"Let's Get to Work and Pay Off the Mortgage"

NINE years ago Canada's national debt was about one-third of a billion. It is more than two and one-third billions today.

Our debts have greatly increased—our revenues must also go up. The farmer has to bear his share of the increased burden. That means he must increase his revenue.

Complaint has been heard that farmers under present conditions in Canada cannot make farming pay. And yet many thousands of Canadian farmers do make it pay.

How Is It Done?

Patient and industrious "carry on" will do wonders, but something more is needed. Too often "patient industry" is coupled with "dull persistance" in poorly thought out methods.

Farmers today more than ever, must plan ahead, as well as "plug along"; indeed they have no option, if they wish to succeed.

Co-ordination of head and hand will mean real success. Farming in Canada has paid and pays now on many farms. It can be made to pay on almost every farm. Canadian agriculture has passed through low profit-making eras successfully in the past and can do so again.

Crop Returns Should be Increased

On the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa some crop costs and crop profits in 1922 as contrasted with all-Ontario average crop costs and crop profits are given below. The all-Ontario figures are in brackets:

	Cost per acre	Profit per acre
Hay	$21.13 ($13.50)	$11.21 ($5.09)
Corn for Forage	$47.50 ($33.75)	$10.38 ($2.86)
Oats	$26.47 ($19.32)	$ 7.33 (.04)

Similar results can be shown from the Dominion Experimental Farms in every province.

Experimental Farm crops are sometimes claimed to be produced at too great cost. Thousands of experiments, however, show that increased cropping costs wisely applied up to a reasonable point always increase crop profits. This is true on the Experimental Farm—and on any and every farm.

With the increased cost of production, the higher standards of living now prevailing cannot be maintained by poor farm management, "boarder" milkers, scrub beeves, poor quality hogs or non-profitable hens.

That even under present conditions profits may be made is testified by many skilful, observant and non-plunging farmers, who believe more in the policy of "slow but sure" and "pay as you go" rather than speed, with excessive borrowing and the often consequent disaster.

The results on our Experimental Farms also bear testimony to the value of thorough, skilful work.

The Farmer Must Manufacture

But crops alone are not enough. The farmer must change his crops into less bulky and more high-priced products—milk, pork, beef, mutton, poultry, etc.

With fair yielding cows dairying shows good profits in Canada. The average cow has increased her yield 25% in the last ten years. She can quite readily go up another 25% and more, and there's where the profit lies. Better feeding, better selection and better breeding will do the job—feed, weed, breed.

To do better feeding means better pastures and more generous supplies of palatable roughage. Short rotations including clover and ensilage crops (corn, sunflower, pea and oat, etc.) will provide feed in abundance for both summer and winter. The experiments and investigations which the Dominion Department of Agriculture have carried on prove that farming scientifically and systematically undertaken will pay profits. The records and particulars of such work in every province are available to the Canadian farmer.

Are you growing grain, or producing seed or interested in fruit? We can give you information that will help you. Do you breed live stock? Are you keeping dairy cattle? Are you interested in poultry or bees? Ask us for information. We have some that will help you.

We have published and have for free distribution 390 different reports, bulletins and circulars dealing with matters of interest to you. Ask for what you want, or for a list of our publications.

We shall have something more to say later. Meantime write the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, about your problems.
