Before another issue of The Advance the Christmas season will have passed. When eating your Christmas turkey and plum pudding remember that this paper hopes it may taste good to every reader and that there will be no evil after effects. There will be a large number of homecomers and family re-unions. May we all enjoy a very merry Christmas.

Mr. James Stinson of the Toronto line presented The Advance last week with a basket of crab apples which he had preserved as fresh as when they came from the tree. This was effected by storing them in leaf mould, slightly dampened. Crab apples are usually a very ephemeral fruit, spoiling a short time after picking, but by this method they can evidently be kept for a long time.

A number of citizens attended the new Methodist church opening in Markdale on Suuday last. This church has been erected at a cost of $23,000, and $11,000 of this had to be raised by subscription, the balance accruing from insurance on the old building. At the services on Sunday the full $11,000 was raised, which places the church absolutely free of debt. Of course the subscriptions extend over a period of four years. Nine citizens of Markdale put down their names for $500 each and the church societies subscribed $1000 between them. The new building is a handsome edifice with gallery all round and auditorium raised at the rear after theatre fashion. Dedication will take place next Sunday. It will certainly add to the enthusiasm and pleasure of future services to know that the costs in connection with this beautiful house of worship are fully provided for before the day of dedication.

The Advance man visited the tunneling work at Eugenia on Thursday last and found the work still progressing slowly with 150 feet yet to excavate. About two feet per day is all that can be accomplished owing to the extremely difficult nature of the material through which they have to penetrate, and notwithstanding the fact that work goes on continuously, day and night. It will probably be the end of February before this 869 feet of tunneling is completed. The stone and cement facings are now in place and give each entrance quite an imposing air. A second dam for storage will be erected at the Maxwell sideroad, eight miles east of Eugenia, which will be of immense capacity and will back the water as far up as Feversham, 1½ miles further east. The contract for these dams will likely be let this winter so that material may be got on the ground while there is snow. Mr. B. F. Beesor, the company's engineer, was on the ground last week.

An auction sale of farm stock and implements will be held on lot 53, N. D. R. Glenelg, on Thursday, Dec. 27, at 1 p.m., the property of Sarah Ann Morrow. D. McPhail, auctioneer.

Seldom does a church give its Sunday school scholars as good an evening as the Priceville Presbyterian gave their children last Friday night. It is to be regretted that the ice storm prevented many from enjoying the good things provided. After tea had been served in the basement, an excellent program was rendered in the auditorium of the church. The little ones gave the usual Christmas recitations while the music was furnished by the members of the choir and consisted of a solo, a duet, a quartet and a chorus. Rev. Mr. Roach, of the Methodist church, conveyed the Christmas greetings of his people. The address of the evening was given by Rev. Lewis F. Kipp, B. A., of Flesherton, who chose as his subject, "Jim Dumps, or Sunny Jim—which?" Miss Irving, of Hamilton, a most gifted elocutionist, made her first appearance before a Priceville audience. A monologue entitled, "Bridget, the cook" and "A night in the hotel bar" simply convulsed the whole audience, young and old. A selection from Ian McLaren, "The Death of the old Scott" was exceptionally well rendered. As encores Miss Irving gave a number of lighter pieces.
