An Experience in the Snow.

Many are the interesting experiences told illustrating the difficulty of travel this winter. The Chatsworth News publishes an item detailing a thrilling experience of Rev. W. G. Reilly, a Chatsworth rector, who attempted to drive home from Desboro a week ago last Sunday.

"The road was heavy and the further he drove the worse the road was, and when about a mile east of Scott's corner his horse got down in the deep snow, and after a good deal of hard work he got the animal on the hard road again and proceeded on his way. Again and again the beast got down in the deep snow and every time labored hard until it found footing again on the narrow hard road. But the worst experience was reached nearly opposite Mr. Wm. Duffs, when the horse got off the road, went down in the deep snow and rolled on its side. After a long unsuccessful effort to get the horse up Mr. Reilly went to Mr. Duffs for assistance, which was cheerfully given by Mr. Duff. Upon reaching the horse they found it still lying in the snow exhausted and helpless. They labored hard to get the beast up and finally it stiffened out and lay apparently dead, and Mr. Duff with his cheek frozen and Mr. Reilly with his ear frozen, returned to Mr. Duffs where Mr. Reilly was kindly entertained over night. Some time after Mr. Malcolm Cameron of Arnott, who, with Mrs. Cameron, had been visiting the latter's parents, came along, and seeing signs of life in the horse Mr. Cameron worked vigorously to get the animal up, and finally succeeded. Taking horse with him he returned to Mr. James Duffs, to remain for the night, and after putting the horse in a warm stable Mr. Cameron and Mr. James Duff set out in search for Mr. Reilly, whom they found at Mr. William Duffs and made his stay more pleasant by telling of the safety of his horse. Mr. Reilly and Mr. Cameron again started home Monday morning and arrived here about one o'clock p. m."

Concert at Proton

The Orange concert, L. O. L., No. 244, given at Proton, on Friday, January 29, was pronounced one of the grandest concerts ever given at Proton under that order. The evening was an excellent specimen and the roads being in a fair condition and a good audience witnessed the treat. The program was an excellent one, and will, doubtless, be recorded as the best Orange concert ever given at Proton. Indeed the brethren should feel proud of such a well rendered and choice program as given that evening. Mr. Wm Sharp occupied the chair and addressed the audience in an able manner. Mr. Logan, comedian, of Owen Sound, was one of the stars. Mr. Logan is a fine singer and is worthy of being called an excellent entertainer. The Haw brothers fully filled the musical part of the concert. We might say right here, the music was the finest we have had the privilege of listening to for some time, and the able manner in which the boys delivered each selection, caused it to be listened to with intense interest and was uproariously applauded. Mr. R. J. Pedlar, Eugenia, comic entertainer, also filled the bill and created great laughter by his witty manner, and certainly delighted the audience. We are sure with a little vocal training Mr. Pedlar will be classed as one of the best comedians and entertainers that an audience would wish to hear. Mr. W. T. Pedlar gave a few of his old songs by a special request, which were much appreciated, especially by those who are not lovers of the comic class. Mr. Haney favored the audience with a few select violin solos. He is certainly well gifted as a violinist. Mr. O. G. Brooks gave a few readings, which were appreciated to the greatest extent, as they were delivered in a excellent manner. The audience then dispersed after singing the National Anthem.

The tie up at the Wiarton Beet Sugar factory is of absorbing interest to a number of farmers in this vicinity. There are many who worked themselves into a perspiration cultivating a sugar beet patch all last summer, who hauled their beets to Owen Sound, loaded them into cars, and have not a red cent to show for it. The factory is closed and the plant is in the hands of the Union Bank and the Bank of Commerce. J. Johns and D. Huther lose $10,000 and $12,000 respectively. Some of the farmers who have lost the price of their beets are hoping to be partially reimbursed when the government bounty is paid.—Times.
