ITCHING AND SCALY.

Skin Disease Nine Years. Doctors and Medicines Useless. Cured by Cuticura for $4.75.

I feel it my duty to tell you my experience with your Cuticura Remedies. I have been troubled for over nine years with a dreadful skin disease. When I first felt it, there appeared a few small red spots on my breast, and it kept on spreading slowly. It started the same on my back, between my shoulders. A few days after the spots turned gray and began itching. Small scales would fall off, so it continued spreading all over my body. I tried all the patent medicines I could think of, or get hold of. I also consulted doctors. Yes, they would cure me in a short time, but they always failed. Then I gave it all up, thinking there were no cure for me. Some few months ago, I noticed your advertisement in the Tacoma Morning Globe, thought I would try the Cuticura remedies, not thinking it would do me much good, but to my surprise, three boxes of Cuticura one cake of Cuticura Soap, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent cured me entirely. My skin is now as white and pure as that of a child. I send my photograph. I have many friends in Chicago, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

PORT ARTHUR SCANDAL.

THE EVIDENCE AT THE PRELIMINARY ENQUIRY.

Mrs. Bathurst Relates Her Story of the Alleged Assault by Col. Ray—No Evidence to Show That the Latter Offered to Settle the Affair With a Check.

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 16.—No scandal which has occurred in Canada in recent years has convulsed the Dominion as has the recent arrest at Port Arthur of Col. Samuel Wellington Ray, the well-known banker and military man, on a charge of criminally assaulting the wife of Dr. Lancelot Bathurst.

The plaintiff in the case, Rose Louise Bathurst, is not yet 26 years of age. She is the mother of two children, and her Christmas present to her husband will increase the olive branches. Born in England, until 16 years of age she attended a school in Somerset, of which Prof. Clark, presently of Trinity College, Toronto, was the then rector. When 16 years of age she removed to London, where for three years she attended the London ladies' school. While there she met Dr. Launcelot Bathurst and they were married in February, seven years ago, by Rev. Mr. Griskin. They at once came to America, settling in Detroit. Some time afterwards she returned to England, where she remained 18 months, visiting her sister, her husband meantime continuing the practice of his profession in the mining district of Michigan. Three years ago they removed to the Thunder Bay district. Her husband's business called him frequently to Port Arthur, and finally in November last he removed his family to that town. He was frequently absent attending to the duties of his profession for from 24 to 48 hours at a time, and during this absence his wife would, with her family, find temporary lodgment at the Northern, a fashionable hotel on the water front. It is here where the Upper Tendom of the town foregather at semi-occasional assemblies, for since the boom which the building of the C.P.R. gave the town has subsided the settlement has been converted into a respectable, staid and proper abiding place; the only reminders of the good old times being the high prices of drinks and the signs on 34 facades signifying that at a not very remote period liquid refreshments were legally on sale inside.

Mrs. Bathurst attended these assemblies or balls, and arrayed in all the splendor of millinery properties presented as fair a vision as ever maddened the heart of a cavalier. One of the boarders at the hotel and one of the regular attendants at the balls was Col. Ray. The two became acquainted, Dr. Bathurst introducing the Colonel to his wife. That was two years ago.

"Time passed on," as the novelist would say, and the acquaintance did not ripen into friendship. Mrs. Bathurst says that when they met they simply spoke as they passed by until one night in leafy June last while the doctor was at the mines Mrs. Bathurst and a lady friend, Mrs. O'Connor, remained seated on the verandah at the Northern with Col. Ray from 8.30 to 11 o'clock.

The Colonel and Mrs. Bathurst next day waltzed together in the parlors of the Northern. They next met on Saturday, July 30, at the Northern, where Mrs. Bathurst went to see Mrs. Smith. Col. Ray met them on the balcony. The Colonel asked Mrs. Smith to play a waltz for them, which she did. Mrs. Bathurst left about dark and Col. Ray accompanied her home. He said he had to be at his office that night, but he would see Mrs. Ray home first. This was the first time he had accompanied her home, and as the doctor was not absent he did not remain long. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Bathurst started for the hairdresser's with the children and strangely enough ran across the Colonel in Cumberland-street. The Colonel asked the little girl about going for a horseback ride, and then remarked that he had something to say to her mother, would she meet him at her own house at 7.30 in the evening (the doctor had meantime left for the mines). She acquiesced, but did not go. It rained that night, but Mrs. Bathurst says that was not the reason. Wednesday morning, Aug. 3, they met again. Mrs. Bathurst had visited her house, so she claims, to change her dress. It was while returning to the Northern that she met Col. Ray.

What Followed the Explosion of the Bomb.

The first whisper that the public had of the storm which was about to burst was upon the return of Dr. Bathurst from Gunflint Lake. After his wife had related to him her story of the affair he went on a hunt for the Colonel. They met on the crowded wharf. The doctor stopped Ray and said: "I intend to have you arrested; I want to speak to you." The colonel said: "Don't make any disturbance here." The two then walked along the dock. Dr. Bathurst meantime unloading the vials of his wrath upon the alleged betrayer of his home, and finally he struck the colonel. The latter returned in kind. The colonel then proceeded to the sample room of the Northern, whither Dr. Bathurst followed, called him a brute, accused him of having seduced his wife, an unprotected woman, and again threatened him with arrest. The same night he swore out a warrant against Ray on the charge of criminally assaulting Louise Rose Bathurst. The warrant was executed by Constable Nichols and Col. Ray was placed under arrest.

Before the Magistrate.

The preliminary examination took place before Police Magistrate W. Dobie, associated with two local justices. District Attorney Lewis appeared for the prosecution. R. Clute of Belleville, who obtained a local reputation in June when he conducted the prosecution of Mrs. Carrothers, charged with the murder of her husband in the Rainy River district, had been engaged for the defence, associated with Mr. W. R. Cameron and James Gorman. Owing to the nature of the case the "vulgar herds" were not allowed admission to the hearing.

Mrs. Bathurst told her story virtually as detailed above. She was cross-examined at great length by Mr. Clute. It came out that her house was not located in a sparsely settled district; that a Mrs. Squier, with whom she was acquainted, resided 12 feet to the east and Mrs. Ashforth, another neighbor, 12 feet to the west, while the police station was 30 feet distant. She did not notice whether the windows of the houses in the neighborhood were open, neither did she observe whether or not there was any person in the police station. After the alleged assault she proceeded past one of these houses and the police station to the Northern Hotel before acquainting any person with the facts. It also transpired that although her husband returned from Gunflint Lake in the afternoon she accompanied him to their house, returned with him to the Northern Hotel to dinner and did not unbosom herself of the foul crime of which she had been the unwilling victim until after tea when they went upstairs in the hotel. She said that in making the appointment to meet the Colonel at her house during her husband's absence it did not occur to her that there was any harm in her going to her house with any one for whom she had any respect. When asked if the reason for not keeping her appointment on the previous Tuesday evening was owing to the fact that it rained, she replied, "No, that was not the reason. I forgot about it." It will be recollected that she said that the assault took place in the hall after she had unlocked the door and invited the colonel to step inside. The parlor and dining room doors were open, and thus there were two open doors leading into a room, in which there were three open windows.

This deposition was signed by Mrs. Bathurst. The report which was telegraphed that Col. Ray had signed a check for $5000 to settle the affair may be correct, but if it is it is strange that evidence to that effect was not given when he was arraigned.

There was very little other testimony taken.

Arthur L. McEwen, a mining engineer, stated that Col. Ray had admitted to him that he had been indiscreet.

P. S. Wylie, the proprietor of the Northern Hotel, to whom Mrs. Bathurst first told her story, corroborated her evidence in respect to calling him out and laying the facts of the case before him. He also had a talk with Col. Ray, when the latter expressed the hope that the matter would be arranged. Mr. Wylie modified this statement, however, by saying that the suggestion came more from himself than from Col. Ray. From what the Colonel remarked he gathered that the latter thought that an apology would settle the whole matter.

Dr. Bathurst, the husband of the plaintiff, detailed the circumstances under which his wife acquainted him with the facts, and also stated that she fainted very easily during a fright, being of a very nervous disposition. Her fainting spells last from 5 to 20 minutes. While suffering from the fright she is reader-ed speechless. On this evidence Col. Ray was committed for trial and bailed to appear at the next assizes. As in Thunder Bay District all criminal cases are prosecuted by the Attorney-General's department direct, the provincial authorities will consequently have charge of the prosecution, when it comes off.

The defence, of course, has not been gone into, but it is understood that Col. Ray denies that he was other than indiscreet and that Mrs. Bathurst's conjectures as to what occurred after she fainted are merely the creatures of her imagination.

BLAKE AT NEWCASTLE.

Tyneside's Have an Eloquent Address on Home Rule.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Edward Blake last night addressed an enormous gathering of Gladstonians in Newcastle. He spoke just over an hour. Home Rule, he said, was the capital question for the present Parliament. It was 12 years since he first pronounced publicly in favor of Home Rule. Long as he had been a friend to Home Rule, he had been for a much longer period in British politics a Liberal and a Radical. He abhorred the despotism of the majority over the minority. One thing more detestable than that even was the despotism of the minority over a majority which was kept down by external force. He believed that the British democracy would never agree to set its heel upon the neck of the Irish masses. Home Rule was not disunion, but union in the truest sense. He appealed, and appealed earnestly, to the constituency to return John Morley at the forthcoming election.

The Silver Question.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—In an editorial on the silver question The Standard says: The day is approaching when America will discover that it is easier to become possessed of a debased form of money than to get quit of it. By a lucky fluke or a great sacrifice she may surmount the danger, but it is otherwise with India, and we are astonished that Indian statesmen have not sooner awakened to the necessity of checking the mischief. Whatever is done, however, we must avoid grasping at nostrums, although overhaul and reductions of home charges would do more to relieve India and give her time to recuperate than all other suggested remedies. The stoppage of the coinage of silver in Indian mints would not pay India's debts abroad, but might smash trade with the Straits settlements, China and Japan, while the adoption of a gold standard would not be beneficial, being only to curtail exports.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 17.—The total number of new cases of cholera reported in Russia yesterday was 7699. The total number of deaths from the epidemic were 3906. PARIS, Aug. 17.—Four thousand cab drivers struck yesterday.

WYNDHAM'S DOINGS.

He Marries a Woman in Montreal and Deserts Her.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—The effects of the notorious Captain Wyndham, who disappeared mysteriously from this city several months ago, and who was reported to have committed suicide at Niagara Falls, were sold by auction here to-day. The Captain came to Montreal as a fellow-passenger of Lydia Rogers Carlyle, then engaged for the position of matron in the Maternity Hospital. The result of the acquaintance on board ship was their marriage soon after their arrival here at the Church of St. John the Evangelist. Then they disappeared from Montreal under somewhat of a cloud. A valuable gold watch entrusted to Miss Carlyle's care by one of the patients in the maternity disappeared at the same time and Capt. Wyndham neglected the formality of paying his bill at the St. Lawrence Hall.

The next heard of Capt. Wyndham was a press dispatch from Buffalo, stating that he had committed suicide by throwing himself over Niagara Falls. His waistcoat, found near the bridge, was the principal evidence of his rash act. But this was soon after discovered to be a clever ruse on the captain's part. Instead of going over the Falls he sailed to England, deserting his new love for some old one. This was confirmed by a letter recently received in Montreal from the unfortunate lady whom he married in this city. In this letter she said she had been deserted by Wyndham and was now endeavoring to obtain employment in some of the western hospitals. Another discovery made was that the captain's real name was J. H. Windrum, and not Wyndham, as signed in the marriage record of St. John the Evangelist. This fact was brought out by a letter addressed by an interested Montreal gentleman to the English Horseguards stating the facts of his marriage here and inquiring as to his antecedents. The answer received was to the effect that no one of that name had been an officer there, but that there was a Capt. J. H. Windrum in the Enniskillen Fusiliers, who left England in February last, leaving a wife behind him.

The Fall River Murders.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 17.—The most important subject of talk in town last evening was that relating to the prospects for securing an impartial preliminary hearing for Miss Lizzie Borden next Monday. The point raised by Counsel Jennings has started a discussion.

The Daily News puts the matter in the best light as follows. There is a very general opinion of the lawyers and citizens that Judge Blaisdell should not preside over the preliminary examination on Monday next.

This is urged on the ground only that having heard the Government's side of the case in its strongest light, he must be prejudiced in forming his opinion, in fact, in consenting to a warrant, he has already made his opinion public.

The body was recovered within a radius of about two miles of the scene of the accident and three were found a mile south near the head of the bay and 2 more east near Oxenden. The bodies were well-preserved considering the time they had been in the water.

BRITAIN'S NEW MINISTRY

IT IS NOT POPULAR WITH THE RADICALS.

Earl Rosebery Will Hold the Position of Foreign Secretary—The Appointment of Baron Houghton as Viceroy of Ireland Causes Surprise.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The new Government officially announced last evening is as follows: Mr. Gladstone, Lord Privy Seal and First Lord of the Treasury; Earl Rosebery, Foreign Secretary. Baron Herschell, Lord Chancellor; Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Herbert Asquith, Home Secretary; the Right Hon. Henry H. Fowler, President of the Local Government Board; the Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War; Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty; the Right Hon. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland; the Right Hon. A. J. Mundella, President of the Board of Trade; Sir Charles Russell, Attorney Gen.; John Rigby, Solicitor-Gen.; the Right Hon. Samuel Walker, Lord Chancellor of Ireland; Mr. Melbernott, Attorney-General for Ireland; the Right Hon. Edward P. C. Marjoribanks, Patronage Secretary to the Treasury; Alexander Asher, Solicitor-General for Scotland; the Right Honorable J. B. Balfour, Lord Advocate of Scotland; the Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India and Vice-President of the Council. The Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies; Sir George O. Trevelyan, Secretary for Scotland; Mr. Arnold Morley, Postmaster-General; Mr. Arthur Herbert Dyke Acland, Vice-President of the Council on Education; Baron Houghton Viceroy of Ireland without a seat in the Cabinet.

The announcement of the appointment of Baron Houghton to the position of Viceroy of Ireland was so incredible that the representative of the Associated Press made inquiries about it, when he found that the appointment had been made as announced.

Baron Houghton is a lifelong protege of Mr. Gladstone's. He is likely to spend much beyond his whole official income in lavish entertainments. Still, everybody questions the wisdom of putting an unknown and untried young man of 34 years in the highest post in Ireland, though only as a figure-head. The informant of the Associated Press representative predicts that Baron Houghton will soon gain popularity among the Irish, that he will not interfere in politics, but will support Irish sports, keep an open table and win good will.

Crowds Cheer the Premier.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Despite the falling rain a large crowd waited for hours to receive Mr. Gladstone in the vicinity of Sthart Rendle's house in Carleton Gardens, where Mr. Gladstone is stopping until he takes up his official residence in Downing-street. When he drove to the house the crowd cheered him. He smilingly bowed his thanks for the reception. After the lapse of a brief interval he emerged again, accompanied by his wife and daughter. The party were driven to Kensington to attend a wedding. Upon his return Mr. Gladstone met the members of the new ministry and a conference took place.

Radicals Amazed And Angered.

LONDON, Aug. 17—The composition of the new Government causes intense disappointment among the radicals. Not a single man, except John Morley prominently identified with the Radicals has been appointed a cabinet minister and among the ex-cabinet posts few members, of the new set have any but the remotest chance of getting a place. The old set are masters of the situation and representatives of old Whig families and Liberal mediocrity having aristocratic connections and never associated with extreme views have been Mr. Gladstone's exclusive choice. Even Mr. Stansfeld, who, in the latest Gladstone cabinet represented democratic opinion, has been shelved.

The official list when scanned to-night at the National Liberal Club awoke vehement protests. Was it for this undiluted list of old men associated with the traditions of Whiggery, from the territorial and aristocratic class, that Radicals had given their money and their time?

Apart from Radical opinion the Cabinet is really composed of eminently reputable men. Mr. Gladstone has preferred collecting around him tried colleagues accustomed to subordination and certain not to deviate into strange ways. His three new Cabinet Ministers—Asquith, Arnold Morley and Acland—are sound Liberals.

Baron Houghton's appointment as Viceroy of Ireland amazed even Mr. Gladstone's intimate friends. When an inkling of the appointment reached Dublin this morning it was held to be without foundation until the appointment was officially announced.

Rosebery's Firm Stand.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The chief point of difference between Mr. Gladstone and Lord Rosebery is on the question of the policy to be pursued regarding Egypt. Mr. Gladstone has favored evacuation by the British power. Lord Rosebery considers the retention of Egypt indispensable to the security of Great Britain's possessions in the east, and he is rather inclined to strengthen than weaken the hold upon that country. It is remembered that when Mr. Gladstone was last in office he did not interfere with the policy of his predecessors regarding Egypt. Before being called to the Ministry he had expressed his intention of abandoning action in that direction, but nevertheless he ordered the bombarding of Alexandria and opened the way for British occupation. Any departure from the same policy now would weaken him before the country. Lord Rosebery in the Ministry is a guarantee that the regeneration of Egypt will not be interfered with.

The Crowd Cries "Bravo."

BONDON, Aug. 17.—Mr. Gladstone, who Monday visited the Queen at Osborne House, returned to London yesterday. He is in excellent health. The enthusiasm manifested yesterday at various points along the route of Mr. Gladstone's journey was repeated to-day. Everywhere, particularly at Southampton and the Waterloo Station, he was surrounded by a good-natured crowd, who heartily cheered him and then greeted him with cries of "Bravo William," "Drop it into them, old man," etc.

Holloway's Pills.

The greatest wonder of modern times. They correct bile, prevent flatulency, cleanse the liver and purify the system, renovate the debilitated, strengthen the stomach, increase the appetite, invigorate the nerves, promote health and reinstate the weak to manhood feeling never before experienced. The sale of these pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, convincing the most skeptical that there is no medicine equal to Holloway's Pills for removing the complaints which are incidental to the human race. They are indeed a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to those who suffer from disorder, internal or external. Thousands of persons have testified that by their use alone they have been restored to health after other remedies had proved unsuccessful.

Holy Orders Will Be Shown.

KINGWOOD, West Va., Aug. 17.—The excitement throughout Preston county over the depredations of the Codley gang of Pennsylvania outlaws, has not been equalled since the war. The people are everywhere arming themselves for protection and in hope of capturing the outlaws. Yesterday the shop of merchant Elliott, Brucetown, was raided by the gang in the boldest manner. Goods to the value of nearly $1,000 were carried off. A number of other like depredations are reported. The sheriff is out with a large armed posse and scores of citizens are standing guard on the roads or over stores, flocks and barns. If the outlaws are captured the entire gang will be lynched or shot to death without mercy.

Disfigured for Life.

NIANTIC, Conn., Aug. 17.—The annual encampment of the state troops is now in full swing. It is Gen. Haven's first year as a general. There are three new colonels, and one third of the brigade is composed of newly entered men. In the guard mount skirmishing practice, yesterday, fourteen men got their faces full of gun powder, one lost an ear, another was injured in the eyes. The engagement was between the fourth regiment, Col. Frost, and the third regiment, Col. Tyler. Lt. Avery, of the machine gun, when captured, drew his sword and cut open the coat of his captor. Some of the injured will be disfigured for life.

AN AWFUL SCENE.

Something Went Wrong at a Cremation in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—An awful scene was witnessed during the cremation of the body of Percy Rockwell, politician, at Freshmond, L. I., cemetery. When the funeral party reached Freshmond and the body had been prepared for cremation, the oven was opened and the attendants prepared to place the body over the coals. The high table, with the body upon it, was rolled before the oven, which had been heated to a white heat. The men on either side made ready to roll the cradle into the oven head foremost.

The door of the oven was thrown open and the cradle pushed forward. Then a hitch occurred. One of the attendants, alarmed by the intense heat, hesitated, and the cradle was turned sidewise and stopped partly inside and partly without the oven door. The long tongues of flame licked up the shroud in which the body was wrapped and ignited the flesh. They reached the face and played about the dead man's hair. The women present screamed and sobbed, unable to control themselves, and the men shuddered with a sense of the horror of the spectacle.

When the superintendent succeeded in correcting the error, burning himself in doing so, the cradle was shoved entirely within the oven, and the iron doors were closed. The superintendent said the weight of the body, nearly 300 pounds, caused the accident.

Some Fine Samples.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 16.—The weather in Manitoba continues almost unbearably hot and is ripening the crop with great rapidity. Harvesting has commenced at a large number of points throughout the province, but will not become general all over until the end of the week. No reports of damage by hail or frost have been received from any grain-growing district, and the wheat still promises a fair yield and exceptionally good quality. With favorable weather harvesting will not be the laborious task it was last year, the straw being shorter, and in consequence farmers will probably be able to have their grain in the stack before the usual September wet weather begins. Reports from Southern Manitoba indicate a favorable condition of crop. Many fields are ripe and well headed, the grain promising to be unusually plump and heavy. From samples of wheat lately collected at different point, it is shown that berries are hard, firm and plump. One sample is from a farm in township 51, range 25, near Lauder, on the Souris branch, taken from a large field on the 10th inst. Another is from a field near Najurka with one thousand acres in sight, and the third from a point near Melita. All the samples were gathered between the 10th and 12th inst., and the general opinion held by farmers in these districts is that harvesting will be general to-day.

Barrowsmith Happenings.

BARROWSMITH, Aug 16.—Much sorrow is felt at the death of Dr. Henderson. Several from this place attended his funeral. The heavy wind storm last week moved the frame of the new palace over three inches out of place; workmen put it right again. Presbyterian Sabbath school opened last Sabbath. Prof. Nicholson occupied the pulpit. It was Mr. Freeborn who conducted the English church service on the 7th inst., not Rev. Mr. Cooper as stated in error. J. S. Gallagher shipped a carload of hogs on Saturday. As the farmers delivered them here it made quite a stir. John Stewart sold a large drove of cattle to Mr. Reid, butcher, Kingston. Mrs. R. Hamilton is home from her daughter's. Miss Addie Lyons has returned from Kingston. Miss Lucy Dowker has gone to Kingston. Thos. Dowker has gone to Watertown. George Griffith will spend his holidays at his sister's, Mrs. F. Kennedy, Tichborne. Visitors: Mrs. Cormack and little boy, also Miss Chambers at S. F. Stewart's; Miss Martin at Mrs. Dunham's; Miss Robinson at the Albion hotel. School opened on Monday.

Doyle in a Dilemma.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—William Doyle, an infirm old man, eighty-three years old, arrived in this city about five weeks ago from the Sisters' hospital, Buffalo. His mission was to find O'Donovan Rossa to donate $50 towards the burning up of England. He gave a guide $5 to take him to the editor of the United Irishman who told him in all candor that the old cause was dead and that if he insisted on donating the money it would only be taken in return for a life subscription. Doyle gave him the $50. Rossa took the man to his home. Now Doyle claims that Rossa obtained $110 from him by false pretences and has retained council. It appears from the reports of the housekeeper, with whom he subsequently boarded, that Doyle's mind is unbalanced. He was most lavish with his money and was such a nuisance that she soon told him to vacate. From the hospital in Buffalo it is learned that they will not have him there as he got drunk and violated the rules.

Two Big Prize Fights.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 17.—The fight between Dickson and Skelly is assuming the second place in the coming contest in the matter of importance. The southern people have long wanted to see Dickson, not only because he is known to be a good fighter in his class, but to give him a chance to get out of his head the absurd idea that he has been represented to have done injustice to colored fighters. The Sullivan-Corbett fight is, of course, what the Olympics consider the great attraction and the sale of seats for the battle is an evidence that they are correct. There are not more than a dozen boxes and two hundred reserved seats unsold. The general admission seats have not been put on sale but they believe that every one of them will be sold. The club is going to give away some very handsome souvenirs to patrons on the night of the battle. There will be lithograph pictures of the club building, the arena and the fighters.

No Mercy Will be Shown.

KINGWOOD, West Va., Aug. 17.—The excitement throughout Preston county over the depredations of the Codley gang of Pennsylvania outlaws, has not been equalled since the war. The people are everywhere arming themselves for protection and in hope of capturing the outlaws. Yesterday the shop of merchant Elliott, Brucetown, was raided by the gang in the boldest manner. Goods to the value of nearly $1,000 were carried off. A number of other like depredations are reported. The sheriff is out with a large armed posse and scores of citizens are standing guard on the roads or over stores, flocks and barns. If the outlaws are captured the entire gang will be lynched or shot to death without mercy.

THE BOOTHISM SHADOW.

THE TORONTO PEOPLE FEAR THE ARMY WILL NOT LAST.

An Agent Killed on a Street Car—His Head Was Almost Torn Off—The Bodies of Several Drowned Men Reach the City—A Man Murdered.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Since Mr. Booth's arrival here there has been quite a commotion in the Salvation Army. A number of officers have been removed and the complaint is that Boothism overshadows everything. The amount of money the Booth family has taken out of Canada in contributions from the Army must have been enormous, and it was to increase the contributions, which have fallen off, that General Booth's son was sent here to take charge. If he follow his present methods the Army here will not last long.

George M. Bligh, sales agent for P. D. Dodds & Co., Montreal, was run over and killed by a street car yesterday.

The deceased was 30 years of age and lived with his wife and child at 365 Crawford-street. At 12.40 he was standing in front of the Palmer House waiting for a car, as he was going home to lunch.

As car No. 46 on the Danforth route turned the corner of York-street, and Bligh ran to the front of the car and grasped the dashboard handle with his left hand. John Loobey, the driver of the car, was making change for a passenger and turned just in time to see the unfortunate man swing around and fall in front of the car. Loobey tried to grasp Bligh, but failed and immediately applied the brake.

When the car was stopped Mr. Bligh was found lying beside the track, with the top of his head almost torn off, the wheels having passed over it.

The dead man's father-in-law took charge of the body. The funeral will probably take place this afternoon.

The remains of Percy Howell, the Upper Canada College pupil drowned in Lake Rosseau Monday, were interred yesterday afternoon from the residence of his uncle, Mr. Henry S. Scott.

The body arrived in the city on the morning train and the funeral took place at 4 p.m. A number of deceased's fellow-pupils were present and there were several beautiful floral offerings. Rev. Cecil C. Owen officiated at the house and at the grave. The interment took place in St. James' Cemetery.

The body of Henry Lloyd Broughall, one of the young men who were drowned at Port Credit on July 17, was found in the lake yesterday. About 12 o'clock County Constable Joseph Williams found the body about four miles east of Victoria Park and 300 yards from the shore. He secured the assistance of C. B. Baker, a camper at Victoria Park, and the body was wrapped in a sail and brought to the city in a small boat. On arriving at the morgue the dead man's brother was notified and he immediately proceeded to the morgue and claimed the body.

William Cuddy, a brother of Detective Alf Cuddy of the Toronto Police Force, was murdered in the Jackson, Mich., State Prison yesterday. The deceased was a member of the well-known contracting firm of Phillips & Cuddy, and without a moment's warning was struck several terrible blows over the head with a hammer. He sank back unconscious and died three hours later. In the meantime Henry Blackman, the murderer, a life convict, sentenced years ago of killing members of his own family in a cold-blooded manner, had been placed in a cell, where, later on, he practically confessed the deed. Cuddy ran a broom factory in the prison.

The Attorney-General's Department has sent Detective Rogers to Barrie to investigate all the circumstances connected with the recent death of Brewer Anderton, who was at first reported to have been killed by lightning in his barn, but who, it is now claimed in the district, was murdered and the barn fired in a fruitless endeavor to destroy all traces of the crime.

Edward W. Kelly, the Simcoe barrister who was arrested some days ago charged with obtaining money under false pretences in connection with the recent school teaching frauds, was up in the Police Court yesterday. He was remanded until next Tuesday, his own bail in $1000 and two sureties of $500 each being accepted.

THE BUFFALO STRIKE.

The Calling Out of the Militia Put an End to Disturbance.

BUFFALO, Aug. 17.—The backbone of the strike appears to be broken. If no further disturbance occurs to-day the railroads will have won the fight. This has been brought about by the action of Brigadier-General Peter C. Doyle, who is also general northern freight agent of the Lehigh Valley, in calling out the 74th and 65th Regiments and holding all others under his command in readiness to move at a moment's notice. It is perhaps fortunate for the Philadelphia and Reading to have a militia man of high rank in its employ. The military have stood guard since 3 o'clock yesterday all over the scene of dispute, at the William-street yards, and under the protection thus afforded the Erie and Lehigh have been enabled to move their freight trains to-day for the first time since the blockade of Sunday morning.

Fire at Weston.

WESTON, Aug. 17.—What nearly terminated in a disastrous fire occurred in
