Halifax to Vancouver

It now requires only the construction of 235 miles of highway, before Canada will have a motor road extending from Halifax to Vanvouver, entirely within the Dominion. This missing mileage is composed of four or five sections east of Winnipeg, and along the north shore of Lake Superior, according to Dr. P. E. Doolittle, of Toronto, president of the Canadian Automobile Association, in a recent interview.

Dr. Doolittle, as president of the association, makes practically an annual tour of the provinces from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He was present at the recent opening ceremonies of that section of the trans-Canadian highway that passes through the central part of the British Columbia by way of Kicking Horse pass. He described this pass as the most spectacular section of highway in America.

It is now possible, by use of an alternative route through southern British Columbia, to motor direct from Winnipeg to Vancouver, all in Canadian trritory. Dr. Doolittle said and he was looking forward to early completion of highways through those sections north of Lake Superior and east of Winnipeg, that would link compltely the East with the West in highway construction. As an instance of highway development in Canada of recent years Dr. Doolittle said that one might now motor from Montreal to Windsor, Ontario, opposit Detroit, over a complete paved road.

Hoofed it to His Home

The other day a young chap of twenty was picked up this side of Arthur and was given a free ride to Mount Forest. He was thinly clad for travel in the icy wind that was blowing—blue shirt, light sweater and trousers. Possibly a coat was in the fat parcel he was carrying, his only baggage. He had left his working clothes with his chum and had also given him a good overcoat for the chum hadn't one. He had left his home in Owen Sound three years ago and had been working in Detroit. The wages were high, but so was board and other expenses. He had been sick, lost his job, couldn't get another, though he had tried for the two weeks during which his board was paid in advance; then decided that he would strike out for his home in Owen Sound. He came from Stratford on Friday, walking some 20 miles of the distance. He was left off at Smith's garage in the hope that he would get a life for another stage of his journey. Fortunately he got a car going right to Owen Sound and that night would be pleased to be at home with his parents and would no doubt have due appreciation of Mother's Day.—Mount Forest Con-Confedeate and Rep.

KILLED A DEER

Mr. George Hogg had a very out-of-the-ordinary experience when motoring along the Provincial highway about a mile above Melancthon last Thursday evening. A deer suddenly jumped out in front of the car, and the driver could not swerve the car sufficiently to avoid hitting the animal. The blow killed the deer. Mr. Hogg brought the body to town and got in touch with the game warden, who instructed him to bury it. The question now is, was the Indian on th top of the radiator the special influence that resulted in the killing of that deer or not? —Shelburne Free Press and Economist.

Sambo—"What is de difference between a dog and a book?"

Rastus—"I don't know."

Sambo—"Well, suh, de book has its tale on the inside, while de dog has its tail on de outside."

Dig Deep for Treasure

Dig deep if you would have the richest treasures. One may wash gold dust from the shallow stream, but the coveted nugget of gold is found buried deep in the bowels of the earth. Those who would find diamonds must move mountains of earth and "full many a gem of purest ray serene the dark. unfathomed cause of ocean bear."

The profoundest beauty in a great painting, or the work of sculpture, and the rarest jewel of wisdom on the printed page will not be found on the surface. Art does not surrender its true self to those who will not "drink deep."

One may wear gold and jewels without descending to "unfathomed" caves" or burrowing underground but for the richest treasures in literature, painting, music, and sculpture one must do his own prospecting. Others may create it but the individual must discover it for himself. Art is the one absolute commonwealth. Though the common property of all, it is enjoyed by the few. Numbered among the natural resources of the earth are coal, gas, and the various minerals. Art is an artificial resource but of them all it alone is inexhaustible.

What applies in the field of art and treasure hunting is equally applicable to more workaday affairs. Deep digging pays in business, industry, labor, housekeeping, farming or study. In modern phraseology this universal truth is expressed in the counsel of the experienced to youth to "get out and dig" if it would accomplish something in life.

An old timer says there were larger families in the old days because it didn't take a specialist, two nurses and $750 to add a unit.

Good Alberta Coal

Alliston Herald: Local dealers are taking delivery of several carloads of Alberta Coal which has every appearance of being the highest grade of lignite the mines of the western province can produce. Some citizens have been using a little of it during the recent cool spell and Mr. J. J. Armstrong tells The Herald that he gets absolute satisfaction from it. By preventing the draughts from going through it fiercely and letting the flame come through gradually the fire can be retained for many hours and hot air is coming though the registers all the time. Dr. D. L. Fee, who used nothing else during the years he lived in Edmonton, is decidedly prejudiced in favor of Alberta fuel and will accept nothing else when he can get it. One of the appealing features of this coal is the small quantity of ash that comes from it and there is not a clinker in a ton of it.

The man who thinks he is indispensable on his job had better begin to think about something else—preferably the job.

this is no fairy story

Bill Smith had faulty brakes . . . . he knew it too! They were always going to be relined "to-morrow" . . . . but one day a street car couldn't dodge him . . Bill is still on the crutches.

Bad brakes have caused more motor accidents than any other one thing.

If you value your safety — your car and the safety of others, you will not neglect your brakes.

Have them relined with genuine Raybestos Brake Lining, and then you are confident of quick, sure stops in traffic, on the hills or the open road.

The report that Mr. Oscar Robinson of Orangeville is no longer Game and Fisheries Inspector for this district proves to be incorrect. Mr. Robinson is still on the job for Dufferin and also for the townships of Proton, Osprey, Artemesia, Euphrasia and Collingwood to the north, as well as the north end of Peel County. Mr. W. B. Hare of Port Credit, who had been reported as Mr. Robinson's successor, is Game Warden for Halton and South Peel.—Shelburne Economist and Free Press.
