A large number of friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Genoe, who were recently married, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McGee on Friday evening of last week and spent a few enjoyable hours. The heroine of the song was his wife, formerly Maggie Clark, and the scene was on Twenty Mile Creek in Wentworth County, near Hamilton, where both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were born about 1859. BEEF CATTLE

The progressive steps in growing a beef steer are first to develop by continuous growth a large frame well covered with muscle and never entirely denude of fat; then to deposit on this body of frame and muscle the fat necessary to give the animal the desired finish. To achieve the first step requires a ration rich in bone and muscle building feeds according to local conditions; to accomplish the second step a somewhat similar ration is needed at first, but gradually changed to one containing a larger proportion of fat producing carbonaceous foods, such as corn, barley and peas.

Increases should be gradual. The condition of the steers should be watched and the grain feed fitted to the rate of progress, so as to keep the steers gaining steadily to have them fit to sell by the date at which it is planned to market them.
