Farmers Institute Meeting

The meeting of this organization held in the town hall on Thursday last was well attended, both afternoon and evening, and may be recorded as another very successful meeting. The afternoon session was opened by Major Sheppard with the president, R. D. Carruthers in the chair. Major Sheppard is a fluent speaker and thoroughly conversant with the matters on which he treats. His introductory speech was on the question of seeds and proposed legislation on the same. He made the statement that the big seed houses ship all their best seeds to Europe and that no first class seed can be bought from them in Canada. A gentleman who bought seed from several European seed houses found that the seed had originally come from Canada, and that the same grade could not be purchased here. He also referred to the benefits of the experimental farm.

C. E. Shearer of Vittoria addressed the audience on the cream separator and butter making. The dairying interest, he said, had grown with astonishing rapidity during the past few years, and we were gradually crawling to the front as a cheese and butter producing country. During the cheese season this last summer a million dollars worth of these products has been shipped from the port of Montreal every week, representing 1,010,000 cows. Some of the speakers pointers: Stables should be kept warm—75 degrees—and light. The cream separator has come to stay, but it is not a gold mine in itself; it needs also the cow, man and feed. Cleaniness was also very important. Never leave milk standing in stable. Milk at 98 degrees was proper temperature for separating. Milk for churning should be 54 to 56 in summer, 62 to 65 degrees in winter. It would pay to buy a separator if you only had four cows. He used the National, but all had their good points.

Major Sheppard introduced the subject of good roads, a question with which he appears to be perfectly familiar. He said that roads were made in ten thousand different ways. Nova Scotia had thirteen different systems; British Columbia had government roads, the most costly, but best of all; Prince Edward Island had a mixture. He criticized the statute system, showing up its many weak points, and declared that the best results could not be derived from it. It would only lead up to a certain point, which was far from perfection, because of the pathmaster system. He asked, "What would a farmer say to putting a new man to run his farm every year for twenty years?" At the end of that time his farm would be useless. Proper qualifications in pathmasters were seldom looked after. It was worse still to give money to the council-men to expend. It placed them in a position in which they should not be placed. He did not advance any new proposal but one could read between the lines that he favored a properly qualified, salaried road commissioner. The main thing was to get farmers thinking about and studying their roads, and good would result. He emphasized the necessity of keeping roads properly drained and not allowing stagnant water to remain on or beside them. In his district they had paid $1.10 per yard for crushed stone roads. The crushed stone between this village and the station cost 90c. per yard. This by of way comparison. The grader is a good thing but bad work can be done with it. After grading the road should be solidly rolled so that teams will travel on it and not at the side. The day of log and plank culvert was gone. Concrete tile pipe for culverts and bridges was the thing now. The major's talk on the subject was extremely instructive and interesting.

M. K. Richardson, M. P., addressed the meeting for a few minutes on the work done by the experimental farm in seed testing.

The evening meeting was opened with much enthusiasm shown on the part of the audience. M. K. Richardson, M.P., presided. Mr. Richardson ably addressed the audience and introduced Mr. C. E. Shearer, who showed the great benefits derived from the Farmers' Institute and the fine work going on in Ontario.

Mr. Shearer spoke very eloquently on the "Farm as a Home." First of all, he said, the surroundings of a home went a great way towards beautifying and making it attractive and homelike. He took for example a farm that was allowed to run without the careful attention of the owner's eye, who would allow his fences to remain down, and who would never do anything for the better, but leave everything in a dilapidated manner. Then take on the other hand the farmer who is always repairing, trying to improve and take care of his surroundings. His was a better motto then the first man's. Whitewashing, he said, although a cheap appliance of paint, was better than the plain bare boards not painted at all. It made it homelike and attractive. When this is all done our boys and girls will be encouraged to come home once more and enjoy a visit in their old home, where they spent their happy days of childhood.

Major Sheppard then gave an appropriate address on "Three Historical Days on the Niagara Frontier." This address was delivered here by the Major once before, but all were pleased to hear it again.

With the singing of the National Anthem the meeting was brought to a close.

HOW IT'S DONE.

It's from the stomach the blood is fed and the nerves controlled.

Undigested food ferments for lack of gastric juice. The fermentation and putrefaction in the stomach and alimentary canal are the main causes of disease.

It upsets the nerves.

It poisons the system.

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill increases the necessary supply of gastric juice in quantity and quality to insure perfect stomach action. It has similar action on bile formation. Anyone can prove this for himself by addressing WILSON-FYLE Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., for free sample.
