The Reform convention for East Grey will be held in Flesherton about April 8. We understand that it is the purpose to bring out a temperance man, and sheeps eyes have been cast at Mr. Peter McAuslan of Euphrasia as the coming man. Mr. McAuslan is known as a strong temperance man, but whether he would sink politics before temperance principles is a question we cannot answer off hand.

According to the Standard a meeting is to be held in Markdale about the end of March to nominate a candidate to represent the "Independent" electors of East Grey. What does this mean? We presume all the electors of the riding consider themselves independent, but we have heard no plaintive cry for some one to come forward and represent them. It looks like a one-man cry, with that man the prospective candidate. But we shall see.

The prohibitionists of East Simcoe are going about the matter in a methodical way. They interviewed the party candidates and the replies of these gentlemen being equivocal and unsatisfactory a convention was called for Monday of last week at Creemore, when a straight temperance man was put in the field. The East Simcoe prohibitionists evidently do not pin their faith to the referendum. There are others. When things get into running order there will probably be a good many more temperance candidates in the field for the coming election. There is nothing to prevent temperance people working two guns at once—the election and the referendum—and thus demonstrating which is the more powerful

We have a serious question to put to the Toronto Star, but right there will intimate that we do not hope for a candid answer. A few years ago the Star inaugurated a red hot campaign against the big city departmental stores. It could not say enough evil of them. They were simply the work of his satanic majesty and would work ruin and confusion in the business world if allowed to flourish. The country press echoed the Star's words and gave it such an advertisement as to give it a standing among the city journals which before it did not enjoy. But behold, the attacks suddenly ceased and advertisements of these same stores began to appear in its columns and have continued right along ever since, being at the present time printed in two colors to attract special attention, as no other advertisements in the paper are. The Star's arguments against these institutions were all right as it knows. But why did the Star cease its campaign so suddenly? This brings us to the leading question: Will the Star please tell us what pecuniary benefit it derived from the campaign referred to—the extent to which its subscription list was boosted in the first place, and secondly the amount of income it derived from the departmental stores since its advertising column were found by them to be worth using? The country press can understand well enough that the Star has been a gainer, and largely through their benevolent assistance, and would like to know, merely from friendly interest, to what extent it has benefited. When the Star gives us this information we will kindly reciprocate by informing that paper of the exact amount of profit derived by the country press for blowing the Star's bugle when the war was on. The country press feels rather humiliated over the matter, don't you know.

A Seed Case.

The only case on the docket at the Division Court held in Thornbury on Monday morning was one between one Douglas, of Collingwood, and Chas. Mackey of Thornbury. Some time ago Mackey sold between 20 and 25 bushels of timothy to Douglas and was to have delivered it in Collingwood, but Douglas wasn't there and his hired men hadn't the money to pay Mackey, who returned to Thornbury and sold the seed to Boyd Bros. Douglas sued Mackey for the amount, and on oath said he could have made from 75c to 85c per bushel at the time it should have been delivered. Judge Morrison said Mackey shouldn't have taken the law in his own hands and after once selling had no right to sell the second time before notifying Douglas. Judgement was taken in favor of Douglas for $13, and defendant to pay costs. T. H. Dyre for defendant, Bruce, of Collingwood for plaintiff.—Reflector.

The members of rural volunteer regiments will be served with the new rifles during the coming summer. The militia department has decided not to establish district armories.

A brick arch in Toronto caved in the other day, the workmen began immediately to cart away the rubbish in order to recover the body of a boy who had just been set to scraping mortar in the arch just previous to the collapse. Pretty soon the boy appeared and asked what was up, he having sneaked away to smoke a cigarette a few moments before the accident occured. And still some people maintain that cigarette smoking is dangerous.

A cold snap is as bad as the fishing season for making liars. A gentleman from the west was in town last week and in course of a conversation he dug in to tell us how severe the weather is out there. Readers can believe what they like but this man sat down in our office and, without even blushing, said that before he left home he threw a cupful of cold water at a cat one chilly morning. The water froze into a chunk of ice in the air, hit the cat on the head and broke its skull. Then he told about a woman who left a lamp burning all night in a kitchen, and when she tried to blow it out in the morning found the flame frozen hard. She broke it off and threw it into the woodshed, where it thawed out and set the shed on fire. As if these two were not enough he wound up with a story of a local doctor, who, just before he started out on a drive, took a dozen drinks of old Bourbon. It was a cold day and his breath froze in chunks. He put the chunks in a pail when he got home and thawed them out, and had a quart of pretty fair whiskey.—Harriston Review.

A company gave an exhibition of moving pictures in the town hall Saturday evening. It was of the medium order, no better than we have seen here before. The audience was composed largely of school children who got in on a 7-cent ticket. That was about the value of it—a 7-cent show.

Rev. Mr. Bethune, who has been conducting union evangelistic services in the churches here for the past three weeks, brought his labors to a close on Friday evening last and left for Barrie on Saturday morning. His work here was of a substantial nature and a large amount of good has been done, but the pastors of the various churches think the work was far from being completed and decided to continue the services this week in the Methodist chuach.

Leila, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. Andrew Beattie of the gravel road north, has been a sufferer for the last four weeks with erysipelas in her leg. The disease had affected the bone to such a degree that it was found necessary to amputate the limb above the knee. This was successfully accomplished on Saturday last by Drs Middlebro, Owen Sound; Ego of Markdale, and Carter of Flesherton. It is hoped that the little sufferer will recover, but the case is a sad one and much sympathy is expressed for the child and parents.

A despatch from Sault ste. Marie on Monday conveyed an interesting bit of information to people of this section. The despatch reads as follows: "James R. Medaugh of Proton, Ont., arrived in the city yesterday and told the officers another story of man's duplicity and woman's worse than weakness. Medaugh has for the past three years been in search of his daughter, Mabel, who left her home with a man named Robt. Clark. The girl was employed in Clark's general store at Proton, and the two eloped from that place. The father recently learned through friends in this vicinity of the fact that Clark and the girl were living in this county, and he came here yesterday in search of her. He enlisted the services of Deputy Sheriff Jacob Bainbridge, and the two left for Eckerman yesterday morning. Medaugh having learned that Clark and the girl were living near one of the Peninsular Bark and Lumber Company's camps, near that place. They found the pair 20 miles from Eckerman, living as man and wife. Clark interposed no objection to the father's taking his daughter away, and no criminal complaint was lodged against him. Medaugh and his daughter returned to the Soo with the officer, and they spent last night here. They left for Proton this morning."

Seed Fair.

The seed fair held at Kimberley on March 12 was not as successful as was hoped for owing to the stormy weather prevailing, but still there was a goodly exhibit and for the first of its kind there may be considered a good beginning. When farmers fully awaken to the benefits of seed fairs they will no doubt become as popular here as in the old country. Following is a list of the prize winners: Siberian oats, J. I. Graham; Banner oats, J. I. Graham, A. Hall; any other kind, James Stuart; barley, 6 rowed, Jno. Eaton, Jos. Ferris; peas, large, Jos. Ferris, J. I. Graham; peas, small, Robt. Genoe, Jos. Ferris, Jas. Magee, Jas. Knott, W. G. Shannon; corn, Compton's early, J. I. Graham; potatoes, White Elephant, Jas Stuart; Pearl Savoy, J. I. Graham; any other kind, Jno. Eaton, Jas. Stuart.

The Conductor Struck

The morning train from Toronto was an hour an a half late and citizens wondered at the delay. It was an interesting delay and it cause some to think the way. After leaving Orangeville a couple of "auditors" boarded the train and invited conductor Ben Sheppard to hand over his tickets. These it seems, did not correspond with the number of passengers on board and one of the spotters informed Ben that he could be relieved of his job after reaching Owen Sound. This was after the train had left Shelburne. Conductor Sheppard said the spotters could go and dwell in a warmer clime but he would stay at Dundalk. He might as well quit now as to quit at Owen Sound and refused to run the train further. The agent at Dundalk telegraphed Orangeville and another conductor came up on a special engine and ran the train on through, after a delay of only an hour and a half. The passengerr took the matter kindly as all their sympathies appeared to lie with the man who struck.
