PLANT TREES AND PROSPER.

After cogitating over the matter for several years, the County Council of Dufferin at its meeting last week, resolved to proceed with its scheme of reforestation. The county will acquire one thousand acres of land, to cost about $7,500, in the township of Mulmur, and will begin the work of tree planting early next spring.

The enterprise of our neighbors is to be commended. We presume the territory to be acquired is of a kind that can be easily spared from ordinary farm use, and there can be no doubt that the people of the county will in due course reap a full return from their enterprise. In this connection might we ask what progress has been made by our Grey County legislators in their reforesting projects? We trust the County Council will not weary in well doing. All over the county they have opportuniay to plant trees that, if taken reasonable care of may at a measurably early date prove of great advantage to the taxpayer, and incidentally a source of revenue to the county. There are hundreds of spots throughout the county where nothing is now produced, that might have trees growing, and there are many farms on which formerly magnificent trees grew, now covered with scrub, and too stony to clear as farm land, that might well be taken possession of by the authorities and planted with trees that in due course will be of much value to the community.

In central Europe they have to-day magnificent forests as a result of public spirited action in turning to account such lands as could not readily be cultivated as farms. In Germany and France, indeed, many of the highways are lined with fruit and nut trees, and made profitable to the agricultural population. Great Britain was rather backward in afforestation, but since the war, and especially in Scotland, a big expansion has taken place. The people in the motherland have taken to heart the advice of the old Scotch laird to his son: "Keep plantin' trees; they'll grow even while ye're asleep." Good advice for us in Canada, too. We have the vacant lands, and the provincial authorities make it easy to get the trees.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Some people may lose the use of their legs by over-indulgence in the motor habit, but not so the town postman. He plods his many hundreds of miles yearly in the public service, and thrives on it. The rural postal service, however, is ever being performed with greater efficiency by motor or buggy. Our greatest need now is a revival of the one-cent postal card. "There's millions in it!" if the Postmaster-General had courage to re-establish it. And then, too, we would have a revival of the picture postcard industry. Messieur Postmaster-Generale, please get a move on.

IN MEMORIAM

GIBSON — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Ella Gibson, who passed away Nov. 29th, 1928.

She gave no one a last farewell,
She waved her hand to none
Her spirit flew before we knew
That she, from us, had gone.
We loved her, yes, we loved her
But Jesus loved her more
And He has sweetly called her home
Beyond that shining shore.
Ever remembered by your —Children.

The village nomination took place on Monday evening, when the following were nominated:

McCAULEY, H. A. — Nominated by John Pedlar and W. S. Inkster.

McTAVISH, D. — Nominated by J. H. Field and R. Fisher.

The after meeting was presided over by the old standby, Mr. John Pedlar, who, as is generally the case, kept the audience in good humor. The attendance was not large, and only one of the old councillors, Mr. Fred Mathewson, was present to give an account of their stewardship. Reeve McTavish dealt at short length with street work, but did not touch on county matters.

H. A. McCauley, who opposes him for the Reeveship again this year, criticized the work done during the past year.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

At the village nomination Monday evening two new public school trustees were appointed to replace two who dropped out. The new men are Robert Richardson and W. S. Inkster. They replace F. Stuart and E. McKillop. Charles Stewart was re-elected as trustee.

CURRENT CROP REPORT

Fall plowing is nearing completion in most districts. The continued fine weather enabled farmers to get the odd work finished and they are in fair circumstances to greet the winter months. One regrettable feature has been the lack of rain, as a result of which many wells and cisterns have run dry. The dry weather, however, has given the farmers an opportunity to kill out twitch grass and destructive weeds. The mild weather enabled farmers in many regions to delay housing their stock, thus saving a considerable quantity of feeds.

RAISED 2,000 TURKEYS

In its effort to promote the profitable raising of turkeys, the Ontario Government established a turkey farm in Norfolk County. The object was to show that birds of this variety can be raised with profit. The experiment has proven quite sucessful. This year more than 2,000 turkeys were hatched and raised on the farm. A short time ago one thousand of them were sold at 30c. per lb. What is possible on the Norfolk farm is equally so on other farms in the province. Turkeys can be raised and sold profitably at a much lower price than that demanded about Thankgiving and Christmas.

Royal Purple Poultry Specific
Keeps Poultry Free from WORMS

Mr. Wm. Jarrott, of Brigden, wrote us a year ago stating that his poultry had become badly infected with worms. We advised him to use 2 lbs. of Royal Purple Poultry Specific in each 100 lbs. of Laying Mash for two weeks and continue throughout the Winter with 1 lb. After using it for three weeks he wrote us stating that in three days he noticed blood streaks in the droppings, and that his egg production had gone up 100%. During the Fall, Winter and Spring months he purchased 600 lbs. of this Poultry Specific. We received a letter from him the latter part of August, stating that he was amazed at the results he obtained, that his poultry were entirely free from worms, and that during August of this year his production was 100% larger than last year.

It will pay every poultryman, no matter what feed he is using, or if he mixes his own, to add one pound of Royal Purple Poultry Specific to each hundred pounds of feed during the whole season the poultry are shut in. While this great tonic destroys the worms, it at the same time tones up the birds, keeping their digestive organs active the same as if they were on range, compelling them to take from 15% to 20% more good from the feed they eat. This is naturally reflected in increased egg production.

Worms in poultry is often mistaken for other diseases. The birds become very thin and show symptoms of diarrhoea. When badly infested they will die.

Put up in 30c. and 60c. packages, $1.75 and $6.00 tins, also 100-lb. air-tight bags—$14.00. For sale by 4,600 dealers in Canada. If your dealer cannot supply you, write direct.

Royal Purple Laying Meal

We can supply you with Royal Purple Laying Meal with or without the Poultry Specific mixed in. Mr. T. L. Matheson, Innerkip, Ontario, tells us that he fed Royal Purple Laying Meal to 600 pullets last year with the Royal Purple Poultry Specific and got an average of 74% production from the middle of December until the middle of March. He also states that he has received the largest production of eggs he has ever had during the twelve months he has been using Royal Purple Laying Meal, and that it keeps his poultry healthy during the entire season. If your dealer cannot supply you we will be pleased to quote you a price, freight paid to your station.

VIMLITE (formerly known as Vitalite) We are sole distributors for this wonderful wire-filled product used for windows in poultry houses, barns, sun-rooms, etc. It lets through the ultra-violet, growth rays from the sun that will not pass through ordinary glass. Write for descriptive circular.

It deals with 136 subjects of vital interest to every farmer and poultryman. 10
