Regarding the recent litigation in the McPherson estate matter it appears that there was a conflict of opinion among the writing experts as to the validity of signature on the note in dispute. The L. O. L. picnic in Wright's grove, back line, last Friday afternoon was rather flattened out by the rain. Numbers were present, however, and the rain as it came down did not dampen their spirits or call for anathemas. Everybody was too enjoyed to see the moisture. Possession was taken of a vacant house where the feast was partaken of and after things were cleared away a time was spent by the young people trippling the light fantastic to the music of the rain drops as they pattered on the shingles and against the window pane.

The Advance had a call on Tuesday from Mr. John Ford, late of Dakota. Nine years ago Mr. Ford ran the grist mill here. He married Miss Sadie Smith, daughter of Joseph Smith, late of Flesherton. For the past five years he has been living in North Dakota. A few weeks ago Mr. Ford met with a sad loss by the death of his wife, who was stricken with consumption of the bowels, and died at the early age of 29 years. The mother and infant daughter both died of this disease, which was directly traceable to infection from a source outside the family. Mr. Ford and his two bright little boys have taken up their abode in Markdale, where the former will be employed in his father's mill. He was visiting old acquaintances in town Tuesday.

Most of our readers are aware that Brother Irwin of the Durham Chronicle had a son Frank with the American army in the Phillipines, and Frank's racy letters published in the Chronicle were read with very deep interest. For a long time no word has been heard from the absentee and many feared something serious had happened him. Last week's Chronicle quiets these fears. It says: "For over a year we have not heard from our soldier boy, whose lengthy and racy letters from the Phillippines were eagerly read by readers of this paper. In his last letter he told us he would not write again for some time, but not to be uneasy, as he would be all right. The other day a letter from a friend in Pennsylvania stated he was still alive and well, and since leaving the army he had been in China, Japan and Australia and was then at Los Angeles, but was about to start to Arizona. He has not yet written home."

The Advance occasionally runs against people who might profit if they would read the following from the Shoe and Leather Journal: "Some people go about with a chip on their shoulders, ready at the slightest provocation to fly off the handle. These touchy folk are a nuisance, and are really conceited asses, constantly in hot water over their dignity and rights. The well poised man is not soon vexed. It is always a sign of weakness when a fellow is easily provoked. Sound yourself on the point. Of course there are phlegmatic people who would not stir from their snail's gait if the heavens collapsed and to whom compliments and insults are alike. A man without spirit is only half a man, but these hot-headed fellows are insufferable bores. Says the Wise Man. "A fool's wrath is presently known" so that in his day the world had its estimate of fiery-tempered individuals who are in the habit of expressing their feelings on the spot. The shallowest lakes develop the quickest and fiercest storms. Less dignity and more worth make the ship of life ride easier."

Presentation at Niagara

The long service medal for non-commissioned officers and men has been awarded by the War Office to Staff Sergt. W. T. Clark, formerly of No. 6 Co. and a resident of Maxwell, who has completed the required twenty years of service in the 31st regiment. The presentation was made on Sunday, June 14, at Camp Niagara, the regiment being drawn up in close column for the purpose immediately on its return from church parade. The medal was presented by Lieut.-Col. Campbell, the commanding officer of the regiment, assisted by Major Sproule, formerly captain of No 6 company, and 2nd Lieut. Richardson, representing Capt. Richardson, who at present commands Sergt. Clark's old company. In presenting the medal Lieut.-Col. Campbell referred to the long and valuable services which the recipient had performed, and stated that it would always afford him great pleasure to similarly decorate any other non-commissioned officer or man to whom the medal might be awarded. This pleasure was greatly increased on the present occasion by the fact that Sergt. Clark had been a member of No. 6 when Lieut.-Col. Campbell was in command of the company as captain. While pinning the medal on his breast he expressed the wish that Sergt. Clark might long continue to wear it, both in the ranks of the regiment and, after his retirement, in civil life.

Wild mustard, a most troublesome pest of the farmers, can be killed by spraying it with a blue stone solution. The secret of the application is that the wild mustard has a fluffy or hairy leaf, which holds the destructive bluestone, while the leaf of the grain plant is smooth and thereby escapes destruction.

Prof. Lochead, of the O. A. College Guelph, will leave about the 18th of this month to join a government exploration party which will explore the territory southwest of Lake Abitibi, north of the height of land in New Ontario. He will accompany the expedition as an agricultural and biological expert, and will devote special attention to the soils and plant life of the district, the temperature etc., with a view of determining its value for farm and stock purposes. He will be away six weeks or more.

To the Farmers and Cattle Feeders. . . . .

I would call your attention to the

AND CALF MEAL. This food is very highly recommended by the Great Stock Breeders in the States, and is now being tested by Mr. R. McGill at our Station, on his farm, where he has some forty head of feeding cattle in stall. Those wishing to try it can get any quantity for a trial, and from the recommendation I have no doubt it will repay any feeder of stock.
