Industrial Home Notes

(By an Inmate)

We trust the genial editor of this paper will have an enjoyable recess after the close attention to the busy business of his sanctum during the past busy year; we also trust he will be rewarded with the gentleman sportsman's luck by capturing a big bag full; and we further hope that he will, as usual, give to his readers a spicy pen picture of his adventures in the wild woods, having a better story to tell than Prince Henry of Lattenburg, who recently went moose hunting and only succeeded in bagging a solitary porcupine.

Thursday last, visiting day, was of an unprecedented character; there were about 35 visitors all of whom were ladies, not a single gentleman, nor married one either, came near us on that day, but perhaps they were engaged either in a scrub hunt or shooting match for thanksgiving turkeys.

Your cor. had a pleasant call from the Misses Lizzie and Margaret McArthur of Stone Settlement on Friday afternoon last By the way, what has happened to the Stone Settlement correspondent, surely the ink is not frozen yet. Write on young friend write on, we like to hear from you.

We received half a dozen souvenir post cards with a view of the House of Refuge, from Master A. M. Thurston, Flesherton The pictures are very neatly executed, well worth the price charged for them and ought to sell like hot cakes as souvenirs of this institution.

We noticed in the Toronto Daily News that Belleville claims the honor of having a resident who served as a boy on the training ship, Victory, (Lord Nelson's flag ship at Trafalgar). Ceylon can also claim the same honor in the person of our old esteemed friend Mr. Alexander McRae Sr. who was not only aboard the Victory but is also a naval veteran of the good old battle ship Agagmennon which took a conspicuous part in the operations in the Black Sea, the Sea of Azov and the bombardment and fall of Sebastapol. Friend McRae was also an observer from the deck of the Agagmennon of the battle of Alma, was present with the Naval Brigade at Inkerman, was in the ranks ashore awaiting orders as he watched the Charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava and was on duty in the trenches before Sebastopol for some months previous to taking part in the fall of that stronghold in which his ship bore the brunt of the battle. The 51st anniversary of Inkerman is close at hand old friend and may you live to see it and many more.

Henry Tamblyn of Keppel, was admitted to the Institution on Friday last. He is now the youngest man in the house, being only 40, but is afflicted with heart disease, and having no friends, is unable to maintain himself. The number of inmates at present is men, 22, women, 10, total, 32.

One of the old fellows is at present in durance vile for habitual swearing. Swearing is absolutely forbidden in this institution, and the manager is justly determined to stamp it out, but in the incarcerated one the habit is so deep-rooted that it will be a difficult matter to eradicate it, and although it be hurtful to the feelings of the manager to be under the obligation of committing to solitary confinement men of the delinquent age, yet it must be done to maintain discipline.

Municipal nomination day this year will be held on Friday, Dec. 22nd instead of as usual on the last Monday of the month which this year happens to be Christmas. The statute provides that when the last Monday of the month is Christmas, nominations shall take place the preceeding Friday, but election day will be on Monday just the same although it is New Year's day.

A sample copy of the new premium picture issued by the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, has come to hand. It is certainly a decided change from their pictures of former years, and a change that will be appreciated. It is entitled "Queen Alexandra, Her Grand children, and Dogs," a most charming and interesting subject. It portrays Queen Alexandra on a visit to the Royal Kennels, accompanied by her grandchildren. The picture of the Queen and the children is an excellent one, and handsome collies and hounds are so lifelike one falls in love with the picture at once. All subscribers to that great weekly will receive a copy of this beautiful picture, size 22 x 28 inches, absolutely free, on receipt of one dollar for a year's subscription. The publishers of the Family Herald have also issued this year a book of immense value to farmers. It is entitled "The Farmer's Manual and Veterinary Guide." This bood is said by competent authorities to be the best of the kind ever issued It cannot be bought, but can be had free on conditions which may be had on application at this office, or by writing to the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal.

Portlaw

Following is a short report of the recent Sabbath School Convention held here on Oct 4, refferred to in last week's issue:

The meeting was opened by singing "To the Work," and prayer by Dr. Caldwell. Mr. J. A. Felstead, President, occupied the chair and delivered an excellent impromptu address explaining that the object of holding quarterly conventions in various parts of the township was to bring the matter home more directly to the people, as many were deprived from attending the annual convention. The work of the S. S. was a noble one and one in which all should feel a deep interest. The object was to teach the great truths of the Bible and lead souls into the fold. The teacher had many difficulties to contend with. There were many influences at work to turn the child away into evil paths, but after all a wonderful success had been achieved and we should look at the bright side. The co-operation of parents was important. The work should be carried on in a systematic manner. The brightest and best talent was needed, but above all the work required consecrated and spirit-filled lives

Rev. Dr. Caldwell spoke on the influence of the S. S. on the community. If we take away the Sabbath School the community is sure to suffer. Idleness and Sabbath desecration is sure to lead to vice and crime. Sunday school countries were the most intelligent. The best men and women of the world were products of the Sunday School. Scholars learn the best subjects and the best principles, the sure foundation on which to build noble characters. A man converted was a star; A child converted a gem, a diamond in the rough. S. S. teachers were polishers whose work caused those jewels to shine with some brilliant lustre. The catechism should be more used in the school, also the pledge and an opportunity frequently given to sign and every influence brought to bear to shield from that vice which was a bar to heaven. The hope of Canada was in the Sunday School teaching. None can tell the value of a good man or woman to a community. A teacher's influence did not end when his life ended, but went on and on, and in the words of Confucius "a teacher lives a thousand years."

Mrs. H. Holman, Miss V. Nicholson and Mr. F. W. Nicholson were hastily called away to the death bed of their mother, Mrs J. P. Nicholson, of Oakville. The deceased lady was for many years a much respected resident of this neighborhood. She was stricken with paralysis on Thursday 19th inst. and passed peacefully to her rest on the following day.

The special meetings at Mount Zion church are being continued this week. The interest in them has been steadily growing and so far much has been accomplished. The pastor, Rev. J. B. Wass, has been untiring in his efforts and the prospects are a rich fruitage of souls garnered in as a reward for his labors. Among others who have assisted in the work are Rev. Dr. Caldwell, Rev. L. W. Thom, Rev. H. E. Kemp and Mrs. Nicholson.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor spent a couple of days visiting with the latter's parents near Markdale.

Miss Kate Waddell, of Orono, visited with her cousin Mrs. T. R. McKenzie.

Miss Emma Magee, of Eugenia, is visiting friends in this vicinity.

Mr. Geo. Thompson has leased his store property here and will remove, in the near future, to Chatsworth where he purposes engaging in the implement business.

Miss Maggie Speers, of Feversham, is visiting with the Misses Hemphill of the four line.

Mr Jas. Wilson's fine brick residence is receiving its finishing touches and will soon be ready for its occupants which we hope may live long to enjoy its comforts.

A "Wheezy" Chest.

Means your trouble is deep-seated. To delay is dangerous. All the inflammation will be drawn out in one day by applying Nerviline. It penetrates through the pores of the skin, relieves inflammation and thus prevents serious consequences. For sore throat, weak chest and tendency to colds, no prescription is better than Polson's Nerviline. For nearly fifty years it has been Canada's great household remedy. Twenty-five cents buys a large bottle.

The Companion as a Christmas Gift.

Can you think of a gift more certain to be acceptable than a year's subscription to THE YOUTH'S COMPANION? Is there any one, young or old, who, once having the paper in his hands and looked through it, did not wish to possess it for his very own? It is a gift which, far from losing its freshness as Christmas recedes into the past, grows more delightful, more necessary to one's enjoyment week by week.

The boy likes it, for it reflects in its pages every boyish taste and every fine boyish aspiration. The father likes it, not only for its fiction but for its fund of information of the practical sort. The girl likes it for the stories, anecdotes, sketches and editorial articles printed in each number especially for her. The mother likes it for its stories of domestic life and family affection, for its children's page and medical article.

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers will send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of THE COMPANION for 1905 and the "Minutem" Calender for 1906, lithographed in twelve colors and gold.

Full illustrated Announcement of the new volume for 1906 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.
