William House of Trenton, referred to in the following item from "The Trentonian" lived in Lindsay for a number of years. He was a member of the staff of the McLennan Hardware firm. He was also an ardent football fan.

He married Polly Maunder, a daughter of H. Maunder, proprietor of the Maunder Hotel on William Street south.

The item reads in part:

"Trenton's Mr. Rotary received special birthday acknowledgements from his club brothers. The recognition for William House Senior, the club's charter president, who was 85 recently, included gifts of cuff-links and a Stetson hat.

"As the room filled, club members stood up to sing Happy Birthday to him, a Rotarian brought in his cake with lighted burning candles. His close friends, R. J. Dick Whitley, and Claude V. Graham, also veteran club members, were at Mr. House's side for the blowing out ceremony.

"Mr. House voiced his appreciation and recalled some high points in the 47 years since becoming a Rotarian.

"I've been in the club over half of my life and enjoyed every day of it," is the way he referred to the experience.

"Mr. House said it warmed his heart to see young members joining the Trenton club. He offered advice to the newcomers: 'If you want to be a good Rotarian do something for. Then you can go home for. Then you can go home from the meeting contented, feeling you've accomplished something in this world.'"
