BUY GOOD SHOES

We've repeatedly emphasized the importance and economy of buying good Shoes—the kind that wear well—not necessarily expensive ones. By doing so you are not merely guarding your health, which is of first importance, but practicing economy as well. A few cents difference between the price of a GOOD SHOE and a POOR SHOE will not go far towards repairing which is often made necessary after a few weeks' wear.

Our entire Shoe Stock (over five thousand dollars' worth) is selected with the knowledge that they possess the best wearing qualities, and are the acme of perfection in fit. We're practical shoe men and every pair that is not up to the standard is returned to the factory where it was made. That's one of the many reasons why our shoes are so uniformly satisfactory, and if we apply the same rule to other departments of our store you have the key to the remarkable leaps and bounds our business has made in the past few years, an increase not nearly approached hereabouts nor excelled anywhere.

Mr. Lumsden's liquor bill in the Legislature has been withdrawn. Sorry for Bill—died before he was born.

Negotiations were on foot last week between Kitchener and Botha with a view to ending the war in South Africa and remarkably magnanimous terms were offered the latter, but the Boer leaders apparently cannot lose sight of that ignis fatuous, independence, which will nevermore be held within their grasp. They have probably now thrown away their last opportunity to secure terms, and England can only go forward pounding submission into their stubborn heads and exacting a just retribution for wanton destruction of life and property. Grim Nemesis will now go forward to bring the murderer, DetWet, and his confreres to the block of justice. Surely the old Greek proverb never more appropriately applied: "Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad."

The Canadian Press Association, which met last week in Toronto, passed a resolution praying that a uniform rate of postage be charged on all newspapers circulating in the Dominion. We do not know how many members compose this association or how the yeas and nays stood—on these matters we are kept in the dark—but we do know that it is run by a few men who publish metropolitan journals for which they claim the Dominion as a field, and that the great rank and file of country newspapers are scarcely represented in the association. To say that this resolution represents the desires of publishers as a whole would be absurd, and before Mr. Mulock makes any change in the existing law we would advise him to take a plebisite of the newspaper men of the Dominion, which would be an easy and inexpensive matter. We hold that the present law is satisfactory as it stands. The men who are clamoring for a change own newspapers whose price fluctuates and who can reimburse themselves for loss, and as a matter of fact have done so by raising their subscription price. The country paper cannot do this, and must bear every cent of the extra cost.

When Uncle Samuel fought and bled to free the Island of Cuba from the tyranny of Spain he swore by all the stars in his spangled banner that it was from a totally disinterested motive that he did so, and that his only desire was to make Cuba a free and independent republican like himself. The war progressed and Spain was ousted, but apparently the hardest task was yet to follow, namely to allow Cuba to assume the independence which Samuel had won for her. When it came to the pinch he could not do it. To the horror of the Cubans and the satisfaction of I-told-you-sos, there have been set forth eight conditions upon which Cuba can assume her liberty, and these conditions make the name of liberty simply a roaring farce and prove Uncle Sam's intentions not to have been quite so disinterested as he tried to make himself believe they were. In fact he retains a simple protectorate over the island. Of course no one is surprised, unless it be the poor Cubans themselves. We all long ago predicted this ending to the affair. We know our Uncle Samuel and just how much he does from humane and disinterested motives.

From Our Own Correspondent

This week gives us a foretaste of spring. Everyone is finishing his winter's work as rapidly as possible and some are even laying their plans for gardening.

Mr. C. Wickens has moved down to the village and is now getting well settled at his new premises, the Traveller's Home.

Prospects are good for the extension of the suburbs of the village this summer. Mr. R. D. Carruthers has had considerable building material brought to the grove adjoining here. We look for a new house ere long.

The mill is running at full speed late and early. We understand that Mr. McGowan will have it some time longer.

A social evening was held in the Methodist church last Friday evening under the auspices of the Epworth League. A very pleasant time was spent partaking of food both for body and mind. The program consisted of speeches, singing, readings and recitations. The proceeds amounted to nineteen dollars.

R. C. Howell of Proton Station visited this vicinity lately. He has sold his farm here to a Mr. Hutchinson, who has taken possession.

Little boys came to the homes of J. Lawrence and W. Harris respectively, but the one at the latter place only lived a few days.

Mr. S. C. Rowe and wife of Heathcote were the guests of Mrs. J. R. Fawcett last week.

The Misses Sparrow of Williscroft are on an extended visit with friends in the vicinity.

Miss Mary Knott returned home on Sunday after a visit with friends at Epping and Rocklyn.

Mr. W. Lawrence has returned to his parental home, having spent the winter blacksmithing in Eugenia.

Mr R. D. Carruthers was in Toronto last week on business pertaining to the work of taking the census.

The ice on the millpond has been sought after by many far and near. The result is that many holes have been made and great precaution is necessary. Several boys slipped through stepping on a weak or loose piece of ice though no accident was serious. Only yesterday (Monday) a cow of Mr. R. D. Carruthers got in and but for the timely arrival of some men, might have gone under the ice.

W. S. Bishop has a good stock of logs in his mill yard this season. Some of them are very fine samples of timber. This will likely give constant work to his usual gang for some time.

A bad accident befel the infant child of Mr. Andrew Beattie, gravel road, on Sunday. The child had been placed by an inmate of the house on top of a copper tank in which was boiling water, when the cover gave way, precipitating the little fellow into the scalding liquid. Fortunately there was not a great depth of water, but as it was the child's legs were very badly scalded.

The first genuine thaw since Christmas arrived on Sunday and by Monday afternoon the roads were converted into something that did not much resemble roads, and over which it was almost impossible for teams to travel. Two gentlemen who attempted to drive in from Maxwell on Monday evening were three hours doing the nine miles and one of the horses suffered a severe cut on one foot which it received while floundering in the sea of wet snow and slush.

Mr. Geo. Bannon had a rather peculiar experience last week with a runaway. While driving a load of hay to town, and when at Breen's sideroad 1½ miles from the village, he had occasion to get off the load to assist another traveller to pass. While off the load his horses took fright and ran away with the load which weighed 2200 lbs. The horses made good time until opposite the cemetery when horses and load parted company, the team coming on to the village where they were stopped. Nothing was in any way damaged neither was the load upset, and Mr. Bannon took his team back, hitched it on and delivered his hay without any delay. It was a fortunate runaway.

Mr. Wm. Carson of the east back line takes exception to an item appearing in the correspondence from that section last week. We learn from the writer that absolutely no reflection was intended to be cast on Mr. Carson's financial standing, which is well up among the best farmers in the township. The item was one of these things that appears innocent on its face but cuts on account of its untruthfulness and we regret having been the innocent cause of giving the same publicity. As a joke, for which it seems it was intended, its beauty was so obscure that we did not recognize it as such and thought it a genuine item of news. This thing of getting off "jokes" and "gags" on neighbors should be kept within proper bounds. There are genuine jokes in which everybody can share and spurious jokes in which only a select two or three have any interest. We want the genuine kind or none.

The differences between the local shareholders and the promoters of the Durham cement works appear to have been amicably settled. The Chronicle says: "The President and board of Directors met our local men here last week, and in public conference discussed the matter from every possible standpoint. The question of a site and tax exemption being satisfactorily arranged for the differences between the promoters and our local men were amicably settled, and to-day the public mind is possessed of a stronger feeling than ever to see the work in progress. With this issue we are more than delighted to announce that the agreements have been signed, and we are again in the swim to erect in Durham, during the coming summer, the most complete, the most gigantic and best equipped cement mill on the continent of America, and further that the ground will be broken just as soon as the frost leaves us. Everyone is delighted with the prospect, and everyone is congratulating himself with the fact that the industry, about to be started, is not of mushroom growth and ephemeral existence."

Gibson-Rankin.

Mr. Archie Gibson, manager of the Dundalk branch of M. Richardson & Co., and Miss Sadie Rankin of Barrie, were united in marriage last week. Miss Rankin was known to everybody here as the popular head milliner for the firm here for three years past. The Barrie Advance reports the pleasant affair as follows: A very pretty but quiet house wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. A. Rankin, Bayfield street, on Thursday, March 21st, when his second daughter, Miss Sadie Rankin, was married to Mr. Archibald Gibson, merchant, of Dundalk. The Rev. T. E. Bartley, of the First Methodist church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends of the family. The bride looked lovely in a beautiful gown of grey bengaline trimmed with applique, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lena Rankin, who wore a pretty dress of blue foulard, and carried pink carnations. The groomsman was Mr. J. M. Gibson, brother of the groom. The house was tastefully decorated with palms and flowers. After the ceremony a dainty wedding supper was served. The presents, both numerous and handsome, testify to the esteem in which the bride is held. The happy couple left on the evening train for Hamilton and other places, carrying with them the best wishes of their many friends. On their return they will reside in Dundalk.

Personals

Mr and Mrs. R. N. Henderson spent the past week with friends in Toronto.

The official returns from North Bruce give Halliday (Conservative) a majority of eleven.

A number of papers in Ontario are attacking the methods of the promoters of binder twine factories. The Walkerton factory is taken as an example, which cost $61,000 and these journals maintain that the same factory could be duplicated for half that sum. The difference is supposed to have been put in the pockets of the promoters. We are looking for some startling disclosures regarding this Walkerton Binder Twine Factory.—Chesley Enterprise.

A good story is going the rounds at present, to the effect that a family in the Northwest, by the name of Day, consisted of the parents and seven daughters. On the adjoining section lived a farmer named Sunday and he had seven sons. The eldest son fell in love with a Miss Day and wedded her; and soon after another of the Day girls was married to Mr. Sunday. Their mother objected strongly to this, but her husband said, "Oh don't worry, every Day'll be Sunday bye and bye."

Back Line East Items

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. B. Ferris is preparing for a big summer, having taken the contract for two milk routes, being the back line East and the Meaford Road routes to the Markdale factory and we understand he has taken Mr. John Davis' farm on shares.

Mr. G. Clark is preparing to raise his barn next summer and build a stone wall underneath it.

Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt are still very low.
