Jacob Holley, an old resident of Artemesia township, died at the Canadian Sault on Friday last at the age of 83 years, after a lengthy illness. The funeral took place from the residence of his son in Markdale, on Tuesday of this week, interment being made in Markdale cemetery.

When W. H. Blair of Arthur shipped out his deer and some nine partridge after the hunting season, the shipment was seized by a game warden and shipped to a cold storage plant in Toronto. The game warden believed that there were more partridge than the law allows one hunter but in this he was in error. On Friday Mr. Blair received the deer well frozen, and the partridge just in time to add to the festivities of his Christmas table.—Enterprise.

Miss Nellie Foster,, stenographer in the Ontario Farmers' Weather Insurance Mutual Company's office, has unpleasant memories of Christmas 1923. On going to her home for the holiday she had occasion to wait for awhile in an Owen Sound hotel, until her car was ready, and according to custom left her suitcase in the ladies' waiting room. On her return a few minutes later it had disappeared. As it contained a new dress in addition to other clothing and her Christmas presents to the people at home, the loss is more than heavy.—Grand Valley Star.

This Refrigerator Requires No Ice.

A refrigerator that will keep food products at a temperature of 55 degrees Fahrenheit can be made easily at home. It consists of an open framework of shelving around which is tacked canton flannel, burlap, or some similar material, which is kept moist. The evaporation of the moisture holds the temperature down. A series of wicks, or strips of cloth, extending from a pan of water on top of the refrigerator to the covering of the refrigerator, provide the moisture. Such a refrigerator should be kept in the shade where there is a good current of air.

Cottage Cheese Easy to Make.

On most farms there is produced considerable skimmilk. It is fed to calves, hogs or chickens, while little thought is given to its value as human food on the farm. One form of utilizing this valuable food in the household is as cottage cheese, or Dutch cheese.

Cottage cheese contains all of the proteins of milk and a little fat. It contains more protein than most meats and the cost is very slight. Each pound of cottage cheese contains about one-fifth of a pound of protein, most of which is digestible.

This food alone is delicious and palatable, and it may be made more so by adding a little sweet or sour cream, salt, chopped onion, and pimentos. It may be used in sandwiches and salads, and served with fruits, jellies and nuts. As a meat substitute cottage cheese rolls make a pleasing dish.

Cottage cheese may be made in any home by permitting the milk to sour naturally until it curdles or clabbers. Cut the curd into fine pieces with a knife and cook slowly over a slow fire, preferably at the back of the stove, until the curd contracts and wheys off. Remove the whey, wash with cold water to firm the curd and wash out some of the acid taste. Place in colander or hang in a cloth sack to drain. After cooling and draining it is ready for the table. It requires no curing.
