Lash As Deterrant

The fine, the lash, the cell, have been for some time the modes of punishment most in use for lawbreakers. With modern improvements prison life with some seems to be regarded as a sort of residence, and to have lost much of its terror. So emphasis is being placed on fines and lashes as deterrants. Three months with a $1000 fine; or six months with a dozen lashes a month would no doubt be quite effective in deterring a criminal from future transgression, or as a deterrent to others, where mere imprisonment would fail.—Confederate & Rep., M. Forest.

Prospects For Baseball Team Bright This Year

With the coming of spring the subject of baseball is naturally in the air and this town is not without its rumours of the performance of the slab artist and his eight fellow players. While Flesherton could not put a world beating aggregation into the field, we believe the boys could give a good account of themselves. Some of the young fellows have come along fast the past two years and some good ball could be played by them. It is always to the coming generation that we look for players, and it is expected that a team will be formed this year comprising these young fellows and there will be a bunch of the older ones too. Flesherton has always given good support to their ball team and the boys would again ask for their hearty support if a team is fielded this year. If the Thursday half-holiday is observed this year it would be a big help for the team. Altogether now and boost for a ball team in Flesherton!

IT WAS A TIE GAME

Last week we didn't intend to take any glory away from the Dundalk hockey team, when we said that Flesherton won the last game 9—8 but it seems we did. There were several scores given to us and most of them said that Flesherton won, but we now hear the correct score is a tie, 9 all We hearby make a correction.

The veteran Clerk of Dufferin County, J. C. Reid, has been seriously ill at Orangeville, but is now said to be recovering.

Fire, after an auction sale, destroyed barn and grain contents of Wm. Currie, near Hepworth, on Wednesday last.

The death is announced of Prof. H. C. Heinicke, the well known master of the 31st Regiment band and choirleader of St. George church, Owen Sound. Deceased was at one time a band master in Hanover.

CONTROL COCKROACHES

A Reliable Method of Getting Rid of These Pests

Sodium Fluoride Will Do the Job—It Kills Both by Contact and the Mouth—How to Apply—Bot Flies—Fixed Proportions.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The kitchens in many restaurants, hotels and other institutions are so infested with cockroaches that if patrons could see them they would leave the place in disgust. Bakeshops are also much troubled with these insects.

Control Is Not Difficult.

In spite of their commonness control is not difficult. Sodium fluoride, a white powder, will kill any that come in contact with it. The writer, however, prefers to use a mixture of equal parts of sodium fluoride and cornstarch, as being superior to the fluoride alone. This mixture costs only about 50c a pound, and a pound will treat once a very large kitchen and usually would be sufficient for all the treatments for an ordinary private house.

The method of applying is to put the mixture into a can with a perforated lid, or into a salt-cellar, and then dust it moderately heavily along the floor beneath the water pipes and sinks, on the window sills, in the back part of the shelves of cupboards, and any other place frequented by the cockroaches.

Sodium Fluoride Kills Two Ways.

The substance kills both by contact and by being taken into the mouth. It apparently gets into the mouth by the roaches cleaning their feet and body to remove the powder when they happen to run over it.

A small dust gun or bellows, costing about $1.50, is an excellent thing to apply the powder with, and is much superior to the dusting can, as it enables a person to blow the substance into cracks and crevices where the insects may be hiding and where they could not be reached by the can.

How to Prepare for Treatment.

Before each treatment sweep the room well, and then leave the powder undisturbed for several days. Sweep up again and make another application. This may have to be repeated several times, and each time care should be taken to discover, if possible, overlooked areas and treat them. Usually two or three dustings will destroy almost all the cockroaches, even in a large institution, but sometimes it is so difficult to find all the hiding places that several applications will be necessary. All that is required, however, to eradicate the pest is care and perseverence. That the powder does kill the cockroaches will be shown plainly after the first treatment; for in a day's time numerous cockroaches will be found dead here and there over the floor.

The above treatment is the cheapest the writer knows, and much more effective than any spray that can be given, because it remains active as long as left on the floor, whereas the sprays are only effective at the time of application, and only if they hit the insects.—J. L. Caesar, O. A. College, Guelph.

Bot Flies.

Measures should be taken to prevent horses becoming infested with the larvae of bot flies by protecting them from the egg laying attack of the parent fly. The clipping of the long hairs from the region of the head, breast, shoulders and legs affords some protection in that it reduces the probability of the fly being able to attach its eggs. The areas where the egg laying fly usually deposits her eggs should be frequently soaked with oil or grease. This prevents the eggs from adhering to the hair. Pieces of cotton or cheesecloth fastened to the bridle and harness in such a manner as to cover the under surface of the jaws, the breast and forearms affords some protection and reduces greatly the possibility of the horse wintering a stomach full of bot larvae and suffering in consequence of such. A little attention to what may seem trivial to many makes the difference between the horses being thrifty and in good condition or unthrifty and hidebound. Swat the bot fly or at least prevent it from carrying out its destructive work.—L. Stevenson, O. A. College, Guelph.

Fixed Proportions.

There are a number of fixed proportions used in all recipes, and the following are standard:

One-half as much liquid as flour for muffin and cake batters.

One-third as much liquid as flour for soft doughs, as for biscuit.

One-fourth as much liquid as flour for stiff doughs, as for bread.

One-third to one-half as much butter as sugar for all butter cakes.

One to one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder to a cupful of flour for batters or doughs.

One-third as much shortening as flour for pastry.

One teaspoonful of soda to one pint of sour milk.

The scrub cow shivers when she sees the scales and Babcock tester.

The horse still plays an important part. He still furnishes a cheap source of power for ploughing, and is the most economical to use for short hauls.

Impure drinking water accounts for much sickness among hogs. The first consideration is to supply plenty of pure water for the hog lots. This is as important as good feeding.

Save the mangels for the calves and young stock. Nothing is more relished by a calf and nothing is better for its digestion than good, crisp juicy mangels. Silage is all right, but silage and roots are better.
