Priceville

Death visited this vicinity again last week. Jessie McDonald, beloved wife of Malcolm McDonald, south line, Artemesia, passed away on the morning of the 25th, aged 64 years. Deceased had been in poor health for some time, the ailment terminating in dropsy. Her five sons, Hector, Malcolm, Dan, John and Alex, with her son-in-law, Jos. Ferris, were pallbearers at the funeral on the 26th, to the village cemetery, where a daughter was laid to rest some years ago. The husband, five sons and two daughters—one lives at home—are mourning the the loss of a dear wife and mother. Rev. W. F. Roach officiated at house and grave, instead of Rev. J. A. Matheson, who has been unwell for some days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ostrander of the 19th, Proton, have returned after spending a month visiting relatives in Michigan and sunny Tennessee Mr. A. has no use for the South. He says, "We have better farms and farmers in Ontario."

Mr. Carmichael, our public school principal, has been off duty for a few days with inflammation of the eyes. We trust that he may speedily recover from such a painful ailment.

Mrs. Alex. Whyte, who has been at Toronto hospital for some days and was treated for some ailment, is said to be getting along nicely. We are glad to hear that it is not cancer, as some at first feared.

Miss May Ferguson has been with her grandmother, and other friends in Shelburne for the last two weeks.

Electric Railway.

A Mr. Spence, representing the Huron & Ontario electric railway, was in town on Saturday interviewing Mr. R. J. Sproule, a director of the company. The Advance had the pleasure of looking over a map of the proposed route, which includes a line from Owen Sound by way of Meaford, Thornbury, Flesherton and Shelburne to Beeton and Toronto, and another from Kincardine east to Flesherton. The route from here to Toronto would be the same length as on the existing line, but the company claim they could make it in an hour less time. Altogether the company's lines are intended to cover a distance of 400 miles. The proposition is to erect a system capable of using either steam or electricity, but the intention is to make it electric, using the Harmsworth third rail system which has proven so satisfactory in other places. The company is now getting thoroughly organized for business and Mr. Spence says it is the intention to build the Owen Sound to Beeton section this summer. Intentions sometimes miscarry, but let us hope it will not be so in this case.

A homeless old man named Balzar Smith came to the farm of Andrew Stroeder on the 8th concession of Carrick on Tuesday, and asked for a night's lodging. This was freely given, and the old man retired for the night. The next morning the lodger did not come downstairs, and Mrs. Stroeder went up to his room, there to find the poor old man dead in bed.—Hanover Post.

An owen Sound land syndicate have disposed of a large section of Saskatchewan and Alberta lands to New York and Ohio farmers, who will locate there this spring. There are about 15,000 settlers assured for the west through this source alone.

Grey County Council will hold its June session in Meaford.

Thamesville council has granted the editor of the local paper $12 for publishing the council minutes in 1905. Who says corporations are soulless?

Mr. Thos. Taylor received the joyful news on Saturday that his son, G. W., and his wife, who were reported among the lost in the wrecked steamship "Valencia" off the western coast of Vancouver Island, were safe, but particulars are not yet known how they made their escape, as they were passengers on the ill-fated vessel returning to Nelson, B. C., from visiting friends here. Mr. Taylor and family spent a couple of anxious days awaiting the arrival of the message, the names of his son and wife being amongst those reported in the daily papers as having gone down with the vessel. We rejoice with Mr. Taylor and family in the news which has brought them such great relief.—Standard.

A few years ago Miss Gordon, a well to do elderly lady of Glencoe, secured as maid a young girl named Martha Collier from the Barnardo Home, Toronto. Miss Gordon and the girl became very much attached to each other. About two months ago Miss Gordon, having recovered her health, decided to give up her maid. They went to the station together, but the strain of parting was too great, and Miss Collier returned home with Miss Gordon, A few days later Miss Gordon regularly adopted the girl, making her her legal daughter. Two weeks ago Miss Gordon caught a severe cold; pneumonia set in and the latter part of last week she died. Miss Gordon had property estimated to be worth about $20.000. So far no will has been found. Unless one is found, Miss Collier, the adopted daughter will receive the entire estate.

The Crawford tug Company of Wiarton last week made a record never before equalled on the Georgian Bay. About 25 tons of freight having accumulated there for northern points, and the roads being bad, the Messrs. Crawford contracted to deliver it by boat at Lion's Head. The Hodgson was loaded on Thursday and made a start, but the sea being rough about Cape Croker, the boat returned. On Friday Captain Crawford gathered a gang of experienced sailors and made another start, succeeding in reaching Lion's Head, 35 miles north, in a little over four hours. After unloading the freight the boat returned on Sunday with the thermometer below zero, and had to break her way through four inches of ice to her dock. The crew report the trip just exciting enough to be interesting. This is the first record of navigating the Georgian Bay in February.
