"John and Mary and Tommy," a book of verse for children by Lady Eleanor McLaren Brown, and which is just being brought out in this country, will deservedly attain and hold a very distinct place for itself in the affection of Canadian children of all ages from coast to coast. The book is published in Canada by the Oxford University Press, Toronto.

The book is the story of John, age eight, Mary, almost six, and Tommy, two; three Canadian children, and how they spent a summer holiday in England. The voyage across the broad Atlantic, the delights and wonders of London, and the gallant adventures enjoyed during a month's stay by the sea at Hove, are all described in delightful verse written in easy story form.

Eleanor McLaren Brown, authoress of this entertaining new work is Lady McLaren Brown, the brilliant wife of Sir George McLaren Brown, European General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway; and the book, apart from its lively message to children everywhere is a further feature of the patriotic and imperial work Lady McLaren Brown is continually engaged in towards the closer and kindlier relationships of Canada with the Motherland. The illustration shows the authoress and a few of the sixty delightful drawings by that admirable artist, P. A. Staynes.

London's Own "Mounties"

Mounted policemen are now being employed on traffic control at a number of points in the West End of London. They have an advantage over the ordinary constable at this job, because their seat on horseback gives them a greater range of vision.

The horses of London's mounted policemen are among the most highly trained in the world, and those on traffic duty are so good at their job that their riders can drop the reins and use both arms for signalling.

A London "mounties" on horseback makes an impressive figure, and you will often see one at the head of an official procession. The funeral cortege of the late Lord Plumer, for instance, was led by a policeman on a white horse. His presence in this position in what was essentially a soldier's procession was to mark that the civil authorities were in control.

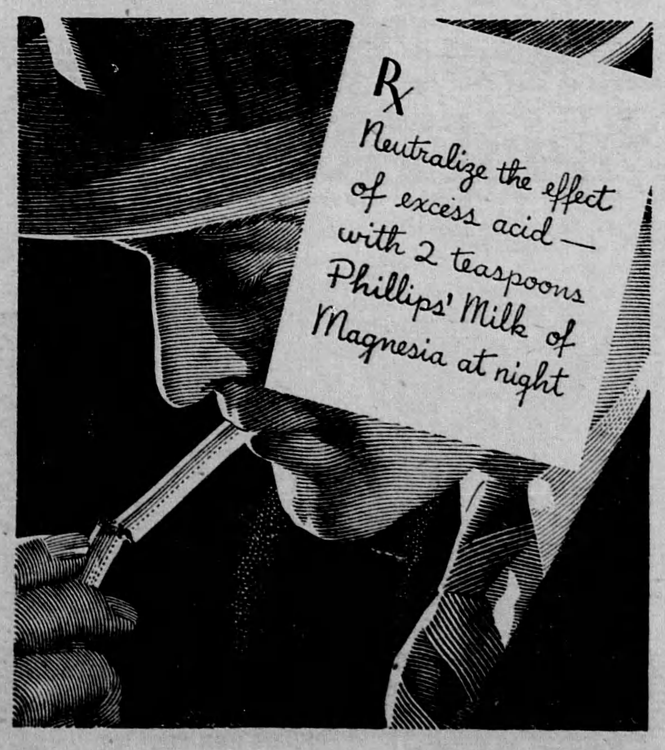
Kangaroos Replace Pekinese As Pets

London, Eng.—Kangaroos are the latest pets in Mayfair drawing rooms.

Society women are replacing Pekinese dogs with docile, baby kangaroos some two feet high. Except for an occasional flying leap over the tea table, they are said to be well-behaved.

There is also a momentary craze for small crocodiles, which are kept in a glass tank in the drawing-room until they reach a length of two feet or so.

TOO MUCH ACID



"Made in Canada"

● The right anti-acid offsets the harm otherwise done by excessive eating, drinking, and constant smoking, anything causing an acid condition. When "sunk" from such indulgences, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will always straighten you out. A joy and comfort to hearty eaters, constant smokers. Get the genuine; substitutes don't act the same.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Infected Rabbits Dangerous to Clean

Grubs Do Not Affect Eating Qualities, However, Declares N.Y. Authority

"At this time of the year when the rabbit season is open, hunters frequently find their game infested with small white grubs in the body around the intestines and in the loose space under the skin. Such animals are usually thrown away as sick or 'grubby.' This practice represents a waste of good food and should be corrected," says Dr. Justus F. Mueller, Assistant Professor of Forest Zoology at the New York State College of Forestry, Syracuse, N.Y.

"These grubs have the form of whitish, translucent, little vesicles or bladders, whence they get the more exact technical name of 'bladder worms.' If a rabbit harboring these grubs is eaten by a dog or fox the grubs mature in the latter animal and establish a permanent infection in this second host. But they are a relatively harmless parasite, and cause their host no evident injury or discomfort. It has been experimentally and conclusively established that these grubs are harmless to all other animals including man," advises Dr. Mueller. "Rabbits should not be discarded because of any fancied danger lying in such grubs. The flesh of the rabbit should be cleaned in the ordinary fashion and is in all respects safe and palatable.

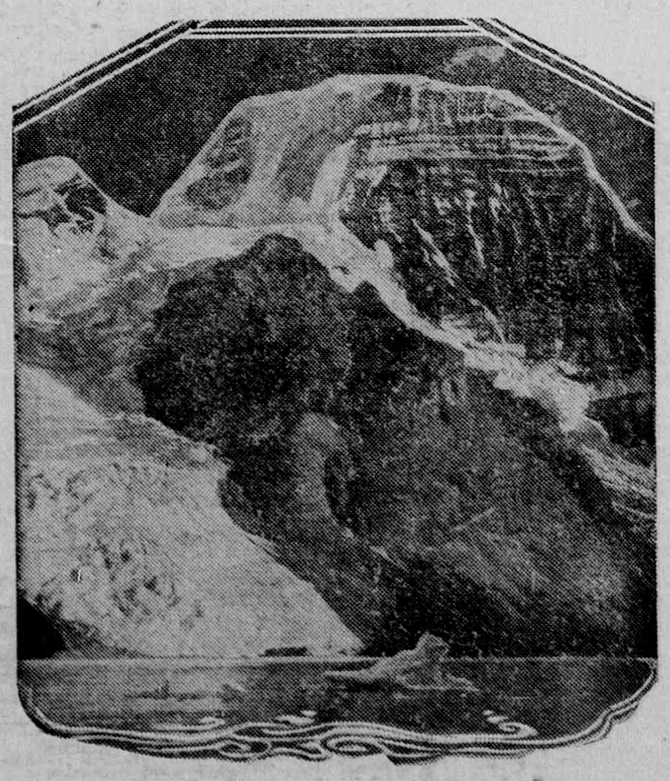
"A disease, however, of danger to man has been traced to rabbits," says Dr. Mueller. "This is the fever known as tularemia. The disease is contracted not through eating infected rabbits but through cuts or scratches sustained in cleaning and dressing them. The liver of a rabbit with tularemia is somewhat enlarged and is speckled with whittish dots. Any rabbits which appear weak or sick before shooting should be regarded with suspicion. There is little likelihood of its occurrence this far north, but it is wise to be on guard against it. If a rabbit has been opened and its liver found to be suspicious, it should be discarded at once and the hands carefully sterilized."

Would "Fertilize" Fish Ponds

Tests made by fisheries research scientists working under Canadian authorities have indicated that water may be "fertilized" in such a way as to greatly increase the plant and animal life.

Last year's production of whitefish from Canada's inland fisheries totalled nearly 15,786,000 pounds. The catch had a marketed value of about $1,445,000.

+ Do You Know? +



That one of the few advancing glaciers left in North America is this one that covers a large section of the northern slope of Mount Robson, British Columbia? It is known as the Tumbling Glacier because large bergs periodically break off from the toe of the glacier and crash into the lake in the foreground. One of these is seen floating in the lake. The lake is formed entirely by the melting snow and ice and it is one of the feeders of the Fraser River.

GIRL OF 20 WHO WEIGHED 196 LBS.

Tells How She Took 50 lbs. Off

AND IMPROVED HER COMPLEXION

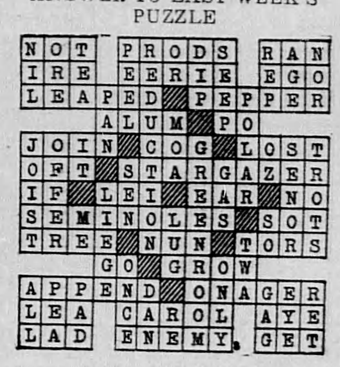
Are you the young lady of whom people are remarking, "How she is filling out!"? (That's a good-natured way of saying "getting fat.") If fat is slyly and stealthily distorting your youthful figure, you should grapple with it at once. At 20 years of age this girl was in its toils. Read how she unburdened her young body of 50 superfluous pounds.

"About 12 months ago I was considerably overweight, being on the small side and weighing nearly 196 lbs. at 20 years of age. I was also troubled with headaches and pains in the small of my back; heaviness on rising, with a very poor complexion which broke out in spots every so often. Since taking Kruschen Salts all these conditions have disappeared. I have now gone down to normal weight, being 146 lbs., have a lovely complexion, and rise in the morning with no heaviness whatever."—(Miss) H.P.

The formula of Kruschen represents the residual salts of those famous European Spas whose waters have been taken from time immemorial for excess fat. These salts ensure a perfectly natural clearance of undigested food substances and all excessive watery waste matter. When this wastage is allowed to accumulate, the body's chemistry is liable to store it up out of the way in the form of fatty tissue. Once Kruschen gets into your blood, disfiguring fat commences to melt away from your ankles and calves; your double chin commences to vanish, hips become slender; you won't lose 4 or 5 lbs. a day or anything foolish like that, but almost before you realize it pound by pound disappears—until you finally have the fashionable figure you have always desired.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

ANSWER TO LAST WEEK'S PUZZLE



Arms and the League

By J. Ramsay MacDonald

The National Government cannot think of Europe and the world without the League of Nations. We stand by the League, we stand by the covenant of the League.

We want the disarmament conference to deliver something well and truly laid which will not become something belonging merely to the formal moral coinage of the word. I want a disarmament which will be a real contribution to the present problem of establishing peace.

I am not sure we have not perhaps played the part of peacemaker a little too long, but I would rather be blamed for that than for precipitating a situation which would make an agreement impossible. The keynote of our policy is not rearmament but disarmament.

YOUR LIVER'S MAKING YOU FEEL OUT OF SORTS

Wake up your Liver Bile —No Calomel needed

When you feel blue, depressed, sour on the world, that's your liver which isn't pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels.

Digestion and elimination are being slowed up, food is accumulating and decaying inside you and making you feel wretched.

Mere bowel-movers like salts, oil, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum, or roughage, don't go far enough.

You need a liver stimulant. Carter's Little Liver Pills is the best one. Safe. Purely vegetable. Sure. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. 25c. at all druggists. 52
