The Growing Popularity of the Farmers' Institute

In view of the great success of the Farmers' Institute as a means of education in Ontario, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has endeavored to co-operate with the various local departments in establishing and improving similiar systems in their respective provinces. Trained speakers have been sent to assist in the work in other provinces, and the best available men in these provinces have been pressed into service, not only in their own province, but in others as well. By sending able and observant men from one province to another in this way we hope to get together a thoroughly capable corps of Institute workers, familiar with the agricultural situation and requirements in all parts of Canada.

Prof. E. J. McMillan of Charlottetown, P. E. I., supt. of Farmers' Institutes and etc., has prepared a sketch of the work already accomplished in Prince Edward Island, which may be of interest and benefit to those interested in agricultural education in other provinces. According to Prof. McMillan :—"The organization of Farmers' Institutes in Prince Edward Island was first undertaken in June, 1901. At that time the Hon. Benjamin Rogers, Commissioner of Agriculture, assisted by the writer and two experienced institute workers supplied by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, held meetings of farmers in the different sections of the province, for the purpose of discussing the advantages of the institute system. As a result of these meetings the organization of twenty institutes was completed before the end of the year.

The Farmers' Institute system of Prince Edward Island is twofold in its aims. It seeks to combine the educational features of the Ontario system with the facilities for dealing in live stock afforded by the old agricultural societies plan. Each organization is a Farmers' Institute and agricultural society combined. A government grant of $50 is paid annually to each society, which has at least 50 members enrolled, and collects $40 per year in membership fees. A sum amounting to $1,000 was expended in this way last year. The total membership up to December 31st, 1901, was 1624, and the amount subscribed in fees was $911.50. The receipts of the institutes from all sources amounted to nearly $2,000. This money was expended in the purchase of pure bred stock and in defraying the expenses of lecturers. Thirty-three meetings, chiefly for purposes of organization were held during the first year. At the beginning of the present year a regular series of institute meetings was arranged and carried out successfully. Several speakers were employed and various agricultural topics was brought up for discussion, chief among which were, dairying, hog raising and chicken fattening. As all of these are live industries at present, the interest manifested in the meetings was great. The attendance throughout was good, fully 2,000 people being brought in contact with the lecturers, who were not slow to take advantage of every opportunity to impart lessons of practical value. Already the influence of this public discussion of agricultural questions is shown in an increased interest in everything which makes for the advancement of the calling. The demand for pure bred stock for breeding purposes, which has more than doubled during the past year, may be cited as one instance of a benefit already derived for the institutes. It may also be shown that an advancement has taken place along other lines. The people realize this and are anxious that more educational meetings should be held."

During the month of July a series of midsummer lectures were given before the Institutes by Prof. H. H Dean and D. Drummond, representing the Dominion Department of Agriculture, besides several local speakers. With one or two exceptions where the advertising failed, they were a grand success. The farmers turned out well and manifested a deep interest in the meetings. Twenty-seven institutes were visited, an afternoon and evening meeting held at each The average attendance at the afternoon meetings was between 50 and 60 while in some instances there were over 100 people present. The illustrated lectures on dairy cattle which formed the chief feature of these meetings were entirely new to our farmers and were very well received. The average attendance at the evening meeting was fully 100. In these too, a marked interest was taken and free discussion indulged in, until in many instances it was eleven o'clock before the meetings could be brought to a close. Prof Dean, as was expected, has done excellent work. It seems to me we were very fortunate in securing his services just at this time, as the dairying business has not been growing much of late, and I feel sure that we may have a revival of the industry wherever he has gone. Mr. Drummond, too, has given excellent satisfaction. The people were very favorably impressed with his work in live stock and in other lines. We should like to have both gentlemen again. The impressions created by these meetings has been very favorable and I am confident that the Institutes here have been much strengthened as a result. That the close of the present year will witness a considerable growth in the institute system is already assured. Six new organization have been completed thus far this year, and it is probable that more will be added before it closes. With an increasing membership and a lively interest manifested in the work by its members, the Farmers' Institute organization will become a factor for the progress of Agriculture in the province. P. W. STANHOPE, Live Stock Commissioner.

Struck by Lightning

During the thunder storm which prevailed on Tuesday evening lightning struck the stables of Mr. George A. Sargeant, an extensive dairyman, who lives in Derby, a little over two miles from town. The herd of about thirty cows had been driven into the stables, and six men were engaged in and about the building when the event occurred. Arch Winterburn was milking one of the cows, when the animal was killed by the bolt and fell over on Carnahan's legs, but fortunately he was not much injured, either by the animal or by the bolt which caused her death. Chas. Woods was also badly shocked by the electric discharge. So violent was it that all the cows and men were knocked down. Stanley Feltis, a young man, had noticed that the water tank, which is filled by windmill, was running over, and had gone to shut off the water. He was injured worst of all, and is still confined to his bed and receiving treatment. One of his legs is badly burnt. The damage to the building consisted of a few shingles being torn off. No marks could be found on the animals which were killed. The other cows do not appear to have been injured, and the milking is not affected. Mr. Sargeant's loss is covered by insurance, and it is fortunate indeed that it was not human instead of animal life that was lost. Dr. Lang was in attendance.—O S. Advertiser.

The McCormick Binder

Concord, Ont., July 31, 1902.

The McCormick H. M. Co.,
P. W. Stanhope, Manager,
Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen—My attention has been drawn to an advertisement inserted by the Massey-Harris Company in the Toronto World under date of July 31, with reference to a field trial recently held on my farm, comparing the merits of one of your 7-ft. binders with one manufactured by the Massey Harris company.

After a further use of these machines and thoroughly testing their merits, I find that the McCormick machine handles much easier and does first class work in every particular. The bundle carrier is far superior also. One serious objection to the Massey-Harris is that the elevator chain is not covered and it shells the grain badly when dead ripe. Consequently I consider after a thorough test, that the McCormick machine does better work and I have settled for the McCormick and purpose keeping it, and will dispose of the Massey-Harris. If I were buying another machine I would have a McCormick in preference to any other. Yours truly

(Signed) DAVID SMELLIE.

We, the undersigned, after using the McCormick machine as well as the Massey-Harris, bought by our father the other day, have decided after giving both machines a full test, that we prefer the McCormick and fully concur in the above testimonial. Yours truly,
