Binder Twine

Farmers who are Wise

Will not be persuaded into purchasing the unreliable Binder Twine which some dealers wish to sell for the sake of the additional profit derived therefrom. Crudely made from low grade fibres,—such twine contains but a fraction of the quality, strength and uniform evenness of the carefully constructed Plymouth Brands.

How Fruit Growers Lose Money.

A strongly worded warning to fruit growers and farmers will appear in the September issue of The Canadian Horticulturist, which is the official organ of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, against selling their fruit crops to irresponsible buyers. These buyers are those who do not live or own property or sections where they buy their crops. The Horticulturist claims that tens of thousands of dollars are lost annually through out Canada, through the fraudulent methods practised by these buyers.

The first year they buy a few thousand barrels in one section, and pay cash for them, thereby establishing their reputation with many growers, as responsible buyers. The following year, they take advantage of this reputation to contract for large quantities of fruit, but not pay for it, putting the growers off with one excuse or another. When some growers are suspicious, and demand payment, they pay immediately, but in the majority of cases they manage to ship the fruit out of the section without paying for it. Later they tell growers tales of losses and say they are unable to pay the full value of their fruit and offer to settle at 20 to 30 cents on the dollar.

Growers are advised by The Horticulturist when dealing with buyers they are not thoroughly acquainted with to demand security for their fruit, or only deal with local buyers who have property or stake in the community. One of the best methods of avoiding danger of this kind has been for growers to co-operate and deal directly with large wholesale buyers. The case of the Ontario buyer who two years ago defrauded the fruit growers of the Annapolis Valley in Nova Scotia out of $30,000 to $40,000 worth of fruit is mentioned.

They Struck Oil

Since the Grey and Bruce Oil and Gas Co.'s well at Ormiston's farm was shot last week the directors of the company remained silent as to the result until yesterday, when E. P. Rowe, secretary, admitted to The Sun that they are in possession of samples of oil taken from the well. The oil is a nice greenish amber and has shown a high gravity test. Forty quarts of nitro-glycerine were used in shooting the well last week. The directors of the company claim that they have struck 30 feet of oil sand and that this charge was not sufficient. Driller W. Durham, of Petrolia, is expected to arrive this morning with 130 quarts of nitro-glycerine and the well will be shot off again to day. Secretary Rowe says that the details will be given to the public next week.—O. S. Sun.

Horse Fell Into Well

On Friday evening, Aug. 12th, Mr. Wesley Irwin, who lives a mile or so north of the village, returning home from driving, and while unhitching his horse in the yard, head a loud noise behind the barn. On investigation he learned that his valuable four-year-old mare had broken through the covering on a thirty-foot well. Some neighbors were soon on the spot. A derrick with a pulley at the top was erected over the well. Another pulley was fastened to the trunk of a nearby apple tree and the hayfork rope was passed through them. A man descended and found the horse could keep its head above water, having dropped in hind legs first, and there being nine feet of water at the time. The rope was fastened around its body behind the front legs and a team hitched to the end above. The animal was landed safely after considerable difficulty and has sustained no injuries beyond a chilly bath.—Dundalk Herald.

A Melancthon farmer came to town one day recently to do some trading, pay a few bills and see the sights in this lively place. On his arrival he had $98 and some prommissory notes in his pocket, but at the close of the day's transactions he had to report to the village constable the loss of his pocket book, with over $60 and the notes. Among the purchases made was a jag of liquid tanglefoot, good for brain fag and makes a man see double. He, however, did not see just how he lost the money, but Jack McLaughlin was lucky enough to find it. Jack rewarded himself for the find by purchasing a ready-made suit out of the proceeds and he deposited the balance in other hands for safe keeping. After a holiday jaunt in Proton, he returned to the loser the balance of the funds, about $50, with the notes and pocket book. The owner was well satisfied under the circumstances with the amount returned, but he will be more careful in the future as to liquid refreshment. There's nothing will take the place of good, fresh water.—Dundalk Herald.
