An Enquiry Respecting the Proposed Government to sit; John Macdonald—The Supervision in the Department of the Interior Deputation of Lumbermen.

OTTAWA, April 2.—The feature of yesterday's session has been the fact that a number of Conservatives, such as Messrs. McCarthy, Sproule, McDonald of Victoria, Dickey of Cumberland, have distinctly gone back on the Government on the question of the treatment of Mr. Burgess and the clerks in the Department of the Interior, who were shown before the Public Accounts Committee last year to have been guilty of irregularities. The threshing over again of last year's talk about Messrs. Burgess, Pereira, et al., occupied all the afternoon and the greater part of the night session. But the item for Mr. Burgess and Mr. Henry finally passed. Pereira's case was then taken up and discussed at great length.

Sir John's Monument.

Mr. Taylor has put on the order paper for Monday an enquiry of the Ministry, which will call out a great shout of "Yes" from the mass of the people at large, although it is probable that the reply of Sir John Thompson will be the usual cautious remark that the hon. gentleman will get his answer when the supplementary estimates for 1892-93 are brought down. The question is "Whether it is the intention of the Government to erect a suitable monument to the memory of the late Premier on the ground near the House of Commons; if so, when?"

Ontario Lumbermen Oppose An Export Duty on Logs.

OTTAWA, April 2.—Messrs. J. R. Booth, Hiram Robinson, H. K. Egan, James Gillies, M.L.A., F. W. Howell, David McLaren, A. H. Edwards, Peter White, M.P., and W. C. Edwards, representing the lumber trade in the Ottawa valley, and Messrs. A. H. Campbell, James Scott, Burton, D. L. White and Strathe, along with Dalton McCarthy, M.P., and Lieut.-Col. O'Brien, M.P., representing the Georgian Bay district, being in all between 50 and 60 delegates waited on the Government in regard to the proposition made by paper manufacturers to place duty on a certain kind of logs.

Mr. McCarthy introduced the delegation to Premier Abbott, there being also present Mr. Bowell and Mr. Foster.

Mr. O'Brien spoke chiefly with reference to pulp wood, which was now bringing a large quantity of money into the country in exchange for an article hitherto of no value and which could be reproduced at a very short period.

Mr. Booth pointed out that there was no danger of the supply of pulp wood getting exhausted in this country, as there was in the Province of Quebec immense quantities, far beyond the requirements of the country for many years to come. He also argued that the Americans were in no sense dependent upon Canada for its supply, because in the State of Maine and Vermont and parts of New York there were millions and millions of cords of wood quite sufficient for their supply, but having erected their mills near the border and can get Canadian wood, they would continue to use it as long as they could obtain it free, as at present. If an export duty was put on they would move their mills to where they could get the American timber. The imposition of a duty on saw logs would endanger the whole lumber trade.

Mr. Scott of Georgian Bay Lumber Company said that even if the saw logs were taken across to the other side it was better that this should be done than to remain subject to the risks of fire, which destroyed more timber than the quantity consumed in the trade. He spoke of the great danger to which the trade would be subjected by legislation of this kind.

Messrs. Brownlee (Renfrew) and Shatlee (Barrie) also spoke.

The Premier replied that the Government would carefully consider the matter.

Mr. Campbell, president of the Lumbermen's Association, spoke at length, pointing out the disadvantages that would follow through the American Government increasing the import duty on lumber from $1 to $2 if this export duty was imposed. It would also prevent the export of some of the coarser kinds of lumber which now reached the American market under the present duty. If the duty was reimposed it would close half the mills in the country, and as only the better class of lumber would be exported all the inferior kinds of lumber would be left to rot in the woods. Besides this it would entirely disarrange the trade.

Mr. White spoke principally in respect to the poplar wood, of which large quantities were now exported and the cutting of which was valuable assistance to the lumbermen, as spruce and pulp wood were hitherto of no value.

Spring Trade Prospects Fair.

NEW YORK, April 2. Special telegram to Bradstreet's again make clear the fact that the period of practical stagnation in the industrial and commercial circles is being indefinitely prolonged, evidently far beyond what had been anticipated. With this go the long prevalent features, declining prices for leading staples, due to excessive output as well as low rates for money on best security. There appears to be a growing impression that the first half of 1892 is not to meet early expectations.

In the Province of Quebec general trade is dull and disappointing.

Although prospects for spring trade are said to be fair in Ontario, the movement of staples is only moderate, but collections in some instances are improving.

Bank clearings at four Canadian cities equal $16,380,000 this week, a decrease of 1-9 per cent. for the week.

Died From Lockjaw.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., April 2.—Thomas Cowling, aged 23, of Hampton, a short time ago had his finger cut off by a circular saw. The wound was dressed and it was thought to be doing well. However, he continued to grow worse, lockjaw resulting, and death ended his sufferings.

FAILURES IN CANADA.

Decreases Noticeable in Ontario and Quebec—Other Provinces Less Favorable.

NEW YORK, April 2.—In the Dominion (Newfoundland included) there has been a net decrease of only seven failures as contrasted with the first quarter of 1891, but the total liabilities have fallen away fully 4.7 per cent. Decreases are noticeable in Quebec and Ontario, but in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia (with higher averages of indebtedness) the failures nearly doubled, while the liabilities nearly trebled in the former and quadrupled in the latter. In Manitoba also, although the failures did not increase, the liabilities gained 163 per cent. British Columbia had 18 failures, against only four in three months of 1891, and the total liabilities jumped from $7000 to $105,000 in the past three months.

In New Brunswick, Too.

FREDERICTON, N.B., April 2.—The Opposition in the Legislature has submitted a memorial to the Governor asking him to appoint a royal commission for the purpose of investigating a number of charges made against members of the Government and others as to receiving moneys and misappropriating the same.

HALIFAX, April 2.—The boodle investigation yesterday received the startling fact that $6000 of the road money apportioned the County of Cape Breton and supposed to be paid out only by the inspectors on the sworn pay sheet of the foreman had been taken by McDonald and McPherson, the members for the county and used by them and the official paymaster could not swear that the foremen had been paid by the members. In the case of $1000 it was shown that McDonald had used it to pay notes due at the bank, and that for three months after the money was drawn from the treasury the workmen were unpaid.

In other instances they paid men with goods out of their stores, in direct violation of law.

Mercier Opens Law Office.

MONTREAL, April 2.—Ex Premier Mercier opened a law office in Montreal and will hereafter devote himself to the practice his profession.

QUEBEC, April 2.—A meeting of the provincial Cabinet was held yesterday. Jean Chrysostome Langelier, provincial registrar, was summarily dismissed. An order-in-council dismissing Mr. Bourbonnais, who contested Soulanges county while still a civil service employe, was passed. All the mining inspectors, eight or nine in number, were dismissed and their work will be done by two competent men. A large number of other men who held places were also dismissed and will not be replaced.

QUEBEC, April 2. The Quebec Legislature has been called for the despatch of business for Tuesday, April 26.

MONTREAL, April 2. P.E. Leblanc of Montreal and member for Laval in the Quebec Legislature has been selected by the Government party as Speaker of the new Quebec Legislature.

The Bayfield Investigation.

OWEN SOUND, April 2.—It will be remembered that when in the course of his campaign, Dr. Spohn, the Liberal candidate in East Simcoe, made certain charges of boodling in connection with the purchase of supplies for H.M.S. Bayfield, the Government at once issued a commission to Judge Kingsmill of Walkerton to investigate the matter. The following merchants from whom supplies were purchased here, were examined here yesterday: Messrs. James McLauchlan, George C. Brignell, George Brignell and David M. Butchart. Mr. James Howe, steward of the Bayfield, was also examined.

The investigation was then adjourned and the commissioner will probably proceed to Ottawa to take the evidence of departmental officials there.

It is expected the judge will make his report in the course of 10 days or so.

WELL DONE, LEWIS

The Hunter Had Only One Arm, But He Killed Four Bears.

SALISBURY, N.B., April 2.—Stockford Lewis, a young man with only one arm, residing a few miles out of this village, started alone on a hunting expedition out near Canaan River armed with a repeating rifle. Arriving on the hunting grounds he soon ran across a bear's den. He routed out the inmates, which consisted of the old she bear and her family of three, supposed to be yearlings. The old bear promptly advanced on Lewis and was in the act of knocking the rifle out of his hand when he fired on her, killing her almost instantly. He then shot the three young ones.

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., April 2.—W. Gendron was yesterday fined $47.50 for killing a moose. F. Whitmore, charged with aiding in killing the animal, was fined $12.50. G. C. Belcher, charged with having some of the meat in his possession, was fined $14.60. David Jones was charged with having the hide on his premises, but it was not shown that it was there with his permission or consent. The charge against him was therefore dismissed.

Wm. Norton Falls From a Scaffold and is Killed.

TORONTO, April 2.—Wm. Norton, a married man living at 142 Nassau-street and employed as a painter for F. E. Phillips, met with an accident yesterday which resulted in his death. He was at work on a house on Jarvis's building, Front-street east, and was standing on a swinging scaffold. While raising himself a little higher to get at his work, he slipped and he was precipitated to the pavement, a distance of 35 feet below. He was insensible when taken to the hospital in the ambulance, and it was found that his forearm was broken and that he was badly bruised. Everything possible was done to relieve him, but he never regained consciousness and an hour afterwards he died.

Grain Destroyed By Rain.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 29.—Reports from many North Dakota and Northern Minnesota points indicate that it has been raining in torrents from eight to twelve hours. In many places the country is flooded and the roads impassable. The farmers' hopes that they would be able to thrash their left-off wheat can not be realized. The grain in shock was ruined by the early March thaws, the later heavy winds and snows filled the stacks to the centre with ice and frost, and to-day's rain so thoroughly soaked them that not a kernel of wheat will be saved except for feed.

At least 10,000,000 bushels in the Red River Valley must be counted lost.

Died Laughing At a Joke.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Herman Lorrman, steward on the Bremen line steamer Trave, visited a merrymaking party in Jersey city Sunday night, where Michael Schwartz, a local jester, amused the visitors by telling funny stories. At one of them Lorrman laughed loudest and longest, continuing until he became black in the face. Those about him became frightened at his remarkable appearance. While his ringing laughter echoed through the house he suddenly stood rigid, and shrieking, fell face forward on the floor, dead.

The estate of the late John McKeown, who died at Washington, Penn., will be contested by two brothers and a sister.

CLOUD BURSTS, TORNADO

FEARFUL WORK IN CHICAGO AND THE WEST.

A Kansas Town Completely Wiped Out of Existence and the Victims of the Tornado Strewn Along the Streets—A Chicago Tragedy.

CHICAGO, April 2.—A cloudburst last evening demolished a seven-story brick building in Pierce-street, which crashed upon the house of a number of laborers, instantly killing three children and fatally injuring a number of others. Four others are in the ruins.

In the house of Thomas Hullet 13 persons were seated at table. A 6 months old baby was crushed into a shapeless mass. The others were buried under the falling debris but were rescued.

Thomas Hulett lived in the rear of the seven-story brick building which was wrecked. He and his family together with two guests were at supper when the immense mass of brick, iron, wood and plaster composing the larger building fell. Its force seemed to be directed to the rear upon Hulett residence. A passer-by as soon as accident occurred turned in fire alarm and a police and ambulance call. Citizens who heard crash, and cries and moans of injured also rushed to the scene and work of rescue was at once begun and the dead and injured at once removed to residences nearby. Hulett family occupied only one side of the building, and on this the ruined building fell crushing it like a house of cards. A six months' old baby, David Hulett, was instantly crushed into a shapeless mass. Of 13 people seated at a table, the infant was the only one instantly killed. Others who were pinned under broken timbers were soon released by hundreds of firemen and others who rushed to the rescue. A number of physicians were soon at the scene of the disaster to care for the wounded as fast as they were removed.

In the two-story adjoining wrecked building lived families of Horace Wigsall, James Mott and James McGowan. All were in the building except 8-year-old Lizzie Mott and none escaped serious injury. James McGowan has invalid wife and Mary Walsh, Mrs. McGowan's nurse is believed to buried in the ruins. Up to 11 o'clock p.m. no trace of them had been discovered by diligent search, and is feared all are dead. An unknown man employed as watchman in ruined building is missing and is supposed to be buried in the ruins.

The ruined building was a new one and the mortar was scarcely dry when the wind struck it. Loss on building is about $35,000. During the storm a two-story frame building in Perry avenue, just completed and unoccupied, was entirely demolished. The signal service office reports that during the storm the wind attained a velocity of 56 miles per hour.

At Des Moines the velocity was 60 and at Sioux City 64 miles per hour.

KANSAS CITY, April 2.—A tornado swept over Kansas last night. The town of Towanda was entirely destroyed. The town was asleep when the storm swept over it, and it razed everything in its path. Four bodies have been recovered and 19 persons were fatally hurt. At Augusta three men were instantly killed and many injured.

Toward, a village of 1300 inhabitants west of Eldorado, was razed to the earth and not a single house left standing. Of 80 families comprising the population not one to-night that is not either mourning for a dead or dying member or sorrowing with the suffering. Four persons were killed outright and several were so badly injured they cannot live.

Fatally wounded are: Little girl blown from second story of hotel and badly crushed, Mrs. G. A. Robbins, skull fractured by flying timbers; Elmer Haine, internally injured; Mrs. W. Mooney, head crushed. Alice Thornton, George Cornelius and wife badly crushed. About 25 others were more or less seriously injured.

AND THE DOG HOWLED

An Uncanny Story From the Wilds of Muskoka.

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., April 1.—Mr. William Gohm, clerk of the township of Macaulay, a reliable and truthful man, relates this story, which can be substantiated by several of his neighbors, viz., the Zimmermans, Longfords and Phillips.

On the corner of the Longford farm and north of Mr. Gohm's there is a small graveyard. About two months ago an unknown collie dog was seen in the daytime and heard howling and crying at night in and around the graveyard.

About three weeks thereafter it was ascertained that the dog belonged to Robert Cooper. On this day Robert was passing the graveyard when the dog saw him and ran to him and followed him home. Robert had been unwell for some time, but got much worse the next day and died in about a week.

His remains were interred in this graveyard and the dog has been there nearly all the time since and makes the nights hideous by its mournful howling. It has been taken home and tied, but returns to the grave as soon as let loose.

The people around there are not given to superstition, being level headed kind of Methodists, but they are puzzled to know why the dog visited the graveyard and remained there howling before his master died.

EXETER, Ont., April 2.—Richard Walstell of Clandeboye has been remanded until April 5 upon the charge of having two wives.

Wife No. 2, who was Mrs. Cobleigh before her marriage to Walstell, which, it is alleged, took place in Exeter in 1889, lives with defendant at Clandeboye.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

A Variety of Matters Discussed in the House Yesterday.

TORONTO, April 2.—The House went into committee to consider Mr. Smith's bill to further amend the law respecting assignments and preferences by insolvent persons. This bill provides that the word creditor be interpreted to include surety and endorser in certain cases.

Mr. McCharty's bill to amend the Anatomy Act so as to prevent the body of any person dying in houses of industry being delivered to any medical faculty for the purpose of teaching anatomy was brought forward for its second reading amid decided signs of disapproval and cries of "withdraw."

Mr. McCharty made a vigorous defence of the bill and championed so well the cause of "poor people" that it seemed for a time that the bill would pass.

Mr. Meacham also upheld the bill. He thought that the bodies of criminals ought to be sent to the dissecting room, while those of the honest poor should be given a decent burial.

Implacable Science.

Mr. Mowat said that the House should consider the living rather than the dead. The original act was not for the benefit of the medical profession any more than the interests of the public generally. The country needed skilled surgeons. If bodies could not be obtained by students lawfully, they would be sure to attempt by other means to get possession of the bodies they required.

Mr. Meredith said that the poorer classes who were affected by this act were the ones who were most superstitious on this point.

Mr. O'Connor said that the reason this class of people was selected was because they left no friends behind whose feelings might be hurt. It surely could not be much of a consolation to an inmate in a poorhouse to know that the chairman of the board had to give his consent before his body could be handed over to the students.

Mr. Mowat, Mr. Ross and Dr. Willoughby opposed the bill and the House rose for recess before a vote was taken.

Mr. Loughrin's bill to incorporate the town of Sudbury was passed by the committee without discussion.

The committee passed without amendment Mr. Sol. White's bill to provide for the division of the Township of Sandwich East; the bill to incorporate the City of Windsor, and also Mr. Ross' bill to amend the act to incorporate the Western University of London.

Mr. Meacham's bill to amend the Ontario Medical Act, so as to appoint 21 regular physicians to the council instead of 12 as heretofore, to divide the province into 21 electoral divisions in such a way that each of these divisions may have an equal number of registered physicians, and to strike out the clause allowing the registrar to remove the names of physicians who failed to pay their dues, led to a good deal of discussion by the medical men of the House.

The Provincial Secretary moved that a committee, the members of which he named, be appointed to consider this bill, a similar one by Mr. Magwood and the bill by Mr. McLean on the Anatomy Act.

This proposition was carried. Mr. Waters bill was withdrawn, as its provisions were covered by Mr. Meacham's bill.

Mr. Balfour's bill to provide for the admission of women to the study of practice of the law and Mr. Waters' bill to enable married women to vote for municipal offices were not allowed to go on, as there was not a good attendance of the members.

The Committee Against Him.

TORONTO, April 2.—The Railway Committee of the Local Legislature yesterday morning took up the bill to incorporate the Toronto Railway Company.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) said when the amendments were inserted in the bill a few days ago it was undoubtedly the intention of the committee to make the bill so hard and fast that there would not be the slightest chance of cars running on the Lord's Day. He had since learned from Mr. Blake and others that the manner in which the bill had been amended would make it possible for the company to run Sunday cars.

Continuing he said he "was not going to argue the general question of running the cars," but wished to have the words inserted of that no car shall be run on the Lord's Day. He moved a resolution to that effect, which was voted down by 23 to 21.

Mr. Clarke said the amendments had been made by Mr. Blake without authority, and it was against the wishes of the majority of the council.

Mr. Meredith: Mr. Howland has misrepresented the decision of the courts. It was not fair of Mr. Howland to try and persuade the committee in a certain direction by misleading them as to facts.

Mr. Meredith added that as far as he was concerned he could not see where the great evil would accrue from running cars on Sunday. In all cities of any size on the continent cars were run and he had failed to see any such terrible effects from it. It is a slander on the people of this country to say that the running of cars on the Sunday would cause immorality. He wished to put himself on record as being opposed to this style of legislation.

Mr. Hall had voted against Sunday cars, but he did not think the companies should.

Mr. Biggar appeared before the committee to tell them that the council had at a meeting last night resolved, the motion giving the city solicitor power to ask for amendments in the bill. That was about as far as he got, as the committee adjourned without paying any further attention to the matter.

The Toronto Vacancy.

The Toronto vacancy in the Legislature is the great topic of conversation among the local politicians, as well as the members of the House.

The Conservative camp is deeply agitated over the selection of a champion. George Tait Blackstock seems to have the first call. He is at present out of town attending a western Court of Assize, but it is understood that he would accept the nomination if it were tendered him. It is claimed that he would be most acceptable to Mr. Meredith. Among the Young Conservatives mentioned as candidates are Mr. J. Castell Hopkins, the president of the association, and Mr. J. G. Holmes, the stalwart young barrister.

A New Dodge.

This is the latest and it has been practiced on Mrs. G. McKay, 568 Queen-street west. A pleasant-looking young lady stops into the store in the evening and asks leave to wait inside for a lady friend whom she had promised to meet at that point. She spends half an hour in waiting, frequently going to the door to see if the friend was in sight. The saleslady takes a customer to the far end of the store for a few minutes and shortly after the waiter also comes back, states that she will not wait any longer, thanks them for their hospitality and departs. Shortly thereafter it is discovered that a handsome and article went along with her. She carried one of those capacious bags that the ladies affect just now. They are getting much in demand among shopkeepers. "I call them the thief's poke," said one.

Another Osborne Case.

LONDON, April 2.—Society in London has hardly recovered from the excitement of the Mrs. Osborne affair, when it has another scandal to gasp about.

A well known society lady, the wife of an officer in the army, some time ago missed a very valuable brooch. Later she visited a jewelry store and was surprised to see displayed for sale her brooch. She asked the jewelers where they had got it, and they told her it had been sold to them by a certain lady, mentioning the name of her bosom friend.

Then the officer's wife recalled that this friend had helped her at the time she was doing her packing, and she was left no other option than to believe her friend had stolen the brooch.

The officer's wife was naturally indignant that her friend should have treated her in such a manner, and upon returning home wrote her telling of her discovery and charging her with the theft.

The result was that the bosom friend communicated with her solicitors, laid the letter before them and instructed them to immediately begin action for libel against her accuser.

The outcome of the case is eagerly looked forward to.

The Anarchist Ravachol.

PARIS, April 2.—It is reported that Gustav Mathieu, Ravachol's most dangerous accomplice, has been arrested. The police have learned from informers that Ravachol planned the Solby robbery. Ravachol carried the bomb placed in the Boulevard St. Germain explosion and placed it in position, leaving the house only a few seconds before the explosion occurred.

Ravachol's accomplices, no longer fearing revenge, readily consent to reveal what they know about Ravachol. They say he glorified in the murder of two women who kept a wine shop near St. Etienne, and boasted of having supped in a room where their corpses lay, cutting his food with the bloody knife with which he had murdered them.

Ravachol was confronted to-day with his accomplices, Chaumarten and Boulat. He persisted in his denial of having had anything to do with the recent explosions.

An Anarchist was arrested at Raubax to-night. It is expected that a nest of Anarchists will be arrested at Lyons immediately.

Hungary Preparing.

BUDA PESTH, April 2.—There was a significant scene in the Lower House of the Hungarian Reichstag. Dr. A. Workerle, Minister of Finance, said that owing to the present state of European affairs a reduction in expenditure for the army was impossible. The country was prepared for additional, though gradually increase in the army expenditures in view of the growing armaments of foreign powers. The Republicans applauded loudly and passed the budget as recommended.
