New Chevrolet Six is Now at Local Garage of D. McTavish & Son

This week D. McTavish & Son have unloaded their first car load of the new Chevrolet Six, that has received so much attention in the automobile world. One remarkable feature of the New Chevrolet is the quick change from the manufacturing of the Chevrolet four cylinder to the six cylinder in the short space of time of only six weeks. The change was made with clock-like precision that was a wonder to the motor world. Production on the old model ceased on October 27th and by December 11th the first assembly of the new cars started. This was not done without any forethought or planning, as months before the new machine dies and tools were designed in the shops to facilitate a quick turnover when the right hour arrived. The total amount spent for machinery and equipment amounted to $17,530,000, and an additional $6,490,000 was spent for tools and fixtures.

The cost of changing models exceeded $30,000,000. Probably never before in the history of industry has such a large total been invested in one organization in a similarly short space of time. It was the work of super-organization to provide for its efficient expenditure, timing each operation to co-ordinate the whole in a smooth flowing stream of quantity production with minimum interruption to the company's main function of producing as many cars as it can sell efficiently and economically.

The motor of the new Chevrolet Six develops 46 horse power at low engine speed and as a result of the automatic lubrication of the valve mechanism the motor is exceptionally quiet throughout the entire speed range.

Seven models of passenger and three commercial types comprise the line, which according to General Motors officials, embodies the greatest dollar value ever offered in an automobile. Included in the passenger car line are five closed models and two open models. All bodies this year carry the famous Fisher stamp of craftsmanship. From an appearance standpoint, as well as from inherent design, the car is completely new with a wide range of attractive colors and fine car appointments, formerly found only on the more expensive makes.

Despite the score of advanced features, prices remain practically the same, chiefly as a result of the influence of tremendous volume production. The price range is from $510 to $825 F.O.B., Oshawa, government taxes extra.

WHAT BIRDS DO

It is estimated that ten thousand caterpillars could destroy every blade of grass on one acre of cultivated land. An insect-infested cherry tree may contain 12,000,000 aphides. The bird population of the country has been estimated at from 700 to 1,000 per square mile, and these birds, few enough in number, are our best protection against the insect enemies which they were intended to destroy. The man who kills the insectivorous birds is helping to destroy his own country.

Contable Purvis Assists In Hunt for Orval Shaw

Provincial Constable Ellwood Purvis of Collingwood was one of the posse of four police and citizens in the attempt to round up two characters at Bolsover, Ont., who had escaped from jail at Chatham in December. When the fugitives made their attempt to escape one of the men, Pete Brennan was shot by the police and died immediately. Orval Shaw, the other man, was able to escape on account of dusk of evening, the bush being close at hand. At the time of writing Shaw has not been caught.

No Roads Blocked Yet

This winter there have been very few storms to tie up traffic on the roads or the railway line. The C.P.R. has not experienced much difficulty in keeping the Owen Sound line open to traffic and at no time has the train been more than twenty minutes or half an hour late all season. However, it is not known at what hour a storm may arrive that will bring railway traffic to a standstill.
