HALL'S
Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer
Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation, which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard, and to those who have never used it we can confidently say, that it is the only reliable and perfected preparation to restore GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken; the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean; it removes all eruptions and dandruff, and by its tonic properties prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair glands. By its use the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair that splendid glossy appearance so much admired by all. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Mass., says, "the constituents are pure and carefully selected for excellent quality, and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes." We publish a treatise on the hair, which we send free by mail upon application, which contains commendatory notices from clergymen, physicians, the press, and others. We have made the study of the hair and its diseases a specialty for years, and know that we make the most effective preparation for the restoration and the preservation of the hair, extant, and so acknowledged by the best Medical and Chemical Authority.

Stop That Waste of Fuel!
BY USING
COMSTOCK'S
Patent Revolving Flue
RADIATOR.
THIS RADIATOR is constructed on an entirely different principle from any of the so-called Heating Drums, most of which have proved worse than useless, the Revolving of this keeps it clear of soot. The heat and draft can be regulated at will. It is adapted for use on all Heating and Cooking Stoves, burning either wood or coal, and in any place where Stoves are required; it may be used as an upper room heater, taking the place of the old unsightly Dumb Stove. It consumes gas and smoke, and will save one-third the fuel ordinarily consumed. At the same time
Increases Heat 30 per Cent
When the Radiator is in a proper position, it is impossible for sparks to pass through to endanger the building. For this alone it is worth more than the price asked for it.

"For purposes of social exhilaration amongst classes who are not out-door laborers, beer is too coarse. Man, as a social animal, requires something which he can sip as he sits and talks, and which pleases his palate, while it gives some aliment to the stomach, and stimulates the flow of genial thoughts in the brain. No one who has ever made the experiment will fail to give the preference to wine over spirits, or can refuse to give a helping hand to any 'movement' that will banish spirits to their proper place, as medicines for the sick and aged, and not as beverages for the healthy. Civilized man must drink, will drink, and ought to drink; but it should be wine."—From Dr. Dwitt's Report on Cheap Wines.
The late unhappy calamitous war in France, and subsequent disturbances, have affected our importations less than might have been anticipated, owing to the remoteness of the great wine districts of the south from the seat of hostilities. In some cases, the disorganization of the lines of railway has prevented or delayed the transport of wines from the interior, and more especially from Burgundy and Champagne; but on the other hand, the scarcity of money and the depression of business have enabled us to make some extensive purchases much below the usual rates, and to give our customers corresponding advantages.—St. George & Co's Circular.

Mosiac Poetry.

I only know she came and went —Lowell.
Like troutlets in a pool;
—Hood.
She was a phantom of delight,
—Woodsworth.
And I was like a fool.
—Eastman.
"One kiss, dear maid," I said and sighed,
—Coleridge.
"Out of these lips unshorn,"
—Longfellow.
She took her ringlets round her head,
—Stoddart.
And laughed in merry scorn.
—Tennyson.
Ring out, with bells, to the wild sky!
—Tennyson.
For hear them, oh! my heart?
—Alice Cary.
'Tis twelve at night by the castle clock,
—Coleridge.
Beloved, we must part!
—Alice Cary.
"Come back! come back!" he cried in grief,
—Campbell.
"My eyes are dim with tears;
How shall I live through all the days,
—Mrs. Osgood.
All through a hundred years?"
—T. S. Perry.
'Twas in the prime of summer time,
—Hood.
She blest me with her hand;
—Hoyt.
We strayd together, deeply blest,
—Mr. Edwards.
Into the Dreaming land.
—Cornwall.
The laughing bridal roses blew,
—Patmore.
To dress her dark brown hair;
—Bayard Taylor.
No maid with her may compare,
—Brailsford.
Most Beautiful, most rare!
—Read.
I clasped it on her sweet, cold hand,
—Browning.
The precious golden link;
—Smith.
I calmed her fears, and she was calm,
—Coleridge.
"Drink, pretty creature, drink;"
—Wordsworth.
And so I won my Genevieve,
—Coleridge.
And walked in Paradise;
—Hervey.
The fairest thing that ever grew,
—Wordsworth.
Atween me and the skies.
—Osgood.

WHAT A DOLLAR MAY BE WORTH IN ONE HUNDRED YEARS.

With the view of indicating to those who borrow money at high rates of interest the mistake they make, the following compilation of figures is given. Let a dollar be borrowed for a hundred years, and the interest added to the principal every year, at these rates of interest, the sum to be paid at the end of that time will be as set forth here:—

AN EXTINCT RACE.—The Pall Mall Gazette asserts that the race of wits is extinct in England, and that the appearance of one at a London dinner party would excite as much surprise as that of a bustard in Piccadilly. The increased dimensions of the London world have drowned individuality and led to a deterioration of all that made society pleasant. Also in the vast mob which now throngs to London during the season, only the rich and boisterous attract attention by glitter and noise. Society has lost its leaders; not only are the wits gone, but those who fostered them have departed. And the world itself has lost its good spirits. A preternatural solemnity pervades all classes. The House of Commons, since Lord Palmerston's death, has scarcely been known to smile. The only hope lies in the impossibility of our appearance becoming much more dejected without exciting even our own amusement.

Some interesting facts relative to the average length and cost of legislative sessions in twenty-four leading States of the Union have been collected by Mr. Potter, of Massachusetts. The New Hampshire House of Representatives has the largest number of members—358, while the Delaware House has but 21. New Hampshire, however, has the smallest number of Senators—12, except Delaware, which has nine persons in the Upper House. California pays her legislators $10 per diem, while those of Rhode Island receive but $1 per day. The Kentucky Legislature meets but once in two years, and the average length of the sessions is sixty days, while the Legislature of Massachusetts holds annual sessions of about 170 days. The Massachusetts Legislature is also ahead in the matter of expense. Law in the Bay State is enacted at the high cost of $256,000 per annum, while in Delaware the Legislature costs but $10,000 biennially; in Rhode Island, $8,000 annually; in New Jersey, $14,000 per year, and in New York, $48,000 annually.

THE DOMINION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.—The annual meeting of the shareholders of this Company was held in the Rossin House, Toronto, and was largely attended. A report by the Directors was submitted to the meeting. The shareholders adopted the document, and spoke in the warmest terms of the condition and prospects of the Company. It appears that the subscribed capital stock of the Company is now $264,000; that the pole mileage extends to 1,176; and that there are 83 offices now open in Ontario. Close business connection has been formed with the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company, by which the despatches of the Dominion Telegraph Company are forwarded all over the Union. The Directors speak with strong confidence of the success the Company has achieved.

The venerable Peter Cartwright, a chieftain in the Methodist Israel, a faithful worker, who has rounded out 88 years, of life and six decades of a missionary career, has been stricken down with paralysis. For more than half a century he had a life more than usually active even for an itinerant preacher of his faith. Early and late he was at his work of exhorting, teaching, founding new churches, and superintending them. Though the solemn title of D.D. has been written after his name by some enthusiastic admirers, he was a self-made man, who did not possess the advantages of a higher education in earlier life. Had he done so it is not improbable that his career in letters would have been as useful as it has been in the practical daily work of his mission. Notwithstanding the great force of character which distinguished him, he was highly popular among all who knew him.
