Samoan King Finds He Can't Defy Laws And Escape Penalty

Tamases Steps Down From Throne for Six Months in New Zealand Prison

A king in British Samoa learns that the formula "the king can do no wrong" does not obtain in the Pacific Isles. Tamases, late head of Samoan royalty, drew the wrath of the British authorities and has been forced to step down from his native throne into a New Zealand prison for six months.

Unrest has prevailed in Samoa for a year or two. The natives, famous for their happiness and hospitality, now andthen resort to noisy demonstraotins when they object to white men's laws.

Samoans who have been untouched by modern civilization are as scarce in the Pacific islands as uncivilized Indians in Canada, the Natonal Geographic Society reports. Now and then a veteran of threescore and ten is encountered in the forests of the interior. He carries an eight-foot bow a supply of barbed arrows and a spear, all of which give him a vicious appearance; but the first thing he is likely to do when you meet him is to invite you into his hut, a large single-roomed oval structure of thatched leaves, branches and sugarcane stalks.

His wife (he has only one) is as gracious and hospitable as a native could be expected to be; but the village Taupo, or mistress of ceremonies, is usually the visitor's chief human attraction. She is the village beauty, attended by a bevy of chestnut "Venuses of the Tropics." When distinguished visitors enter the village the Taupo and her feminine aids lead the dance and other entertainment for the guests.

Fortunately, Miss Samoa lives near the equator, for her clothes consist of a woven grass dress draped from her hips to her feet. The upper portion of her body, if covered at all, is draped with garlands of beads. Her bare feet and legs never felt shoes and silk stockings. Hats are never worn by the women folks except on festive occasions. Then they are fantastic groups of feathers, flowers and metal disks.

Face-powder manufacturers have not yet broken into the boudoir of Miss Samoa. The shinier the belle's nose the more she likes it. If the natural oil of the skin does not make her features glisten in the tropical Samoan sunlight, she applies oil and grease until she achieves the desired luster. One of her beauty treatments is the bleaching of her beautiful black hair to a muddy red with lime. If there is no lime, she daubs her hair with red clay.

Difficulties to Contend With

In our efforts to control the ravages of cancer, we are meeting with similar difficulties to those with which we were confronted fifty years ago when the campaign was started against tuberculosis. We then found the idea firmly fixed in the minds of the people that tuberculosis was hereditary and that it was incurable.

We were able to demonstrate, however, that tuberculosis was not hereditary; that it was not incurable, but, on the contrary, the majority of cases could be cured if diagnosed and treated early enough.

Now we are having similar difficuties in regard to cancer. If people think they have cancer, they hesitate in going to their physician lest he tell them that is cancer, and their impression is that cancer is incurable.

They also have the idea that it is hereditary, that is, that it is transmitted from parent to child.

We are now able to convince them that cancer is not incurable, but that the only safety, as with tuberculosis, lies in early diagnosis and early treatment. If possible treatment should be secured in the pre-cancer stage, that is, by the removal of any abnormal condition that would be likely to develop into cancer.

If you have any suspicion of cancer, do not fail to promptly consult your physician.

THOUSANDS OF MOTHERS USE NO OTHER MEDICINE

Baby's Own Tablets Are the Ideal Remedy for Babies and Young Children

Canadian mothers are noted for the care they give their little ones—the health of the baby is most jealously guarded and the mother is always on the lookout for a remedy which is efficient and at the same time absolutely safe. Thousands of mothers have found such a remedy in Baby's Own Tablets and many of them use nothing else for the ailments of their little ones. Among them is Mrs. Howard King, of Truro, N.S., who says:—"I can strongly recommend Baby's Own Tablets to mothers of young children as I know of nothing to equal them for little ones."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

It Didn't Pay

There was once a goat herd that contained two of the most stubborn goats that there ever were. One day all the goats were playing and frisking about on the mountain side when these two goats met on a narrow tree which had fallen across a deep chasm. The tree was so narrow that they could not possibly pass each other.

Each was too stubborn to turn back.

"I will not move for you," said the first goat. "Get out of the way if you do not want to be dashed to pieces."

"Not at all," said the second. "It is your place to back up. If you do not back up I shall push you off."

Each stubbornly pushed ahead until they met horn to horn right in the middle of the log. Here each angrily pushed against the other and they were both knocked off and fell to their death in the deep chasm below.

An old goat who had looked on at this needless disaster sighed: It is better to yield than to come to disaster through stubbornness.

Quite in contrast with them was the tall, thin man hunched over the wheel of an outlandish contraption that he called an automobile. But people from the Little Washoe country and the valleys north of the Humboldt gathered to do honor to their murdered leader.

Indigestion

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy in an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tastesless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after effects. Once you learn this fact you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggstore.

Good Advice From One Who Had Suffered Much

Discomfort after eating, gas pains in the intestinal tract, pains around the heart, sour rising in the throat called heartburn, are common symptoms of dyspepsia. It is a condition often neglected until it has done permanent harm, yet the treatment is simple. The great contributing cause to this trouble is thin blood. Good blood and plenty of it is required by the stomach to function properly. If the blood is thin the stomach becomes sluggish, food lies undigested, gas forms causing pains, often around the heart. Instead of getting nourishment from the blood the system gets poison. The proper treatment is to enrich the blood, and there is no other medicine can do this as promptly or as effectively as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The sole mission of these pills is to make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every organ and nerve in the body, and thus not only banishes indigestion and dyspepsia, but also all other troubles having their origin in weak, watery blood.

The splendid results following the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is shown by the case of Mrs. Lucy A. Cushing, a former resident of Kempt, N.S., but now living with her son at West Bethel, Me. Mrs. Cushing says: "I have no hesitation in strongly recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. Always after eating I suffered from pains in my stomach and other distressing symptoms that accompany this ailment. I tried different doctors while residing at my old home and also at West Bethel, but without getting relief. I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so and I must say that I am feeling very grateful ever since to the good friend who gave me the advice. I soon found the pills helping me and by the time I had taken nine or ten boxes I was completely restored to good health. Though I am now in my 76th year I am feeling as well and smart as I did at 35, and am enjoying life once more."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Kick Out the 'Imp.'

Sir Robert Baden-Powell recently gave the British Boy Scouts some sound advice that may well be taken to heart wherever the movement has been established. "If you're up against a hard job that seems impossible," he said, "kick out the 'imp' and work heartily and cheerily. You know you're going to do something good for other people. Help in your own way to bring about peace and prosperity in the world. If you do your work, you get to like it. It makes you happy. Moreover, it is a good education."

To "kick out the 'imp'" is an excellent idea, which might be adopted by grown-up people as well as boys. Many modern movements that are founded upon perfectly sound ideas fail from lack of determination upon the part of those who started them. In Montreal we have had some notable examples of this, among them the failure to enforce a test examination for all applicants for automobile driving licenses; the abandonment of the proposal to establish an automatic traffic control system throughout the city; the collapse of the plan to erect a civic hall for music; and the city's lack of any organized town-planning scheme to govern future buildings here.

If the "imp" had been kicked out by those who were the first to advance and to foster these ideas, we should be much more advanced in municipal administration than we are to-day.—Montreal Star.

Canada's Historic Sites

The Historic Sites and Monument Board of Canada is composed of historical authorities, and one of its duties is to recommend to the Department of the Interior historic sites worthy of being marked, restored, or preserved. The board meets annually to consider the various sites brought to their notice and forwards its opinion to the Department of the Interior which makes the decision and carries out the work through the National Parks of Canada Branch.
