TUESDAY EV'NG, JUNE 22, 1875.

THE MINISTER'S PRAYER.

"Then will teach transgressors thy ways, and sinners shall be converted into thee."—Psal. li. 13.

O! for a mighty breath of prayer
To shake the gates of heaven
I'd make a sinful world my care,
And grasp the blessings gathered there,
That all might be forgiven.

Oh! for a mighty voice to roll
In thunder through the land,
Reverberate from pole to pole,
Yet echo in the secret soul;
'Till self condemned it stand.

Oh! for a mighty hand, to force
The sinner to a pause;
The rebel choice that fixed, to course
I'd ever from his will divorce,
And bow him to God's laws.

Oh! for a mighty warmth of love
Above this heart to brood;
Then every impulse would I move,
And all his yielding powers should prove
The strength of gratitude.

Oh! for a mighty flow of grace,
To make Christ's glory known,
That all should see His holiness
Shining in my illumined face,
And seek it for their own.

O Lord! these various gifts bestow,
That through my humble means
Men may be brought Thy name to know,
To live and die in faith below,
And rise to heavenly scenes.

Give zeal divine to pray and long;
And speak each word of thine;
Bid me in love and power be strong
But chiefly, lest thy cause I wrong,
O! make myself divine!

Bears.—Since Messrs. Perry Davis & Son commenced the manufacture of Bearine, the Canada trapper has found a lucrative business in capturing old Bruin. Messrs. Davis & Son pay a good price for the grease, and the skins are always sought after. Messrs Davis & Son have a mode of refining the grease, perfuming it, &c., making it superior to any others we have ever seen.

'Gitting Her Tooth Drawed."

About ten o'clock yesterday morning a farmer and his wife hitched their team on Woolward avenue, and in another five minutes had mounted the stairs and appeared in a dentist's office. The old lady had her face tied up and there was a smell of camphor, peppermint, paragoric, turpentine and oil of smoke as she crossed the walk.

"Brace up now, Mary—brace up!" cautioned the husband as they started to climb the stairs. "I know jist how ye feel—kinder weak in the knees, like—but the feller up stairs 'll have that 'old snag out o'there like a horse running down hill!"

They were met by the smiling dentist, and the husband continued:

"She' got an old snag which we want drawed or dug out or driven in, or suthin' or other!"

"Take a chair, madam," replied the dentist, "and I guess I can help you."

"I vum! if I havn't a mind to back out!" she said, dropping on to the sofa. "Brace Mary—brace!" commanded the husband.

"Why even little children so high (measuring) comes up here every day and have ther teeth drawed for fun!"

"I don't belive it" she bluntly replied.

"Do you s'spose I'd lie to you, Mary—do you s'spose I'd tell a delibrate lie right here?" asked the husband.

She seemed to think he would, but didn't say so, and the dentist talked softly and sweetly and finally induced her to remove her shawl and hat and sit down in the chair. While he was looking over his instruments the husband remarked:

"You want to brace, Mary. Hold your mouth open as wide as you posible can, and don't try to look outer the window."

"I wish ye'd shet up!" she snapped, sitting up straight. "Don't you s'pos I know onough to get a tooth drawed!"

"But can't yer own husband speak to ye, Mary—the husband who has lived with you nighe on to thirty-six year!"

The dentist waved him away and cajoled the woman into leaning back and opening her mouth. He found the cause of her misery to be an old snag of a tooth, which would have to be dug around, but as soon as the lance touched the gum she screamed out and struggled up.

"Mary—dear Mary, why do you holer!" exclaimed he husband, rushing over to her side.

"She's all right—the worst is over," replied the dentest.

"Oh, she'll stand it like an elephant, she's got real grit, haven't you Mary?"

She fell back, opened her mouth once more, and again the lance made her scream out.

"Brace, Mary—shut yer eyes and hold on to the cheer!" exclaimed the husband.

"I wish you'd squat over there and stay there!" she snarled, after spitting out a mouthful of blood.

"But I can't sit there and here ye moan and hollow and take on so."

"Who's a hollerin'?"

"You did."

"No I didn't."

"Mary, don't tell me a lie—a bold straight lie right afore this dentister."

The dentist induced him to be seated again, but it was five minutes before the woman would open her mouth. She declared that the ache had untiarely vanished, and that her tooth never felt so well in her life.

"Don't try to crawfish, Mary—don't try that!" exclaimed her husband.

"Will you shet up!" She shouted.

"No, I won't, darn me'f I do! Here you've kept me a wake fourteen nights howling with that old tooth! You've jawed and howled and tore around like an old camel, and now you'v got to have that tooth drawed or you'll go home afoot!"

She wanted to get out of the chair and go for him, but the dentest persuaded him into going to a drug store after ten drops of laudanum, and while he was absenct the tooth was extracted. 'Mary" was balancing it on her head as he came in and after a brief glance he exclaimed:

"Bully for you, Mary! I knowed yo had grit. All ye wanted was me to encourage ye!"

"You didn't encourage nothing," she loftly replied.

'I didn't, eh? Why durn it, if it wasn't for me you'd be howling around home this very minute, callin' for hot ashes, and camfire, and oils, and vitriol, and cottom! Don't lie, Mary, jist 'cause you've had one old tooth drawed!"

'I pity your second wife,' she growled as she put on her hat. 'I know just how them poor children of mine will be used!'

'Allers a twittin' me about a second wife!' he exclaimed. 'Here I've got to pay fifty cents to have that old snag drawed, and ye hain't the least bit grateful. I'd drive hum and leave ye in town, only I know ye'd be in jail in less'n an' hour.'

'Wait till we get back home,' she said as she started down stairs.

'Threats! THREATS!' whispered the farmer as he turned to the dentist; 'remember, if I'm found dead to-night that ye heard her utter threats!'

And he followed har down stairs.

Burnett's Cocoaine—A perfect dressing for the hair.—The Cocoaine holds in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoa-nut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. Life is the fribration received by all animated beings, from the Creator's breath—a taper whose luminous or flickering light may be extinguished by a gentle wind or firmly brave the fiercest blast. Life is caloric, electricity and phosphorous acting upon a mass of bones and sober solids, diffusing warmth, motion and animation; activity of muscle, of nerve, and of intellect. As caloric, electricity and phosphorous are indueed and impalied by Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, it only requires the administration of this successful invention to fortify the weak, give sprightliness of motion to the tendrils, and bring about a condition which not only secures tenaciousness of life but makes life really enjoyable.

The Horse.—Of the great number of animals under the control of man, the horse is undoubtedly the most serviceable. But it is not strange that so many who own horses, and who are dependent on their labor for a living should neglect to give them that care and attention which their own interest no less than the safety and comfort of the horse demands. The best remedy for horses is "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." of this there can be no doubt—it is safe and easily given. Remember the name and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

☞ Is health worth having? If it is protect it—it is a jewel as easily lost as virtue, and in many cases as difficult to recover. In this climate and more particularly at this season of the year, people are very apt to take cold and suffer from sore throat, coughs, spitting of blood and pulmonary complaints generally, which if not checked immediately lead to serious consequences. The question arises—which is the quickest and most effectual remedy? Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have been before the public for twenty years, and have always given perfect satisfaction, and invariably effect permanent cures when taken in season. Sold by all druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cents per box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT! A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P.Q. writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Maybee, merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have never used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rusan, Township Percy, writes, "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much.
