MAIN STREET

Many visitors to the Victoria County Manor invariably pause to compliment Superintendent Laughie Keeler and Superintendent of Nurses Mrs. Keeler on the immaculate cleanliness of the Institution and the apparent contentment of the men and women who are domiciled in the Manor. The residents include a large number of paying men and women.

Residents of the Manor have well regulated facilities for reading, viewing TV, listening to favorite radio programs, and they frequent the auditorium to listen to and watch favorite stars of the entertainment world. Several listen to the news broadcasts, including early morning, noon and bedtime newcasts and to special Sabbath Day programs. Many listen to the "Back to the Bible" program and others to the Don Messer folk songs and tunes, and a number keep in touch with news and events of the day.

The meal hours are naturally a blessing enjoyed by all. Victoria Manor is a Home citizens and paying ratepayers of town and county may be proud to be a part of.

Senior residents at the Manor, happy and contented include good people like: Mrs. S. Brokenshire 96, Mrs. Hat-tie Carter 90, Mrs. Cordelia

Harris 90, David Kennedy 92, Mrs. Bertha King 93, Mrs. Sophia Maunder 95, Rev. P. C. and Mrs. Reed both 92.

Over 500 fans had plenty to yell about at the Kiwanis Arena a few nights ago when the local pucksters trimmed the Whitby team rather easily but nevertheless had to travel at top speed. Now that the fans have a taste of hockey fever they will be back again for more excitement.

Rink manager Harry Johnson apparently went over the arena with a "tooth brush and cleaner" for everything was in fine order and very presentable. Recent improvements in accommodation and a liberal application of paint has resulted in a rink citizens of Lindsay and district can well be proud of.

Lindsay has been indirectly in the news lately. Considerable squabbling has taken place lately with the announcement that Ryerson Press, Toronto, has been taken over by interests in the United States.

Ryerson was a very familiar name at Sturgeon Point several years ago where the Ryerson boys spent their summers. Ryerson Press is controlled largely by William Clarke Sr. and Wm. Clarke Jr. The first mentioned Clarke was born in Lindsay, a son of Dr. Clarke, and he received his early education in Lindsay. The Deyell Printing Co. of Lindsay had the good fortune to print a number of books for the Clarke Irwin Company. . .
