Dr. Sheard on Vaccination

In view of the controversy which has taken place in these columns regarding vaccination we publish the following sentiments, expressed by Dr. Sheard, medical health officer of Toronto:

I would like to ask, said the Dr., what protects my nurses, who live among and wait upon smallpox patients for weeks together? What protects the ordinary ward tender, who sweeps up the wards, attends to the fires, and assists in bathing smallpox patients? What protects the young house surgeon, permanently in the building with smallpox patients? Is it a mere coincidence that no nurse or attendant was ever known in connection with our hospital to contract smallpox? Whilst very seldom among the inmates of a quarantined house subsequent cases appear, simply and solely because such inmates have been exposed when improperly vaccinated. As far as vaccination producing innumerable ills, the public is always pleased to fix som excuse for their misfortunes, and now I do not know what they will do for one. I have been vaccinated 26 times in one year. I have been vaccinated and revaccinated many times since, and if it be true that vaccine virus is such a damnable concoction of impurity, I would be dead, but instead I am one of the healthiest specimens the city can produce, and have never lost ten days work from illness since my appointment fourteen years ago.

The Powder Exploded

A serious explosion occurred at Ayton at 5.15 Thursday last when the large general store of Aaron Wenger was almost completely destroyed by the accidental explosion of a keg of powder from which Alex. Wagner, a clerk, was weighing some out. The entire building was wrecked, and the loss is about $2000. The explosion, which almost totally wrecked the store, was caused by A. Wagner, one of the clerks. He had opened a keg of powder to weigh some out. After doing so he placed the lid on the keg. Some grains were left on top of the lid, when it was suggested by an onlooker to try the powder. Wagner lit a match and applied it to the powder on top of the keg, but it did not work on the instant. He was in the act of applying another match when the whole keg exploded. Wagner is frightfully burned. He was found lying at the foot of the 18-foot embankment at the rear of the building with his clothes on fire. His recovery is doubtful. Messrs. Widmeyer, Votier and Hoeminge were the onlookers. They are also badly burned about the hands and face. Drs. Faston and Brown were hurriedly on the scene and dressed their wounds. The force of the explosion shattered the walls, ceilings, and swept windows and sashes out of the building. A fire started but was quickly extinguished. All had a miraculous escape from instant death. The force of the explosion was felt all through the town.

The average expense per inmate in the Grey House of Refuge last year was 5½c per meal. Our old people in the House of Refuge are not sitting down to feasts such as Belshazar's banquet when the average is only 5½c. per meal.—Ayton Advance.

Catarrh Cured

Catarrh is offensive—more than that it is the forerunner of worse diseases. Catarrh spreads from the nose to the throat where it sometimes prepares the sufferer for diphtheria; it spreads to the stomach and bowels where it generates the worst kind of indigestion; consumption, even, has been known to be helped along by catarrh.

If your breath is bad, you had better sweeten it up by getting catarrh out of your system. You should take something that will kill the disease germs, tone up your general health and particularly revitalize and invigorate the mucous membranes which catarrh especially attacks. Don't fuss and fail with snuffs and sprays—get right straight at the disease by using the greatest of tonics, tissue builders and blood purifiers
