For
urpos

nett thics of
sion

ost certa
uite outli
e standard
writers
ral has bee
t, H. G. Wells, Shaw. They
n which their responsibility
to the public
judgment of
ise and sound-
field of letters

ch these three
o define their
estimation of
and interna-
d through the
Woodman Bur-
eat department
ondon.

UTHORS

on was that al-
ther great com-
able to retain
alent and best
chitects, techni-
he professional
had the real
their amazing
cations, and the
in general pre-
as these great
able of present-
wrote to ask if
pens in such a

, and in their
end a standard
s a noble state-
lesser writers
Replying to the
iter is a skilled
ld place his tal-
commercial ea-
aid:

SERIOUSLY

that, rightly or
takes himself
hat. In his heart
with the artists,
and the priests
may be an old
going out of fa-

our generation,
ns, that our only
e the reader. We
ers and we don't
s, we feel, an im-
between writer
ffect."
his refusal with
tremendous im-
s taken place in ls since he first
the use of th
lent aside f
shed reputa

TS CUSTO

s at the
ter a ver
present
bles.
s,
e

C
horde
New Y
some 322,
the April iss
The pelts, ho
so much as the liv
wearers, though the o
allied to the other, the main being the elimination of stray cats a menace to birds.

Says the article, "It is the unwanted, homeless, hungry cat that is the menace of bird life. What is true in the environs of Greater New York is equally true in every part of the inhabited United States. The number of birds devoured by the stray and homeless cat is beyond computation. The house cat gone wild and foraging in the country for its own living is by no means a helpless, puny animal. Its evtraordinary growth and strength indicate a nabundant food supply, a great part of which is birds.

As for cats. being. kept to kill rodents this article discounts the claim "that a large cat population is necessary to control the increase of rats and mice, and urges that the proper care and storing of foods which are attractive to rodents and the avoidance of scattering loose food around stock or poultry will do more to discourage the breeding of undesirable rodents than can be accomplished by any number of cats.

Community Art Action Needed

Lee Simonson Says Towns Should Get Together and Head off Ugliness

In a joyous dialogue concerning culture in the April "Forum" between Harvey Wiley Corbett, William M. Ivins, Henry Goddard Leach, Vachel Lindsay, Lewis Mumford, Walter Pach, Walter B. Pitkin, Alfred Stieglitz, Harvey M. Watts, Art Young and Lee Simonson, the latter remarks, "We need a development of community effort, if we are to get anywh in such arts as architecture. Th

Officials and wreckers of the C.N.R. observing the chaos of a No. 3. This picture was taken immediately before the task was co line for traffic.

Indian Tribesmen Favor Britain On Northwest Border

Government Intervention Increasingly Sought in Pure-Tribal Di

Bomba
of the

U. S. and Englanc Will Have V Says Ru

Calling the United States and

h
i.
O
hi
id
ly
ot,
adve
rth-
ion st
whom it co
ave made. He is that public
not yet ripe to
of responsible
whom it has
in any scheme
ercial concern.
m public opin-
ut the opinion
ut it."
the short time