The Mission Band of the Methodist church gave an entertainment in the Methodist church on Friday evening last. The band of little people numbers some forty members. The program was of a solely missionary character and was quite interesting. A collection was taken up and $4.45 added to the band's funds.

Mrs Wright, sr., of Wareham, was the victim of a bad accident on Thursday last. While passing from the house she was struck by a slamming door and thrown violently on the ground, badly fracturing one of her limbs The accident is a very serious one, as Mrs. Wright is in her eighty-fourth year. The injuries may prove fatal. Drs. Scott and Spotly are in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnhouse spent Sunday with friends near Wodehouse.

Mr. Nuhn is busily engaged with workmen renovating the woollen milland putting it in better shape than it has ever been before. A newbarrel flume is being added, new roof, etc., while the machinery will also be overhauled. The wool market in Flesherton promises to be lively, as there will be three or four buyers.

At the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church held on Wednesday afternoon of last week the following resolution of appreciation was adopted and entered in the minutes: "This society having lost by removal from the congregation its esteemed President, Mrs. Jas. Dyce, and being now about to lose another member and valuable co worker, in the person of Mrs. J. Watt, be it resolved that we hereby place on record our high appreciation of the labors of these sisters, who have so ably and faithfully aided us in carrying on this branch of the church's work. We deeply regret the removal of these sisters and feel that we sustain a great loss by the same. Our united prayer is that God's sustaining grace will keep them and that his guiding hand will lead them into continued usefulness for himself wherever their lot may be cast.'

The Epworth League celebrated on Monday evening the thirteenth anniversary of the league's birth by giving an "at home" in the basement of the church which was a gratifying success in every particular. There was a short program, including a solo by Miss Mabel Boyd, recitation by Miss Ella Barnhouse, duet by Misses Annie and Minnie Joy, recitation by Miss Ethel Trimble and a solo by Miss Allie Joy. The Misses Joy gave a lovely boating song selection, one of the prettiest things of the many we have heard them render. Miss Trimble's selection was that immortal touch of human nature of Will Carleton's—"Betsy and I are out" and "How Betsy and I made up." After the program there was a library guessing contest in which Miss Kavanagh of the postoffice came out ahead with the correct placing of 32 titles. Then came ice cream, two large dishes of the very choicest for five cents. Tea and other refreshments There was no admission—everyone gave what they liked—yet the proceeds amounted to over seventeen dollars. A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by singing the doxology.

A few years ago John Barnes married Mrs Samuel Hayes, a highly respectable and good looking widow of 28 summers. They settled on a farm between the township of Kinloss and the township of Kincardine, and appeared to be happy. For some time rumors have been afloat that harmony did not prevail in the home. Neighbors were suspicious that Barnes was abusing the woman he had vowed to love and protect. Last week the climax was reached. Friends were aroused by some one crying, and the blows could be heard quite distinctly. Wm. Smith, R. Anderson and John Hewitt dashed into the house and rescued the unfortunate woman. Barnes made an attempt to conceal the strap he was whipping his wife with. Help came too late to save Mrs. Barnes from the result of her injuries. The poor woman had gone insane. Just as day was breaking on Friday morning, Constable Armstrong appeared on the scene with a warrant for Barnes' arrest, but the bird had flown. How Barnes had managed to evade the constables is a mystery to many in the neighborhood. Tar and feathers were talked of. Friends of the family are watching for the man to put in an appearance.—Ripley Express.

A good story is going the rounds about a certain short-sighted lady of the neighborhood. At a friend's house one morning she went to the cradle to see the baby. Unfortunately the cat had taken the baby's place, but before she could give herself time to see her mistake she exclaimed with uplifted eyes and hands: "Oh! what a sweet child; the very image of its father."
