FANS SECURED THE FIGHT RETURNS FIRST HAND

The fight fans here tuned in on the air on Thursday night last and listened to the rounds, punch by punch, of the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight boxing battle held at Philadelphia. The static in the air was bad, but nevertheless the progress of the fight was very clear. The fans seemed stunned that Dempsey could not get going and expected that at any moment the famous wallop would come across and the crown would remain in the old hands. The new champion earned the decision in no uncertain manner and his elevation to the head of the heavyweight class is a popular one. The world series baseball games will be the next to be received.

CHANGE IN MOTOR MARKERS

The design of Ontario motor markers for 1927 is featured by a slight reduction of the size of the figures, which will nevertheless be as readily distinguishable as formerly, owing to the new design. The figures, which are black, will lie on a cream background. The design of these figures will be considerably improved. Formerly the threes and the nines could be changed into eights but now that will be almost impossible. The newly designed figures, which should act as a deterent to automobile thefts and changing of marker numbers are very legible despite their altered size. The name of the province, instead of being abbreviated to Ont., is printed in full, the idea being to make the province known to those who might not identify it by the abridgment, and will thus give the province better advertisement.
