ARTEMESIA FALL FAIR

The Artemesia fall exhibition held at Priceville on Wednesday of last week had poor weather for their show, yet the exhibition was successful from almost every point of view. The entries were certainly up to the standard in both quality and quantity. In horse flesh some beautiful animals were shown, and the same may be said of cattle, which were numerous. We notice a marked improvement in ladies' work in this show during the past two or three years, and when the ladies' begin to take a deep interest in anything you know it is bound to be a success. There was one thing however, that The Advance was pained to see and that was that the directors allowed a gambler to ply his nefarious trade under their protection. If there is any one thing that tends to demoralize an exhibition it is gambling. No parent who has any interest in his child's welfare will allow his boys to attend such a place. On this occasion we saw boys of ten years staking their money on the turn of the wheel and feel assured we were not the only one who felt a twinge of sorrow to see children of this tender age getting their first lesson in the way to destruction under the sanction of the Artemesia Agricultural Society. It does not sound well, and we believe the directors realized their mistake when too late. It is not too late, however, to prevent a recurrence in the future. At the East Grey fair the same gentleman had not sufficient money to buy standing room for his outfit. Following we give the prize list in full:—
