IRISH POLITICAL NEWS.

REDMOND DENOUNCES PRIESTLY INTERFERENCE.

Michael Davitt Arrives to Curb to Assist the McCarthyite Candidate—The Fire at Sandringham Hall—General Foreign News.

CORK, Nov. 3.—Mr. Redmond, in a speech yesterday, denounced the extensive intimidation of the people by the priests. He also demanded that Mr. O'Brien publish the Boulogne documents in full.

Michael Davitt was received on his arrival here yesterday with mingled cheers and hisses. He was met at the steamer by Messrs. O'Brien, Flynn and Tanner and was driven to a hotel. In an address to anti-Parnellites he said that his life-long service to Ireland justified his interference in the present contest and that Cork would not be true to itself unless it gave a verdict against the Parnellites.

Dozens of broken heads are being mended at the hospitals, though no more serious results of Monday's hostilities are reported.

A noticeable feature of yesterday was the absence of political harangues from the Catholic pulpits. Scarcely a priest referred to the campaign. It was stated that this was due to the intervention of Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon, who urged the priests to drop politics from their exhortations.

William Redmond announced at a meeting yesterday that he had challenged Dr. Tanner to fight, but that the doctor had declined.

A wreath from the grave of her son has been sent to Parnell's mother.

Mrs. Parnell is much weaker.

Dillon Not a Favorite.

DUBLIN, Nov. 3.—The Municipal Council of Drogheda, by a majority of two, has rejected a motion to present an address to John Dillon.

At a meeting of the Municipal Council of Waterford to-day the Mayor of Waterford refused to put a motion that the council present an address to Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien.

Parnellites Accused of Cowardice.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—In an address at Longford yesterday Timothy Healy was more vituperative than ever. He accused the Parnellites of cowardice. The Parnellites, he said, talked of English dictation and resorted to dynamite. Healy imputed to the Parnellites the dynamite explosion in Glasgow some time ago.

Dillon Scared Out of Kilkenny.

KILKENNY, Nov. 3.—Some serious rioting occurred yesterday between the Parnellites and the McCarthyites at Callan and several people, including one police constable, were hurt. John Dillon spoke at the Callan meeting, but he received a hostile reception in Kilkenny, so that he did not return in the evening.

PERISHED IN A HOTEL FIRE.

Two Firemen Lose Their Lives in Trying to Rescue Three Minstrels.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—At Bergedorf, a suburb of Hamburg, the Hotel Schwerin was burned last night and five lives were lost. Many inmates had narrow escapes, and owing to the construction of the building and the rapidity with which the flames spread the firemen's work was full of danger.

Some negro minstrels who had been playing in Hamburg were lodged in the upper story. Three found escape shut off. Two brave firemen volunteered in the face of almost certain death to go to their assistance.

Just as the two rescuers reached the floor upon which the three minstrels were hemmed in by flames the building collapsed, and all five were plunged into the blazing mass and perished.

Attacked on a Train.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—A man sleeping on a train running between Paris and Havre was attacked last night by another man, who tried to chloroform and then to shoot him. In the struggle that ensued the man who was attacked caught the cord of the alarm bell, stopped the train and his assailant was arrested. The latter said he was Carolo Boulavard, a trader of Buenos Ayres, but he refused to answer any further questions. It is surmised that he meant murder and robbery.

Collided in the Elbe.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The steamer Inchborva, which recently arrived at Hamburg from Baltimore, and the steamer Northgate, which sailed from Ibrail Oct. 9 for Hamburg, were in collision to-day in the River Elbe. The Northgate's bows were stove in and the damages she received were so extensive that her captain was forced to run her ashore to prevent her from foundering in the river. The Inchborva's bows were also damaged.

Emin Pasha Again.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—A letter dated April 20 has been received from Emin Pasha. In it the explorer said he was upon the point of starting to visit the King of Ruhranda, a territory hitherto unexplored by European or Arab. Emin did not mention any design to go to Wadelai. His project at that writing appeared to be to march westward from Ruhranda and to cross the continent to the Cameroons.

Not So Bad as Reported.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—A despatch from Yokohama says that according to an official estimate 4000 persons were killed by the recent earthquake, 5000 were injured and 50,000 houses were destroyed. No Europeans were killed.

KILLED BY SAVAGES.

Three Missionaries, Two Sailors and a Trader Murdered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Sydney advices state that the English ship Lord of the Isles had arrived there with important news from the South seas. Reports reached New Britain before the Lord of the Isles sailed for Sydney that three missionaries in German Guinea had been murdered by natives. Another white trader was murdered by blacks on the north coast of New Zealand. The man's name was Alexander Gunderson. He was in charge of stores. The natives made a raid on the place, killed Gunderson and set fire to the building. The magistrate at New Britain had gone to investigate the affair and punish the murderers if possible. Two of the crew of the schooner Glide were murdered by natives at New Hanover. While trading at New Hanover a boat was sent ashore, but was seized by the natives and run on a reef. All the goods on board were lost and the crew killed.

His Wife a Termagant.

CAYUGA, Ont., Nov. 2.—At the assizes to-day an action brought by Charlotte Lyons to annul her marriage, on the ground of her husband's impotence, was dismissed, medical testimony disproving the charge. The husband swore that failure to consummate the marriage contract was due to plaintiff's ill-temper.

Fifteen Cents on the Dollar.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Notwithstanding the efforts that are being made by the friends of Sam Davison, the absconding Front-street merchant, to adjust matters at the Custom House it is not likely that the form of that "Napoleon of Finance" will be seen in Toronto for some time, if ever. That this fraudulent passing of goods had been going on for a long time before being discovered is without doubt. The creditors met yesterday afternoon at 14 Colbourne-street. Assignee Bryant presented a statement showing liabilities about $33,000 and assets about $19,000. Solicitor Sedgeworth on behalf of Davison made an offer of 15 cents on the dollar, cash, payable in 30 days. This offer was accepted by those present on condition that the creditors who were not represented would come in on the same basis.

In Death Not Divided.

GUELPH, Nov. 2.—Only eight days after the death of her husband Mrs. William Read was laid to rest by the side of the one who had been her companion for nearly a quarter of a century.

A Demonstration to "Jack" Haggart.

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—It is announced that a demonstration will shortly be held in South Lanark in honor of Hon. John Haggart, Postmaster-General.

Excursions to Pacific Coast.

EDMUND YATES' LETTER.

The Queen in Excellent Health — The Prince of Wales.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—From Edmund Yates' cable letter to Tribune:

"I am enabled to state on the very highest authority that the queen has been in most excellent health throughout the autumn. Her majesty has been driving or walking every day, and although the weather has been unusually wet, cold and stormy at Deeside, yet the Queen has escaped catching even the slightest cold and has not suffered from rheumatism in the knee, which has sometimes troubled her since the accident she met with at Windsor about ten years ago. The queen has not been in better health than she is at present at any time during the last twenty years. An idea which I ventured to suggest a short time since, that the Prince of Wales would be averse to accepting an address from a common council or indeed any other public recognition of his approaching fiftieth birthday, has been realized. The reason alleged for his highness' refusal is that the event which it was proposed to celebrate is purely a domestic one, and it is easily intelligible that to such a home lover and such a stickler for the domestic virtues, the suggestion would have been unpalatable. The prince is human after all and it is curious to notice the distaste with which the approach of age is regarded by men of all sorts and conditions and the ridiculous shifts they are put to in the endeavor to conceal it even from themselves, by the combination of circumstances. His royal highness is somewhat uncomfortably handicapped and his position in life from the exposure and arbiter elegantiarum of Avery a few years ago. The transition as an elderly gentleman and grandfather seems very sudden and unexpected. To some men who have been and hope to be vivre encore, the unavoidable position of grandfather is fraught with horror and even Charles Dickens, with all his straight forward common sense, could not bear it. I hear, however, that in another quarter there is an intention of marking the prince's fiftieth birthday in every special manner. The actors and theatrical managers of London have, it—is said, subscribed one thousand pounds for a gold cigar box ornamented with the Prince of Wales plumes and monogram in diamonds, which is to be presented to his highness on Monday next. The box has been manufactured by the goldsmiths and silversmiths company and is reported to be a gem of art. For many years the prince's relation with the theatrical world have been marked with the greatest kindness and cordiality and his hearty recognition, untrammelled by offensive patronage, has next to the quiet and sensible behavior of the actors themselves been the greatest factor in ameliorating their social position and the acknowledgement of their gratitude is sure to be most welcome to the illustrious recipient. Some of the presents sent to the czarina and czar on the occasion of their silver wedding were very costly, but nothing pleased them better than a large picture representing their arrival at Copenhagen, the gift of the Danish royal guard of which the Russian emperor is an honorary colonel. The Duke of Edinburgh has never forgiven the committee of the Royal Western yacht club at Plymouth for what he regards as their lack of hospitality in putting down his name for a fortnight, instead of inviting him to use the club during the whole of his stay. The duke's displeasure has been very marked, but his brother, the Duke of Connaught, recently availed himself of the proffered fortnight and spoke highly of the comfort of the club. The members are not inclined to make any further advance to the Duke of Edinburgh as to membership. Queen Natalie of Servia intends to make Biarritz her permanent residence and has taken the villa Rubio. Four years ago this villa was one of the best residences in Biarritz and was surrounded by extensive and well timbered grounds. Natalie is reported to have manifested resentment against her son for his adherence to King Milan by making her will, by which she bequeaths estates in Russia, which are worth at least twenty thousand pounds a year, to her sister, the Princess Shica.

Sir Henry Wood has just returned from Chicago much gratified at the result of his inquiries in the prospects of the exhibition there in 1893. He says that the Chicago people are thoroughly in earnest about the fair and as they generally succeed when they are really in earnest they are certain to succeed. New Yorkers sneered for a long time but even they have had to give in. New York does not like Chicago. It is too big, too busting too self-assertive. These qualities naturally jar with the shrieking modesty of the Eastern metropolis in Chicago, everything has to be bigger than anywhere else. Hotels bigger, buildings bigger, streets bigger, parks bigger. New Yorkers say the women's feet are bigger and that there are more inches on a foot at Chicago than elsewhere, so they must have the biggest fair and they are laying out schemes accordingly their chief dangers perhaps is that of working on too large a scale, but their earnestness and vigor, and their money will carry them through and make the world's Columbian exposition more of a success than the idiotic name deserves.

Mr. Balfour is at the present time without doubt the most popular man in Scotland and this has been well shown by the council of the university of Edinburgh having unanimously elected him chancellor of the university as successor to the late Lord Pridcn. It had been expected that either Lord Rosbury or Mr. Kinnear would have been run against Mr. Balfour but their supporters deemed it the most prudent course to let Mr. Balfour be elected without opposition.

THE PITH OF THE NEWS.

The Spice of the Morning Papers and the Very Latest Telegrams.

Yesterday sharp frost appeared in England and snow fell in vicinity of Hamburg.

Report comes from Brighton that Mrs. Parnell's condition is one of such complete prostration as to make her recovery doubtful.

The Examiner (liberal), Cork, appeals to Michael Davitt to settle the unfortunate dispute which distracts the Irish national party.

On Monday rain fell in enormous quantities throughout Greece and severe snow storms were experienced in mountainous parts of the country.

As a consequence of the stick, fighting-stone battle at Cork Sunday fifty-two persons appeared at hospitals on Monday to have cuts and bruises cared for.

Seven thousand shoemakers of London, England, have been locked out and unless the matter at dispute is settled by Wednesday twenty-two thousand persons will be affected by the difficulty.

The imperial ukase, issued at St. Petersburg, prohibits henceforth exportation of cereals, except wheat, also interdicts sending out of the country potatoes, flour, malt meal and dough baked bread.

BOMBARDED BY GHOSTS.

A Kingston Experience Revived—Has a Domestic Moved East.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Spooks held high carnival at a house in Cambridge Wednesday night and completely mystified half a dozen policemen who tried to dislodge them. At 8 o'clock the boarders at the Appian house were aroused by a fusillade of stones and coal against the house, which broke the glass completely out of two front and several rear windows. The marauders they could not be found. But the missiles still flew thick and fast from unseen sources and from uncovered directions. The boarders finally gave up the hunt and called the police, Sergt. Callahan and patrolmen White, Forbush and Hixson. They were totally unable to find the depredator. They were mystified at the proceedings and could not find whence the coal and stones came. First the front of the house would be attacked, and when the police went around to the side the rear of the house would furnish the target. The neighboring yards, house tops, barns and sheds were all carefully examined, but still there was no let up to the fusilade. This programme was kept up until midnight, when the police drew off and acknowledged themselves conquered. Their failure to solve the mystery is accounted all the more remarkable in view of the moonlight evening.

News From Quebec.

QUEBEC, Nov. 2.—The North Shore mail steamer Otter reports very cold weather and a great deal of snow on the north shore. So cold was the weather that the Otter landed over 100 barrels of her cargo on the ice at Moisie. Two more cases of small-pox have declared themselves in Lorette in the same house where the first case occurred. The reported resignation of Hon. Mr. Robidoux is denied by all.

COLUMN OF CANADIAN.

BENCH WARRANTS FOR THE QUEBEC BOODLERS.

A Number of Fires in Ontario Towns—A Steamship Saved by a Woman's Wit—The Ottawa Free Press and its Necklace Story—Two Fatal Shooting Accidents.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.—Judges Bossé and Blanchet sat in the Criminal Court yesterday to hear the motion for a new trial in the case of the Queen vs. R. H. McGreevy and O. E. Murphy, found guilty of conspiracy to defraud, but as the accused did not appear the motion was not argued. Defendants were then called pro forma to receive sentence and not answering to their names bench warrants were issued for their apprehension.

The case against the Connollys, Hon. Thomas McGreevy and Mr. P. Larkin for defrauding the Harbor Commissioners of Quebec and the Government will come up in the Police Court before Magistrate O'Gara Wednesday. Mr. B. B. Osler, Q.C., and Mr. Christopher Robinson, Q.C., will have charge of the prosecution, while Mr. Stewart of Quebec will represent the Connollys, and most likely Mr. Fitzpatrick will appear for Mr. McGreevy and Mr. Hector Cameron for P. Larkin.

THEY SAW THE GHOST.

Boys Went to Burn Their Cards and Saw an Apparition.

MONCTON, N.B., Nov. 3.—Investigation into the origin of the fire in the Allen property, supposed to be of incendiary origin, was resumed last night, when some rather remarkable testimony was given by a lad named Woodworth, 15 years old. Mr. Allen, owner of the property, who lives in Shediac road, being examined said he had been in town on the night of the fire, but had not been at the barn burned that day or evening.

Woodworth, said he, with other boys, had been in the habit of playing cards in the barn, but on this night of the fire had concluded to burn the cards and quit playing. Going to the barn for this purpose, after dark, they were proceeding to burn the cards one at a time when one of the boys named Cushing sang out: "There's a ghost!" They dropped the whole pack on the floor and ran out. Shortly after they heard an alarm but, being frightened, they kept dark with reference to it, but finally resolved to own up. Woodworth was arrested.

Free Water for Toronto.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—The Waterworks Committee met yesterday afternoon, when Ald. McMurrich proposed that water be supplied free for domestic purposes and at actual cost to manufacturers. No action was taken.

A syndicate was negotiating for the acquisition of a piece of land owned by George Leslie, jr., adjoining the Island Park. Mr. Leslie, however, would not quote a value for his lease and consequently negotiations dropped. The company is desirous of getting a plot of land at Centre Island whereupon to erect amusement buildings.

The Board of Police Commissioners met yesterday afternoon. Mr. G. B. Gordon was present to prefer his complaint against Inspector Stephen for alleged indignities suffered by him on the occasion of his arrest recently as a material witness. The board will also be asked to investigate a rather peculiar case, in which a woman named Mrs. Brogan, residing in the East End, charges the paternity of her illegitimate child upon a young constable.

Death of Inspector Blight.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Mr. William Blight, whose death occurred at the family residence, 28 North-street, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, was born in Devonshire, England, in the year 1815. In 1850 Mr. Blight came to Toronto and formed a partnership with Mr. Morkill. In 1857 he went to the Western Assurance Company and subsequently to the Lancashire Fire Insurance Company, with whom he remained until his death, occupying the position of inspector. As an underwriter Mr. Blight stood high, his opinion being much sought after in all matters appertaining to fire insurance. He was a most valued member of the Toronto Board of Underwriters. In politics Mr. Blight was a Liberal. During the Gavazzi riots in Quebec and Montreal in 1849 Mr. Blight was the treasurer of the Gavazzi fund which was raised to fight for liberty of speech in those cities.

Dugald J. MacMurchy Dead.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Dugald J. MacMurchy died at the General Hospital at 1.55 this afternoon. He was the second son of Mr. Angus MacMurchy, M.A., the rector of the Toronto Collegiate Institute. He was 27 years of age and a promising lawyer. Two weeks ago, while shooting near Dunnville, Mr. MacMurchy's gun was accidently discharged. The right foot was badly shattered and the young man was brought to Toronto. The physicians at the General Hospital last Tuesday amputated part of the leg, but gangrene had set in, and death resulted as above stated.

Aberdeen Establishes a Jam Factory.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 3.—As previously telegraphed, Lord Aberdeen has purchased a large farm in Okanagan district, on which he has already spent considerable money in improving. Hon. Mr. Majoribanks, brother of the Countess of Aberdeen, came from Dakota to take the management of it, and now extensive improvements are under way or contemplated. The branch of agriculture toward which it is proposed to give most special attention on this farm is the raising of fruit, to which he thinks the soil and climate well adapted. Not only apples, pears, peaches and plums will be grown, but the smaller fruits as well, so that the land between the rows of trees may be utilized as a matter of economy. He also contemplates establishing a jam factory to aid fruit culture in that vicinity.

Accidentally Killed Himself.

CORBETTON, Grey Co., Nov. 3.—Three young men, one of whom was James Markle, got on the track of a deer and decided to separate, each going in a different direction. Not more than an hour had elapsed when the other young men heard the report of a gun. Shortly afterwards they came upon the lifeless body of the young man lying beside a log with three large buckshot wounds in his arm and two in his head. It is surmised that he was attempting to go over the log when the gun accidentally discharged.

A Sad Interruption to a Wedding.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 3.—A wedding to have taken place yesterday was indefinitely postponed owing to the receipt of a telegram from Glasgow, Scotland, announcing the death of the father, mother, brother and sister-in-law of the prospective groom, John Ritchie. The marriage feast had all been provided, the guests invited and all the arrangements made for a happy time. On receipt of the cablegram Mr. Ritchie fainted, and on being restored retained consciousness only a few minutes. He is now delirious and may not recover. The guests had not been notified of the facts of the case and as they arrived were turned away.

Big Jim Hanged Himself.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 3.—Big Jim, an Indian chief, at San Juan, hanged himself one day last week. He appears to have committed the deed in a fit of drunken insanity, for the Indians there had been on one of their prolonged drunken sprees. Jim was cut down and a state mourning held over him by the tribe. He was an old man and stood high in the ranks of his people.

Another of the Same Kind.

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—Alexander Gadbois, son of a well-known farmer of the Leone River, was traveling through a bush when his gun accidentally went off just as he was climbing over some brush and the contents lodged in his left temple. His face was terribly mutilated by the charge and a portion of the frontal bone was knocked out. The injured man only lived a few minutes.

Broke His Neck.

TORBRIDGE, Nov. 3.—Yesterday afternoon W. L. Spears, while returning home with a wagon loaded with shingles, was thrown off the load and killed instantly, his neck being broken.

REWARDS OFFERED FOR RIOTERS.

Governor Buchanan Will Give $2000 For the Leader of the Briceville Mob.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 3.—Everything was quiet at Briceville and Coal Creek yesterday. No attempt has been made to liberate the convicts at Oliver's. The guards have been reinforced at that place as well as at Tracy City and the Inman mines, but it is not believed that the stockades at these three mines will be attacked by the free miners. Governor John P. Buchanan and Eth B. Wade, Superintendent of Prisons, arrived at Knoxville at noon yesterday.

A consultation was had with Commissioner of Labor Ford, Assistant Commissioner Alleman, Attorney-General Pickel and others, after which the Governor issued a proclamation, in which he calls attention to the law holding the lessees responsible for the escape of convicts, concluding as follows: "Now, therefore, I do hereby offer a reward of $25 for the capture of each convict recently escaped from the branch prisons in Anderson county and their delivery to the warden of the main prison at Nashville, which sum shall be paid as required by law by said lessees."

The Governor also issued the following proclamation after consulting with Attorney General Pickel:

"Whereas an armed mob has overpowered the wardens and guards and set at liberty State convicts confined in the stockades in Anderson county and burned private property; now therefore I, John P. Buchanan, Governor of the State of Tennessee, by virtue of the authority vested in me by law, do hereby offer for the arrest and conviction of the leader of said mob for either of such offences a reward of $5,000 and for the arrest and conviction of each additional member of said mob a reward of $250, to be paid after final judgment in each case."

In an interview last night the Governor said he would do all in his power to bring the leaders of the mob to justice. Calling out of the militia would be useless because the mob has dispersed and everthing is quiet. He believes the offer of $5000 reward will set the officers of the law and detectives to work and secure the conviction of some of the leaders.

The miners who lingered about the scenes of their former labors were dumb to all inquiries concerning the exciting experiences of Friday night. One of them, however, told me that the convicts, who marched out promptly at the command of the miners, set fire to the stockade before leaving.

Labor Commissioner Ford and his assistant, Mr. Alleman, were at Briceville at the time of the raid. In an interview to-night they expressed fear lest the miners should do them violence if they return, they having tried to discourage the men and to dissuade them from lawlessness. Finding their efforts unavailing they went to Coal Creek to notify the Governor. Finding the wires cut they came on to Clinton and got a message through.

A number of convicts have come to Knoxville, principally "trusties," or men who expect soon to be liberated. A half-dozen, perhaps, have been arrested at different points, but the great body of convicts remain at large, causing a feeling of uneasiness throughout the section. At Clinton, the county seat of Anderson county, citizens are under arms and patrolling the town, fearing an attack from convicts.

J. C. Goodwin, one of the sub-lessees at Briceville, was asked what he intended to do and replied: "We can't do anything but saw wood and go to law about it. Half these convicts will never be captured. The miners came from all over East Tennessee, and I expect there were miners from Kentucky there also." Mr. Goodwin further said that it was announced at the miners' meeting a few nights ago that no further violence would be done, and that the guards were, of course, taken completely by surprise.

BURNED OUT HIS BRAIN.

Caught on a Live Electric Wire a Young Man Meets a Horrible Death.

PANAMA, Nov. 3.—This city has had an appalling experience of the electric wire's potent power to kill. Some boys at play detached a naked telephone wire and caused it to hang from the support to the ground, trailing over the wires of the electric light company. At about 7 p.m. a police lieutenant discovered the wire hanging to the street and commenced to haul it in and coil it about an old gaslight post. Suddenly the officer was seen to spring violently into the air and fall back unconscious. A great crowd was instantly on the scene, but were kept back by a policeman. Meanwhile a cab came driving rapidly along. The policeman shouted vigorously, "Alto! Alto!" and the crowd took up the warning cry in chorus, but all to no purpose. As if driven by fate the vehicle rushed on and right over the deadly wire. Instantly the horse reeled and plunged headlong to the ground, its flesh sizzling. The cab was not overturned and the driver sprang out and rushed to the animal's aid. Regardless of warning yells from the crowd, he grasped the trailing "string" that had upset his horse. At that instant the wire swung across his forehead, but right through the skull almost to the ears and there remained, although the unfortunate victim fell forward over the horse.

And now a frightful scene never to be forgotten by the spectators was witnessed. The electric fluid literally filled the man's head and in a moment brain and eyes had been completely incinerated. Then the flesh and skin smoked and sizzled until they also were reduced almost to ashes. All the while the sparks played about the head in an awful shower, the eyes literally glowing with a consuming fire.

It was several minutes before the electric light could be turned off, and when it was the body was found to be partially burned to ashes, the head being completely so. There were at the time between 1500 and 2000 volts going over the wires, and as the weight of the horse on the telephone wire had completely cut through the insulation, the man of course received the full blast of the current at the first contact.

MR. MAYBRICK'S INSURANCE.

The Insurance Co. Declines to Pay Over the Sum Insured.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—In the Court of Appeals the Maybrick case was commenced yesterday. Sir Charles Russell, Q.C., in opening his argument said the appeal raised a most important question. The plaintiff for whom he appeared were the executors of the late Mr. Maybrick, who had effected an insurance of $10,000 with the defendants, an insurance company, in favor of his wife, Mrs Florence E. Maybrick, now confined in Woking jail. The defendants' counsel had paid $1000 of the amount claimed, but they refused to pay the remainder. In support of this refusal he said the defendants submitted that the conviction of Mrs. Maybrick was not conclusive. Sir Charles said that on the contrary the plaintiffs submitted that the fact that the sentence was commuted was not evidence of innocence. The real question was whether Mr. Maybrick had effected a policy in favor of his wife, and whether, assuming that he died at her hands, this was any answer to the executors' claim. The ex-Attorney-General then proceeded to cite autocrities in favor of his contention.

Sir Edward Clarke, Q.C., contended, appearing for the insurance association, that the executors of Mr. Maybrick's estate were only the trustees of that property, and that they had nothing to do with the insurance, which did not belong to Mrs. Maybrick. If the trustees obtained possession of the insurance money they could not part with a penny of it without the wife's consent. He added that it would be in the highest degree unusual and contrary to public policy for a murderer to get the benefit of a murder.

The Master of the Rolls, Lord Esher, here interposed, saying he did not think much of a public policy if any insurance company can pocket annual payments without paying the insurance. After a long argument on this subject the court rose.

The Connolly Books.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.—Judge Caron Monday gave judgment in the petition of the Deputy-Minister of Justice, ordering the account books of the firm of Larkin-Connolly to be restored to the Federal Government unless the parties could agree to deposit them with the prothonotary of this district for use in case they should be required by the court.

NOVEMBER ELECTIONS

PROBABLE WINNERS IN OHIO AND NEW YORK.

Both Parties Confident of Victory. Although McKinley is the Favorite in the Buckeye and Flower in the Empire State—Prospects in Other States.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—Never since the war has a campaign been waged in the Buckeye State which has attracted so much general interest, which has been so hotly contested and which has been so exclusively devoted to national issues as the one which draws to a close last night.

The outlook is not easy to determine. The opposition to Governor Campbell in his own party was so pronounced before his nomination that Republicans had no thought of possibility of his success and they placed McKinley's majority at from 20,000 upward, but as the campaign has progressed the voice of opposition has been stifled, and its extent is less and less apparent. It remains a problem that can only be solved by election returns how far this disaffection will affect the result. So far as appearances go the fight in the state will not be seriously influenced by the people's and the prohibitionists' parties. They will probably draw from both the old parties in such a way as to give neither any great advantage.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3.—The stirring campaign in Ohio has practically been closed and the voters left to make up their minds according to the light they have obtained. From the headquarters of the Democrats it is claimed that Governor Campbell will receive a plurality of 10,000 votes. This is based on the assertion that the opposition to him in Hamilton County (Cincinnati), which was so pronounced in the beginning of the campaign, has largely melted away until now it is claimed he will carry even Hamilton County by 1000 plurality.

The chairman of the Republican State Committee claims a plurality for McKinley of 20,000. This estimate makes McKinley carry Hamilton County by 8500.

Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—The campaign just closed has been one of the most vigorous ever fought in Massachusetts. The interest manifested throughout the state and the registration indicate that the total vote will approach, if not exceed, 300,000. The Democrats are confident that Gov. Russell will be re-elected. The Republicans practically concede this.

In Iowa.

DESMOINES, Ia., Nov. 3.—The most exciting campaign in the history of Iowa politics closed last night. The three salient issues in Iowa politics this year have been the temperance question, the tariff question and the silver question.

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3.—Every elective officer in Maryland, from Governor down to and including the very least, will be voted for to-day. The election of Frank Brown (Dem.) for Governor is conceded, and the Democrats are expected to carry the Legislature.

In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 3.—Great interest is felt in the election in this state today, not because of the high offices at stake, for only a supreme judge and regents of the university are to be elected, but because it is to determine whether or not the Farmers' Alliance or Independent party is to gain political supremacy in Nebraska. In one respect Nebraska this year presents a situation without parallel in the past 30 or 40 years of the nation's history. The Democratic party is without candidates and is allowing the state to go by default. This is all the more remarkable when it is remembered that but one year ago their candidate, Boyd, was elected Governor of the state and was only deprived of his high office on the grounds of non-naturalization.

New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The election of Flower (Dem.) is claimed by Tammany by 15,000 plurality, although Fassett's friends still claim to have hopes of their candidate's success.

Fire in An Essex Village.

KINGSVILLE, Ont., Nov. 3.—Fire broke out in McKay's hardware store, Main and Division-streets, about 12.10 Sunday morning, and as there is no fire department here the flames spread quickly to the adjoining stores, all of which were one story frame structures. McKay's hardware store, Pulford's meat market, a barber shop, Andrew Wigle's shoe store, a billiard hall owned by Edward Pulford, and a bakery were all burned to the ground. The total loss on building was about $12,000; insurance $5000.

A Mount Forest Blaze.

MOUNT FOREST, Nov. 3.—Sunday evening fire broke out in the establishment of John Boos, merchant tailor. The building, which was a two-story brick, together with stock and the household furniture in the dwelling above the store, was completely destroyed. Loss about $4500, insured for $3500.

Sarnia Incendiaries Still Busy.

SARNIA, Nov. 3.—The Farmers' Exchange Hotel, owned by Joseph Ellison, was damaged Sunday by fire to the extent of probably $400. It was insured. An attempt was also made to burn an unoccupied house in Davis-street, owned by C. C. Chris. The fire was quenched. Oil was used starting the fire.
