PROTON STATION

February 8th and everyone is welcoming the belated sleighing season. Loads of sawlogs, poles, wood, etc. are slipping by and we notice to-day some of the local horse fanciers hitching up their trotters for a trial of speed, but we expect each, will consider his own the best anyway.

Dever Bros. have a number of carpenters at work in the store, which they purchased several years ago from Mr. Hugh Copeland. A portion of it they have been using for a store room for flour and feed and the remainder of the building is in apartments. Men are now laying new floors, building shelves and renovating the interior of the store. A new stock of goods is in order and the firm will soon be carrying on business as usual. In the meantime the goods which were saved from the fire with a new shipment of necessities have been taken to the Orange hall and are being sold daily by their clerk, Mr. Lorne Hodgin.

Recently Mr. Wes. Dever and some friends climbed into the ruins of the burnt store purposely to search for Mrs. Dever's diamond ring. As they stepped into the debris of brick mortar ashes and all the charred remains of a burnt building the finding of a little ring must have seemed as impossible as the finding of the proverbial needle in a hay stack. Locating the spot where it might possibly fall from the second story, they had not searched long before Stanley Lyons picked up the ring. The band is blackened, but the stone is unharmed. Mrs. Dever was certainly surprised and happy when her engagement ring was restored to her, tried by fire.

Miss Roberta Acheson, who has been convalescing at her home here from a serious illness, which began last August resumed her duties on February 1st on the staff of Rawlinson school, Toronto.

HERE'S A NEW WAY TO SETTLE YOUR BILLS

A bill-collector who goes around annoying people had a bad time the other morning at one door he knocked on. When the man of the house appeared and was handed the bill, he plainly showed his annoyance. "Listen, my man," he told the collector "On the second of every month my wife takes all the bills and drops them into a wastebasket. I blindfold her, and she takes a big stick and stirs, and stirs, and stirs. When all the bills are nicely mixed up, she draws out five of them. Those five we pay. Now do you know what will happen to you if you keep on bothering us with that bill of yours?" He glared and the collector winced. "You won't even make the wastebasket, that's what will happen!" The collector said he was sorry and that he would like very much indeed to have his bills put in the wastebasket, and went away.

TO LINK TWO GREAT PARKS

Work on a highway that will link Jasper National Park and Banff National Park in the Canadian Rocky Mountains a distance of nearly two hundred miles, has begun. The country through which the new highway will pass, is at present comparatively little known, and with the exception of a few game wardens, unpopulated. The journey from Lake Louise to Jasper at present is possible by pack train over an old Indian trail. The route of the highway will be one of unparalleled scenic beauty, and offers an alternative mountain route to the many tourists now visiting Banff and Jasper. Both of the latter places are noted for their splendid accommodation for tourists and their variety of attractions. Jasper National Park covers an area of approximately 4,200 square miles and Banff Park 2,585 square miles.
