Industrial Home Notes

(By an Inmate)

Old Mrs. Waterson, who was returned to this institution on the 18th inst., died on the following Tuesday morning. The remains were taken charge of the same evening by her son and conveyed to Glenelg for interment in the family burial plot. This is the second old lady that has been sent from Owen Sound in a dying condition.

The harvest on this property is completed. The planting of a large bed of strawberries is intended before the close of the fine weather. Mr. Harness will be, no doubt, as successful in the cultivation of strawberries as he is in all lines of farming and gardening. The root crops and garden draw the attention and admiration of visitors.

The masons have been at work the last few days making alterations in the stone work under the barn. The doors are now at the back instead of the ends, and larger, which is a decided improvement. Mr. Joseph Gibsob, v. c. of Markdale, assisted by Mr. Harry Spicer, of Stone's Line, two XLnt workmen, who would scorn to slight a job they take in hand, did the work. We understand the whole of the stalls are to be made on a more convenient principal than formerly. We have not heard that the contract for the interior work has been let to any person, but from his window your scribe observed the ever-industrious superintendent, who, by the way, seems to be the master of many trades, diligently manipulating the hand saw and rule like one engaged in a contest. If he intends doing the work himself it may be safely asserted that it will be well done, but regarding remuneration we can say nothing, being ignorant thereof.

On Tuesday last Dr. E. K. Richardson, of Toronto, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. M. K. Richardson, of Flesherton, were callers at the Home. Although quite a number of years have elapsed since your scribe met the youthful looking Dr., yet he readily recognized the genial countenance and was very much pleased with the call from him and his most estimable and honored parent, and the pleasant conversation with the former, which for the most part was pertaining to military matters, which always interests an old soldier, especially when in conversation with a young and enthusiastic artillery officer like Dr. Richardson.

Thursday last was the record day for visitors to this institut on this season. Among them were W. H. Thurston, the genial editor of the Flesherton Advance, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Flossie, of Toronto, and Mrs. A. Wyvill, of Markdale. The genial editor came on his rubber tired steed, bringing his favorite shadow retainer, the camera, and took a snap shot at the building from a most advantgeous position. He kindly sent your correspondent a specimen the following day, which is pronounced by all who have seen it to be the finest view of the house yet produced, taking as it does, not only the front of the house and the water tank, but also the two south end verandahs and a portion of the laundry near the south end and rear of the building. The picture is undoubtedly a fine one and would be cheap at a quarter to every ratepayer to decorate the walls of parlor or dining room as a credit to themselves for providing such a grand and substanial home for their poor. He also took a snap shot at the writer which did not ricochet either, as the proof is pronounced by all who have seen it to be natural; but oh, my, what a contrast between the shadow that now remains by the removal of the substance and that of forty-five years ago when the substance was a dashing young sergeant in H. M. Imperial Service; But, sic est vitae. Had the inmates not been so much scattered through the premises, Mr. T. would have liked to have taken a group photo. It is a pity, for if this had been done there might have been some philantropist turn up who would have it enlarged and presented to the institution to decorate the inmates dining room as a souvenir of the Home in the first year from its inception, but we hope the worthy Editor will yet have an opportunity of doing so, and we sincerely trust that the subscription list of his spicy little paper may continue to grow until a steam press and a quadrupled staff will be required to supply the demand. The community may then expect the paper to follow in the wake by its growth and its volume of interest.

Lumly, the insane inmate referred to in last weeks budget, was on Monday last committed to Owen Sound jail for thirty days. What will the next measure taken be? House of Refuge, of course; why not?

The Rev. Mr. Lediard, of Owen Sound, and the friend of neglected and friendless children, was a caller at the Home on Monday of last week and expressed himself as highly gratified with everything in connection with the institution.

A Warning To Mothers

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates, and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlains Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipiency and all danger avoided. The cas or oil and this remedy should be procured tat once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For ealeb y W. E. Richardson.

The Root of Neuralgic Headaches.

Is an irritable condition of the nerves caused by cold. Relief comes quickly from Nerviline, the great pain-reliever of to-day. "I consider Nerviline a magical remedy for neuralgia," writes Mrs. E. G. Harris of Baltimore. But I never worry if Nerviline is in the house. A few applications never yet failed to kill pain. I can also recommend Nerviline for stiffness, rheumatism and muscular pains." In use nearly fifty years; try Nerviline yourself.

The Picton Times in its issue of Aug. 3rd, makes the following reference to Mr. C. H. Widdifield, the newly appointed junior judge of Grey county. "Mr. Widdifield is to be congratulated on the well deserved honor that has been bestowed upon him. Coming to this country twenty years ago as a young man he soon attained a front rank in his profession, and has always enjoyed a large share of the legal business of the county. Some of his addresses to juries will long be remembered as among the best delivered in the Picton court house. In 1894 he was appointed local master of the county, a position he has held ever since. Mr. Widdifield has taken his full share of public duties. He was a member of the town council for several years, acting as chairman of the finance committee. He has also been a member of the public and high school boards and of the public library board. On the social side the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Widdifield will be a distinct loss.

We beg to announce to the people of Flesherton and surrounding community that we have purchased the grocery business of Sproule, Crossley & Co. and will continue business in the same stand. We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage and feel confident that we can give you entire satisfaction. Respectfully yours,—Bentham Bros.
