Doubling the Arguments for Saving

ALL that can be said in favor of opening a savings account in the Standard Bank may be repeated with greater emphasis as regards a joint savings account. Joint accounts are primarily for convenience of depositors but, where two people are bound together by common interests, the moral as well as the practical value of working together, planning their financial betterment with the aid of a join bank account is clearly evident. The Standard Bank solicits your joint savings account.

Jos. Sweeney, Markdale, Killed In Winnipeg

STEPPED IN FRONT OF A YARD ENGINE AT C.P.R. STATION.

Joseph Sweeney of Markdale, Ont., was killed at the Canadian Pacific Railway Depot, Winnipeg on Sunday night last. He was 21 years of age.

Sweeney was in company with a friend, James Matthews, of the same town. The two men were standing on the platform in the vicinity of track No. 7, when they noticed a number of companions standing on another track. They were about to join them, apparently unaware of the fact that a switch train was approaching from a westerley direction. Matthews escaped, but Sweeney was caught, and falling beneath the train, two coaches and a half of the third coach passed over him before the engine could be stopped. His body was badly mangled and he expired a few minutes after the accident. He was on his way to the harvest fields.

Through the neglect of someone, whose duty it should have been to notify the relatives of the unfortunate young man at Markdale. no word had been received by them of the fatal accident on Sunday evening, until about 11o'clock on Monday. The boy's mother was prostrated with grief, at the suddenness of the tragedy which had overtaken her. Joseph Sweeney was the son of the late Dennis and Mrs. Sweeney. He was born and had lived at the place where his relatives now reside all his life. He left Markdale on Friday morning, with a number of other young men of the district, on the harvester's excursion. Besides his mother, there are a number of brothers and sisters.

THE OLD FASHIONED SUNDAY

More and more it seems that the old-fashioned custom of spending Sunday quietly and going to church and Sunday school is being thrown aside by many otherwise careful-living people in favor of pleasure. To get the wife and children in the car and sail away for a pleasant holiday is the idea now. It is not the children, but the parents who are rasponsible for this new-fangled way of spending the Sabbath. It means a good time for everybody, but the old-fashioned Sunday is sacrificed. The old training that taught restraint and that the careful following of certain duties in life as being essentials to good citizen ship are becoming, it would seem, relics of the past. We are moving on to something different, but is it something better? What our future citizens will turn out to be depends on the training the children of the present day are receiving in their homes. The responsibility rests with the parents. Will the coming generation outdistance the last in character and worth? We hope so. But certainly some of the old ideals upon which sterling characters of the past were builded seem to be held lightly. Surely we lose something worth while when we allow ourselves to drift away from the best traditions we have inherited from the fine old pioneers of this country.
