Division Court

Division Court was held here before Judge Morrison on Wednesday of last week. Among the cases up were the following:

Agnew & Russel, of Dundalk, sued D. McCannel, of Egremont, for a hayfork. Defendant claimed that the article was not satisfactory. Nonsuit.

McFarlane v Foy and wife was an action on an old store account. Judgement against Foy.

Neithercut v Edwards—Action on wood cutting contract for $51.25. Defendant claimed contract was not completed. Judgement against defendant for $18 and costs

J. & W. Boyd v J. E. Moore—J. E Moore now lives in California. The action was for $121 50. Judgement for $111.50.

Sproule v Sheppard, an action for rent, was settled out of Court.

The following cases were adjourned: O'Loughlin v Proton township, Scott v Garden and Culp, and Lang v Ames.

Turner—Adams

A pretty spring wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. John Adams of the suburbs on Wednesday of last week when his eldest daughter, Sarah Rebecca, was united in marriage to Mr. S. E. Turner, son of Mr. Solomon Turner, of Eugenia. The Wedding March was played by Miss Millie Cook and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Ivison Wilson, B. A., B. D., in the presence of about forty guests, mostly close relatives of the bride and groom Miss Belle Turner, sister of the groom, assisted the bride, and Mr. Emerson Adams performed the same duties for the groom. The bride looked very handsome in a pretty costume of white organdy and the bridesmaid also looked charming in a dress of flaked muslin. The groom's present to to the bride was a rich gold guard and to the bridesmaid a gold brooch circled with crystals. The presents were numerous and handsome. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a rich wedding-dinner, to which all did ample justice. The young couple will reside on their farm, 8th con. Artemesia. We extend our hearty felicitations.

About Rheumatism

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism, and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great sucess in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by W.E. Richardson.

Court Returned the Money

About the 8th of February Dr. Campbell lost a pocket book containing some money which he estimated about $50. At the same time Mrs. Richard McConnell, of West Luther, found a pocket book containing a sum, slightly less than this, which she advertised in this paper. On demand she refused to give it up stating that the proof was insufficient. After repeated efforts to secure it, Dr. Campbell placed the matter in court, the case being heard last Saturday before Messas. Richardson, S. Tate and D. Gear, J. P's, the court room being crowded. Mr. Richardson endeavored to have an amicable settlement reached before hearing the case, but in vain. The evidence showed that the lost purse was found in the house of Mrs. James Campbell, where the doctor was visiting professionally, that Mrs. McConnel had possession of the purse, had discussed the possible loser but had never mentioned the circumstances to the doctor, during his visits. When the court rose at 6.30 o'clock, for an hour's adjournment, the defendant agreed to hand over the purse and also pay the costs, a course her solicitor had advised from the start. She apparently did not want to appropriate the money to her own use, but the evidence suggested a desire to put the doctor to as much trouble as possible The costs amounted to $9.10, which with her lawyer's fees and other expenses will fall not far short of $25 Gamble & Smiley for plaintiff and and J. M Kearns for defendant.—Grand Valley Star.

The Collingwood Bulletin last week made one of the most bitter, uncalled for and untruthful attacks upon Dr Sproule that it would be possible to make. It charged him with having voted with his party on the Jesuite Estate Bill and with many other sins. He did not vote with party on Manitoba coercion and his course has always been consistent in that regard, notwithstanding the Bulletin's false statements to the contrary. The whole article referred to is one of the most base and groundless attacks we have ever read and is a disgrace to the writer who penned it, bristling as it does with absolute falsehoods.

Fred Carver was sent to jail for two years for forgery at Sault Ste. Marie.

The council, at Tara, at its last meeting, received a deputation of business men supporting a petition, signed by over three fourths of the business men of Tara, asking that a by-law be passed enforcing the closing of all shops at 7 p. m. each day excepting Wednesdays and Saturdays. The by-law was passed and will take effect on the first of May.

Mr. Wm. Wright, who was employed at the new C. P. R dock, was the victim of an unfortunate accident accident on Saturday. While his left hand was beneath the hammer of the pile driver, the hammer was allowed to drop three inches, with the result that the wrist joint was disloctated and the hand was badly crushed He will be unable to resume work for a considerable time.—O. S. Sun.

Mr. Thomas Hoath, of Hoath Head, who was in town on Saturday, stated that he saw a flock of eighteen wild geese in a field near his farm that morning. It is no uncommon thing to see flocks of these birds in passage high overhead, but somewhat rare to see them alight and especially so far afield in such a settled country as around Hoath Head. They were alarmed and made off without injury, although one man looked along a gun barrel at the flock.—O. S. Advertiser.

If the newspaper man had nothing else to do but stand on the corner and tackle everybody that passed, for news, he would probably find out everything. But to expect that much of an editor would be unreasonable to say the very least. Don't be ashamed of your guests, or do not neglect a neighbor or a friend, who is sick or has met with an accident. Report it to the newspaper man that friends may know about it.

A silk handkercheif over 300 years old, but still in a good state of preservation, is to be seen at Chalmers & Puckerings This handkerchief is the property of Mr. Wm. Manning, of Amaranth, and belonged to his great-great-grandfather. Mr. Manning has had it over 50 years.—Shelburne Economist.
