THE TONIC THAT GIVES STRENGTH

After Acute Diseases the Blood Must be Built Up Before Recovery is Complete.

Fevers and other acute diseases like pneumonia and influenza, leave the patient weak, with thin blood and unstrung nerves. The period of convalescence is often long and trying, and years of poor health have frequently followed so brief an illness as an attack of influenza or pneumonia.

Much of this sort of misery could be avoided by taking steps to build up the blood so that it can carry to the nerves and other tissues of the body the elements they need to restore their normal functional activities. To build up the blood and restore it to its rich, health-giving vigor, no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From first to last it is their mission to improve the blood and thus restore good health and vigor.

The value of these pills in conditions described above is shown by the statement of Mrs. Rebecca O'Brien, Pembroke, Ont., who says:—"In Nov., 1923, I was stricken with pneumonia, and at the time but little hope was held out for my recovery. However, with the best of care I was able to walk about after some months. But I did not recover my strength. The doctor told me I was anaemic. My appetite was poor, I grew nervous and restless, I was deathly pale and practically gave up hope of ever being strong again. However, remembering that in my girlhood I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with decided success, I decided to try them again. By the time I had used two boxes there was no doubt the pills were helping me. Continuing their use I was soon able to attend to my household duties. I continued taking the pills, however, until I had used twelve boxes, by which time I was enjoying better health than at any time in the previous ten years. In gratitude for what the pills have done for me, I give this statement in the hope that it may point the way to health to some other weak, despondent woman."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An Unusual Will

In providing bequests for scholarships so that young persons of limited means may be assisted to go to college Judge Gary's will is not unusual. This provision testifies to the esteem in which higher education was held by a man whose judgment of practical values was unquestioned. It is a sharp rebuke to men who like to think of themselves as hard-headed and who labor under the delusion that they show that quality by voicing contempt for colleg and university training.

Judge Gary's will is unusual, however, in that it contains a paragraph of advice regarding the use of money. The paragraph consists of four warnings:

(1) A warning against signing any bonds or obligations of any kind as surety for anybody;

(2) A warning against anticipating one's income "in any respect";

(3) A warning against making any loans except on the basis of first-class, well-known securities; and

(4) A warning against investing in any untried or doubtful securities or property or enterprise or business.

The fourth warning to his heirs Judge Gary, emphasizes, by adding: "They will be approached frequently with suggestions to be relied upon from a business standpoint."

It would be of melancholy interest to know how many substantial inheritances have been dissipated in whole or in large part by failure to observe these sound principles. Judge Gary's heirs may or may not need the admonitions he leaves them, but for many a beneficiary such warnings might have proved more valuable than the bequest itself. They might well be incorporated in any will.

MADE HER BABY PLUMP AND WELL

Nothing makes a mother more grateful than a benefit conferred upon her child. Mothers everywhere who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their children speak in enthusiastic terms of them. For instance, Mrs. Zepterin Lavoie, Three Rivers, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones. They never fail to regulate the baby's stomach and bowels, and make him plump and well. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all mothers to do likewise." Most of the ordinary ailments of childhood arise in the stomach and bowels, and can be quickly banished by Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets relieve constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers, expel worms, allay teething pains and promote healthful sleep. They are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs and are safe even for the youngest and most delicate child. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MAKING CANADA'S MUSICAL HISTORY

So great was the interest evidenced in the Scottish Musical Festival organized as part of the Highland Gathering for Banff, early in September, that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company arranged with the Alberta Government Telephones to instal the amplifiers of the public address system that were used at the Dominion Jubilee broadcast, so that the evening concerts were heard not only in the ballroom of the Banff Springs Hotel, where the Festival was staged, but also in the lounges and on the terrace.

The Festival was the second outstanding musical event of an unusual nature that has taken place in Canada. The first was the Canadian Folk Song and Handicraft Festival staged at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, in May, which was regarded as unique in the annals of Canadian music. Reviving old-time songs and homey customs of the earlier settlers of this country has caught the public fancy. Scots played an important part in building up the Dominion and the names of many sturdy settlers who came here in the early days are foremost in the list of noted explorers, fur traders and participants in many daring projects that ultimately have helped in no small way to help the Dominion towards the prosperity she now enjoys.

A SPLENDID EFFORT

Government Caps a Notable Year With a Notable Publication

The Dominion Government has just published "The Canadian Mother's Book," written by Dr. Helen MacMurchy, chief of the Division of Child Welfare of the Department of Health at Ottawa. The foreward—"The greatest gift is a child, and the greatest honor is to be a mother," and the introduction—"This book has been written for you—a Canadian mother. The Government of Canada knowing that the nation is made of homes, and that the homes are made by the father and mother, recognizes you as one of the Makers of Canada. No National Service is greater or better than the work of the Mother in her Own Home. The Mother is the First Servant of the State."—These tell the story.

Simply Told

Dr. MacMurchy is to be congratulated upon the simplicity and clearness of the language with which she tells her story of how to care for young Canadians. Dr. MacMurchy used to be teacher of Literature in the Old Grammar School or Jarvis Collegiate Institute in Toronto and well does the reviewer remember how colloquialisms and Popular expressions were frowned upon by the Doctor when she endeavored to teach him the rudiments of the English language. The Doctor, a master of English, has worded her book in the simplest manner possible and where popular expressions carried her thought most forcefully she has used such expressions until the result is absolutely clear, readable, and understandable by anyone who can read words of two syllables.

To stress the important points Dr. MacMurchy has resorted to repetetion so that any one seriously wanting to benefit by her instruction cannot possibly fail to have her truths driven home. She has written, for the good of the great mass of Canadian women in average circumstances. Her simple, direct and intimate language proves her as great a master of English as of physcology.

A New Era

The old time method of "rocking the baby," picking up the darling," "cuddling the little pet" is past and Dr. MacMurchy has stressed the point so often forgotten that the first year of a baby's life is made up of sleep, food and bath. The reviewer's personal experience, arrived at through watching and helping his better half raise a fair sized family fully confirms the Doctor's methods.

Free For The Asking

The publishing of the Canadian Mother's Book is without doubt one of the most notable events marking Canada's Jubilee Year and every mother, prospective and expectant, should have this most excellent publication which will be mailed free by simply writing and asking for it to the Department of Health, Ottawa, Canada.

Advice to Doctors

Being a mere newspaper man the reviewer hesitates to offer advice to the medicial profession but as the father of a successfully raised family who has been through the experience he does not hesitate to say that every doctor in city or country should keep a supply of these little books on hand and give one to every wife and mother. We congratulate the government on their Chief of the Division of Child Welfare and we congratulate Dr. MacMurchy on such a noteworthy achievement.

The "Immortals" and Their Ages

Strictly speaking, those who are immortal have no age. Nevertheless, the Immortals of the French Academy are still menable to the calendar, though some of them seem to defy its limitations. The Forty are, in fact, a venerable company. One of the latest members, M. Paul Valery, is remarked upon for his youth, though he is past 56, and the only younger man is Robert de Flers, who is 55.

The Dean of the Immortals, though he has never formally taken his seat among them, is Clemenceau, who is 86. But he is not the only octogenarian, for Jules Chamben is 82 and Pierre de la Gorce is 81. Georges de Porto-Riche and Albert Besnard are 78; Marshal Foch is 76; Paul Bourget and "Papa" Joffre are 75 a year older than Rene Bazin and Gabriel Hanotaux, while Franco's de Curel and Marshal Lyautey are 73. Camille Picard is 71, and the roll of septuagenarians is completed by Charles C. A. Jonart, 70.

There follow Eugene Brieux, who is 69; Monsignor Baudrillard, Henri Bergson, Pierre de Nolhac, Maurice Donnay, Henri Emile Lavedan and Camille Jullian, who are 68; Rene Doumic and Raymond Poincare, who are 67; Louis Barthou, Marcel Prevost and Edouard Estaunie, who are 65; Mme. Henri-Robert is 64; Louis Chevrillon, Joseph Bedier and Henri de Regnier are 63. The Abbe Bremond, 62, completes the list of sexagenarians. The Duc de la Force, Georges Goyau and Henry Bordeaux are under 60.

Dr. George A. Gordon recalls a sermon of his in which he said he "was inclined to think that Christians were sometimes among the most foolish people that the Almighty ever made." The mother of a family who heard it, in repeating at the dinner table "this wild utterance of the minister," was greeted with the outcry from her young son: "Mother, dear, that was most untactful of Dr. Gordon; there might have been a Christian in the congregation!"—From the Outlook.

New Anaesthetic

New Gas Brings Sleep that Suspends all Sense of Pain

At the last meeting of the Berlin Medical Society Professor Unger described his experience with the new narcotic gas technically known as E. 107. Up to the present it has been customary to use either ether or chloroform to produce unconsciousness in surgical cases. Gauss recently introduced another means, a purified acetylene, but for various reasons gas entitled narkylen, made of purifits use has not become general.

It was not any danger connected with the use of ether or chloroform that induced the attempt to produce E. 107, but the discomfort connected with their use. Many sick people are unpleasantly affected by ether or chloroform; the feel of the mask, the choking sensation, the knowledge that they are being put to sleep by force, combine to make them nervous. On awakening they are plagued by thirst.

E. 107 does not have to be breathed in. It is applied by means of a syringe and works from the intestines. In eight to fifteen minutes the patient falls into a natural sleep, lasting for several hours, and feels no after effects on awakening. It is a sleep of unconsciousness, during which no pain can be felt and muscles are relaxed. The drug has no effect upon the heart, but sometimes affects the breathing.

Other physicians related their experiences to the society. About a thousand cases of operations with E. 107 were reported, but the medical profession does not consider it possible to form a definite opinion as to the value of the drug until far more evidence has been collected. For the present the use of E. 107 therefore has been confined to a few great surgical stations for continued experiments.

Minard's Liniment relieves backache

Sir W. W. Wynn, talking to a friend about the antiquity of his family, which he carried up to Noah, was told that he was a mere mushroom. "Ay," said he, "how so, pray?" "Why," replied the other, "when I was in Wales, the pedigree of a particular family was shown to me; it filled up above five large skins of parchment, and about the middle of it was a note in the margin, 'About this time the world was created.'"

"I don't need and speedometer on my car. I can easily tell the speed," said the one. "How do you do that?" asked the other. "When I go ten miles an hour, my lamps rattle; when I go fifteen miles an hour, my mudguards rattle; and at twenty miles an hour my bones rattle."

Letter Tells of Wonderful Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Coniston, Ontario.—"After a severe operation and a three weeks' stay in a hospital I returned home so weak that I was unable to move a chair. For four months I was almost frantic with pains and suffering until I thought sure there could not be any help for me. I had very severe pains in my left side and suffered agony every month. One day when I was not able to get up my mother begged me to try your medicine. My husband got me a bottle of Vegetable Compound at once and I took it. I started a second bottle, and to my surprise and joy the pains in my side left me completely and I am able to do all my work without help. I am a farmer's wife, so you see I can't be idle long. In all, I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of the Compound Tablets, two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and have also used the Sanative Wash."—Mrs. L. LAJEUNESSE, Box 103, Coniston, Ontario.
