Fot often does any church lose two adult members by death in one day, yet such was the case in the Priceville Baptist Church on Sunday. At 2 p. m. Sunday, Rev. L. F. Kipp conducted the funeral service for Mrs. Archibald McLean, of the South Line, and at 4 p. m. Donald McArthur was laid away to his rest by the same minister.

Our apology is due Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Stuart and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Smart, of Kimberley, for a mix up in last week's Kimberley items. A birth was credited to the former which belonged to the latter. An attempt to correct the error after some papers had been mailed only made matters worse. Fate appears to work some queer antics sometimes. We apologize all round and will try to see that it does not occur again.

Railway construction on the Proton-Walkerton branch of the C. P. R. will soon cease for the winter, as it is impossible to do satisfactory work after the ground is frozen hard. Provincial Inspector of Continuation Classes, Cowley, inspected the continuation class of our public school on Thursday of last week and expressed himself as pleased with the condition of affairs. Inspector Campbell, of Durham, accompanied him. Mr. Cowley is a new officer, the office having been created at the last session of the legislature in order to bring the work of continuation classes more in touch with the education department. Inspector Cowley fostered the work of the public schools in Carleton county to such a degree and developed such a remarkable enthusiasm for them among the people that there are in that county nineteen public schools doing high school work.

Jim Hopps, who left here with the Huron & Ontario surveyors, four weeks ago to drive D. McTavish s livery team, returned home on Friday last after staying with the contingent untill it reached Woodbridge, where work was suspended. W. Fields, who was axeman for the party, is also home. The team has been secured to do more work in this vicinity, but there is a possibility that it will not be required until next spring, although the engineers said they might probably be back in about three weeks. One or two more try lines will have to be surveyed out of the valley at this point, and a better route will have to be secured across from Shelburne to Tottenham, where a difficult piece of engineering is encountered. The road will run from Tottenham to Woodbridge, thence into the city. This Huron and Ontario proposition is the largest one of its kind this country (and probably any other) has ever had to consider. The line, according to Mr. Kilgour, will be more costly to build than a steam road, and as an electric railway, will be a pioneer in long distance construction. It will no doubt take several years to complete the system, but the main line from Owen Sound to Toronto ought to be running in a couple of years. The magnitude of the undertaking has tended to make many people skeptical, but the statement made by the president and referred to elsewhere, will certainly go a long way towards breaking down this skepticism. The doubting Thomases are "taking to the bush."

One of the most profitable addresses ever delivered in Flesherton was that given in the Baptist church last Friday evening by Rev. B. W. Merrill, B.A., B.D. the General Superintendent of the Ontario Baptist Sunday Schools. The audience was not large—the evening was very unfavorable—but a majority of the S. S. teachers of the village were present. After devotional exercises led by Pastors Kipp and Thom, Mr. Merrill gave an address on "The Teacher—his Work and Qualifications." At the close of this address, a conference was conducted and the problems of Sabbath School work was discussed by Mr. Merrill and others The chief questions were concerning Teacher's meetings, Teacher training meetings, the Cradle Roll and the Home Department. The Superintendent had with him, too, a fine exhibit of diplomas, cards, etc. for use in the different departments of up-to-date schools as well as a number of standard text books for teachers. As this was his last appointment on this trip, the different books were purchased by the teachers present. Mr. Matthew Richardson and Rev. L. W. Thom spoke words of the heartiest appreciation of the service. Mr. Merrill left on the morning train Saturday for Belleville. We hope to give next week a fuller report of this address, which will we feel sure, be of very great interest to the hundreds of Sunday school workers among our subscribers.
