The Cause of Hay Fever

It's a microbe that floats in the air, gets into the throat and lungs, develops rapidly, excites inflammation, &c. The cause is as simple as a thistle in the finger. Extract the thistle, away goes the pain. Destroy the Hay Fever germ—you get well. That's why Catarrhozone acts so marvellously in Hay Fever. Its fragrant vapor to you brings cure, but to the microbe death. Catarrhozone is as quick to act on these microscopic organisms as lightning. Prevents as well as cures, and is always successful. Druggists, 25c. and $1.00, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Town killers may be classed as follows: First, those who go out of town to do their shopping; second, those who are opposed to improvements; third, those who imagine they own the town, fourth, those who prefer a quiet town to one of push, life and energy; fifth, those who oppose every movement that does not originate with themselves.

"Give four laws passed during the past century by which the English people secured liberties not previously enjoyed" This was one of the questions on the entrance examination papers in history, and one of the candidates who wrote submitted the following.—(1) Any man under 21 could not drink with out paying a fine. (2) The King could not billet his soldiers upon private houses. (3) One man could not murder another man. (4) If a man married a woman and then did not like her, he could not leave her till she died.—Hanover Post.

Wednesday morning of last week a distressing accident took place at the residence of Mr. Alex Taylor, 15th concession, Bentinck, by which his aged mother lost her life and his left hand was very badly burned. Mrs. Taylor is 80 years of age, and has been in poor health for two or three years. Between 12 and one o'clock the old lady struck a parlor match to light a lamp. The head of the match fell on her night-gown and set fire to it. Her shrieks brought her son and he succeeded in putting out the fire, which had enveloped his mother, and in the effort his hand was very badly burned. In her feeble condition Mrs. Taylor could not survive the shock, to which she succumbed 12 hours later.

William Phillips, an old man residing on the Erin side of the townline, about one mile from Orton, in this county committed suicide in his barn Monday morning. He tied a rope to a beam and jumped from a load of hay, which was standing on the floor. His neck was broken. He was found dead suspended by a rope from a beam about the centre of the floor. His feet were touching the ground. Phillips arose from breakfast at eight o'clock and appeared in his usual health and spirits. No sign of insanity had ever been noticed on him. He was 74 years old and a well-to-do family survives him. One son lives a short distance from Fergus.—Representative.

Three new cases of smallpox have broken out at Alliston. They were all infected by the barber, who was ill previously. This makes five cases in all in that town. They are all in quarantine, and as the period of incubation is now over, no other cases are expected to develop. Two new cases have also broken out in Tecumseh township, in the same house where the Alliston cases originated. As no cases outside the first house have developed, it is thought this will end the outbreak. The suspects are being well looked after, and every precaution as to isolation and vaccination has been taken.

The south-bound Steamboat Express yesterday morning came into the station yard with a badly smashed pilot and a liberal splashing of the contents of wrecked dinner pails. This disorderly condition is accounted for in a misunderstanding of the section boss, Wm. Winters, who supposed the express had passed through in the night. He started out at 7 a. m. with his gang and, a thick fog hanging low over the track, did not see the approaching train until too late to save his hand car. The men narrowly escaped by jumping, their car, tools and dinner pails being tossed high in the air and utterly wrecked. The engineer left the wreck of his pilot by the track at this station.—Shelburne Free Press.

An exchange remarks: When we see the boys on the streets and public places we often wonder if they know business men are watching them in every bank, store and office there will soon be a place for somebody to fill. Those who have the management of affairs of business houses will select one of these boys; they will not select him for his ability to swear, use slang, smoke cigarettes and tap a beer keg. These men may have a few of these habits themselves, but they are looking for boys who are as near gentlemen in every sense of the word as they can find and they are able to give the character of every boy in the city. They do not want rowdies, and when a boy applies for one of these places and is refused, they may tell him they did want him, but the boy can depend upon it that he has been rated according to his behavior. Boys cannot afford to adopt the habits and conversation of loafers and rowdies if they ever want to be called to responsible positions.

McCullough & Young have a fine 60-acre field of fall wheat on their ranch, 11th line, Euphrasia, which will yield about 25 bushels per acre.—Standard.

For more than a year the friends of Alexander McLachlan have contemplated the erection of a monument to his memory to be placed in the cemetery at Orangeville where he was buried. His admirers in Toronto have already contributed liberally for this purpose and the people of Guelph and other towns are giving their aid.

A mother sent her small boy into the country, and after a week of anxiety received this letter:—"I got here alright, but forgot to write before. A feller and I went out in a boat and the boat tipped over and a man got me out. I was so full of water that I didn't know anything for a long time. The other boy had to be buried after they found him. A horse kicked me and I have got to have some money for fixing my head. We are going to set a barn on fire to-night, and I about smile if we don't have some baily fun. I shall bring home a tame woodchuck if I can get him in my trunk."

Stones Settlement.

From Our Own Correspondent.
Intended for last week.

The public school holidays are over, but our bell was not heard to-day. We presume that the holidays in this section will be extended a few days longer, as we have not heard as yet of the engagement of a teacher.

It will require at least another week of fine weather to complete the harvest in this vicinity. The fall wheat, which at the time of cutting was one of the finest crops grown in this section for some years, was unfortunately considerably damaged while in the shock by rain, but we hope that when the grain is threshed the damage will be found to be less serious than expected.

The addition to Mr. John McLeod's barn is completed. The masonry built by Mr. James Dyce and staff is an artistic piece of workmanship, and would grace a city residence. The frame work was done by Mr. Donald McLeod and is equally substantial. Mr. J. J. Patterson's barn is also completed.

Mr. Geo. Boyce is re-shingling the barn on the McPhatter farm, of which he is tenant. We understand that further improvements are under consideration.

In reference to "That stone-throwing," it only remains for me to add that all the statements made by me in the item still remain confirmed by my author. If further facts, out of which capital is to be made, whether significant or insignificant, they must be gathered by the principals in the dispute, and any further allusions to the subject will be unheeded by me until my statements are refuted by my informant, and if I am to accept "An Onlooker's advice and always hear both sides of a story, etc., 'An Onlooker' may in all fairness accept my advice and never stab from behind, or in plain words never under the guise of a false name seek to denounce a respectable woman's word as unreliable, for, to use his own words that certainly was the construction (modified) placed by the majority of the people on his reference to Mrs. Spicer.

To the Editor:

SIR—For the past three and a half years I have, at the suggestion, or I may say, at the request of some of the people of this neighborhood, represented this locality in your paper as correspondent. Although I feel that the task has been inadequately and imperfectly performed, yet it has been performed to the best of my ability. In the course of my correspondence I have carefully avoided offensive personalities or reflections of any description that would cause pain or annoyance to any of your readers. I have never knowingly sent any items for publication without considering the authenticity of the information, and if at any time I have malvertantly sent to press any item which was not correct, on discovering the mistake I have either written to the editor to cancel its publication, or corrected the error in a following issue. If at any time I have had occasion to write on any matter of a controversial nature, it has been written and published over my signature. In the recent unpleasant controversy my only aim has been to prove that the statements contained in the item were not imaginary, but based upon information received from and certified to by my author, whose name appeared in my reply to "An Onlooker." It is not for me to say whether the stones were thrown at the house or the dog, as I was not present on the occasion, but it is to be regretted that the stones were thrown at either. As this is the first alteration of the kind that I ever became mixed up with, and as a safeguard against a future mix-up, I must request of you, Mr. Editor, with many thanks for your courtesy in the past, to accept my resignation as correspondent of the Stone Settlement.

Mr. George Wiltshire, who was probably the oldest man in Proton, passed away last week. The deceased was born in England in 1810 and settled in Proton about fifty years ago. He had been ill for considerable time. The funeral took place on Friday to the Vestry Cemetery. The Rev Mr. Buchanan conducted the ceremony. Mr. Wiltshire was a good citizen and was highly respected in his community. A number of his family are residents of Proton.—Herald.
