Industrial Home Notes

(By an Inmate)

We noticed in last week's issue that there was an omission of two or three lines in reference to the divine services of this house, which made the reading of the item incomplete. The item should have read: We have heard of some county Houses of Refuge in a similar position and the inmates very seldom meet together for divine worship. Again there are others where an ordained minister and also an organist if we remember aright are engaged and receive a remuneration for their services. During the past week we have been authentically informed that in both instances our information has been correct. With regard to the services we have no fault to find as they have been conducted regularly since the opening of the institution mainly by the superintendent, at the same time it must be an arduous duty on him considering the many and various duties involved on him during the week which take up too much of his time to give the wonted study to the subject to be listened to by the intelligent audience which gathers at our service every Sunday. True, there are two or there gentleman in Markdale who occasionally relieve him by taking his place and to whom he is no doubt most thankful, yet, while they are taking his place it frequently occurs that he is filling some minister's appointment elsewhere. It is also true that the regularly ordained ministers residing in Markdale have sufficient duties each Sabbath by filling their regular appointments in the rural communities, therefore we cannot in truth blame them, but on the other hand should feel thankful to them for a Sabbath service whenever they can snatch the opportunity, even if it be only once or twice a year. They frequently visit, read and pray with us some day during the week, for which we should feel grateful, and no doubt some of us are, but, not all.

The plumbers completed their job altering the sewer and water pipes and a better job we believe could not have been done, no not even by a watchmaker.

When the new driveway was being graded one of the old fellows remarked, it would be nice if they would only put a good fountain in the middle of that circle while they are about it. Yes, comrade, it would, but would'nt it be nicer still if when doing that, they would put on some nice comfortable seat, plant some nice shade trees, erect a few nice ivy-covered summer-houses, and best of all construct a level, hard drive, with asphalt, or cement about four feet wide, so that, in fine weather I could take a few hours daily exercise in my tricycle? If they would do that, comrade, I would willingly contribute seven cents towards defraying the cost of it's construction. O, happy thought.

Tom Derby, the old pay inmate recently admitted, still continues to be a night y disturber of his comrades' slumbers by rising and rambling wherever he can find his way to lose himself at all hours of the night, visiting every room he can get access to—tramp, tramp, tramp, but knows nothing about it next day and frequently asks, did ah stop in this hoose last nicht, can ah stop here the nicht? Hoo muckle do ye charge mah fer stopping? Ah coomb'd hire to wark, said he to me the other evening, but there seems to be naething adeuing roond here. O, don't make yourself uneasy, Tom, on that score, you'l get no pay for your work anyway. Na pay? Weel then, na pay, nae work, ah winna wark fer ony body wi'oot pay. Three or four nights ago he got up about the small hours, went down to the basement and into the washroom, turned on the hot water tap, letting all the breakfast water run away from the kitchen boiler; the breakfast was late that morning. Sometimes he slips away unobserved to the village begging tobacco. Mr. H. had to go after him the other morning. He is a very heavy smoker. The poor old fellow is perfectly harmless and converses rationally enough, yet requires constant watching day and night to keep him in bounds. It is quite likely his friends will be requsted to take him away or pay some one to look after him as report says the old fellow owns enough money to keep him decently the remainder of his life. He is certainly a source of great trouble here, but the poor old man can't help it.

Herb. Robinson, Stone's Line, paid a visit to his sister Miss R., of the staff, on Sunday last.

The matron desires to kindly thank Mrs. Sam Bowles, of Vandeleur, for a pair of fine geese, one for the staff and a large one for the male inmates' Christmas dinner. Your scribe never eats goose, nevertheless he feels equally thankful to the good lady and guarantees the thanks of his comrades for their first Christmas goose. Mr. B. would have delayed her gift until later in the month but did not expect to again be at Markdale before that time. It is with Mr. and Mrs. Bowles that Mr. John Cameron, our late comrade, resides. He is highly pleased with the place and they are equally satisfied with him

On Sunday the 25th inst., Mr. Crone, of Markdale officiated at the divine service. As a pulpit orator Mr. C is widely known and his discourses never fail to attract the close attention of his hearers. Yesterday we had the pleasure of listening to Rev. J S. I. Wilson, who preached a well worded and appropriate sermon chiefly for the benefit of the inmates and applicable to aged people everywhere, taking for his text Isaiah 46. 4. Read it. Miss Dunnington of the staff presided at the organ and Mr. Ennis conducted the after meeting. Mr. Harnes filled Rev. Mr. Wilson's appointment at Harkaway in the afternoon.

No opium in Chamberlain'sCough Remedy

There is not the least danger in giving Chamberlains Cough Remedy to small children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug. It has an established reputation of more than thirty years as the most successful medicine in use for colds, croup and whooping cough. It always cures and is pleasant to take. Children like it. Sold by W.E.Richardson.

The Electric Railway

President Kilgore Outlines the Great Scheme.

President Kilgour, of the Huron and Ontario Railway, attended a public meeting held in Owen Sound last week to discuss the Huron & Ontario Electric railway prospects, and according to the Times outlined the scheme as follows: In brief, the scheme as outlined by Mr. Kilgore is to construct an electric railway from Whitby to Toronto, thence to Owen Sound by way of Tottenham, Flesherton, Meaford and Thornbury, the survey for which was completed on Wednesday evening of last week. Then across to Southampton and south along the Lake Huron shore to Goderich, with a line running east from Kincardine, to Hopeville, and continuing south from Goderich to Parkhill, Sarnia and Windsor. In other words the proposed road would girdle Ontario, touching all the lakes at the leading centres. The distance from Owen Sound to Toronto would be one hundred and fifty two miles which could be covered in from three and a half to four hours. They would have a grade not exceeding one per cent., with a curvature of not more than six degrees. Electric locomotives would be used. The cost of construction would be greater than a steam road, though the cost of overating would be a third less each year. Both passenger and freight rates would be less. He denied that the Canadian Northern or any other company were back of their company. In reply to a question Mr. Kilgore said, they were not prepared to say who their financial backers were but that their bonds had been sold in London, England. for eleven million dollars, and this could be verified by any one calling at their office in Toronto. They were desirous of obtaining a franchise from the town to perate a street railway system in connection with their general road.

King of all cough medicines.

Mr. E. G. Case, a mail carrier of Canton Center, Conn., who has been in the U. S. Service for about sixteen years, says: "We have tried many cough medicines for croup, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is king of all and one to be relied on every time. We also find it the best remedy for coughs and colds, giving certain results and leaving no bad after effects." For sale by W.E.Richardson.

Killed at Clarksburg.

Malcolm McEachren and George Goldsmith, both of Clarksburg, were struck by the evening G. T. R. train at the crossing just below Craigleith when driving home from Collingwood last Wednesday night. McEachren, who owned the team, was killed instantly, and Goldsmith's skull was badly fractured. They were picked up by the train men and brought on to Thornbury station. Goldsmith was returned to Collingwood Hospital and McEacheran's body was removed to Idles' undertaking establishment. Coroner Hurlburt was called and after considering the statements of train men and passengers decided that the company was not responsible and deemed an inquest unnecessary. McEachern leaves a wife and two children. Goldsmith has a widowed mother, with whom he lived. The horses were also killed.

Dealers say that those who have used Chamberlains Stomach and Liver Tablets are quite loyal to them and can not be persuaded to take any substitute. Get a free sample at W. E. Richardson's drug store, give them a trial, and you too, will want them in preference to any other. They cure stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation.

Box Social at Ceylon

On Tuesday evening Ceylon L. O. L. held their annual box social, which was a decided success from every point of view. The weather was favorable and the hall was crowded long before the program commenced. Had the Orangemen a much larger building it would have been filled also, as it was quite impossible for every person to find room in the small building. However, as the proceeds of the night are to be used for the purpose of enlarging the hall and putting a basement underneath we will doubtless see an improvement in the near future. Mr. R. J. Sproule of Flesherton discharged the duties of chairman in a very pleasing and efficient manner and a splendid program was rendered. Prof. Logan, vocalist of Owen Sound, was present and kept the audience merry with his humorous selections. Master Alex. McDonald and his sister, Miss Jessie, danced the Highland fling to perfection and also gave a splendid exhibition of the sword dance. Both times they were encored and good naturedly responded. They were accompanied on the bagpipes by Mr. Hector McDonald, who also gave some pleasing selections during the evening. Some violin music by J. Brodie was well received as was also that given by Mr. Wilson McMullen and Geo. Cairns on the violin and mouth organ accompanied on the organ by Miss McLeod. Eight little girls gave a very pleasing drill and the string band plainly showed that Ceylon can produce some musicians that the general public are not aware of. Towards the end of the program the chairman auctioned off the boxes that the ladies had brought and the money realized on them, together with the door receipts, amounted to about $85.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

There is no other medicine manufactured that has received so much praise and so many expressions of gratitude as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is effective and prompt relief follows its use. Grateful parents everywhere do not hesitate to testify to its merits for the benefit of others. It is a certain cure for croup and will prevent the attack if given at the first appearance of the disease. It is especially adapted to children as it is pleasant to take and contains nothing injurious. Mr. E A. Humphreys, a well known resident and clerk in the store of E. Locke, of Alice, Cape Colony, South Africa, says: "I have used Chamberlains Cough Remedy to ward off croup and colds in my family. I found it to be very satisfactory and it gives me pleasure to recommend it." For sale by W.E.Richardson.

The Ontario Government purpose importing an insect from Spain to seize on the codling moth. The codling moth is an apple pest. California has just been experimenting with the Spanish moth eater and the experiment has been a success. Hon. Nelson Monteith says that the Department of Agriculture will have to take the matter up and introduce the insects here. It will be a grand thing if we can produce apples without worm holes.

A destructive fire occurred at lot 9, con. 2, Sydenham, on Wednesday morning last week It started in a house owned by Mr. James Moffatt and occupied by Mr. Simon Johnston of Elmbedge. The building was completely destroyed, together with the contents. The wind caused the flames to spread to the barn, which was also consumed, as were most of the contents, including sleighs, cutters, cutting box and a quantity of hay. Origin of fire unknown. There was a small insurance on house and barn but none on contents.—Meaford Express.
