Industrial Home Notes

(By an Inmate)

Robert Smith, referred to in last weeks notes as being in a very low condition, passed peacefully away about 8 o'clock p.m. on Saturday last, after one week's confinement to his bed. On Monday morning he rallied and appeared quite lively; on Tuesday he was able to take food, which he appeared to greatly enjoy, and expressed a desire to get up, but was prevailed upon to keep his bed until he felt a little stronger. A day or two later he took a change for the worse and fell into a semi-conscious condition, finally becoming unconscious, in which condition he remained for the last twenty hours o his existence. A few moments previous to becoming totally unconscious he recognized the matron standing at his bedside, held out his hand, which she took in hers, and he wished her good-by. These, I think, were his last words. For the past fifteen years he had been in a very nervous condition, and when admitted to the home as a pay inmate two years ago he was excessively so as well as nearly blind, but firm on his feet and elastic in step. He was, however, rapidly merging into second childhood and memory was almost gone, frequently causing him to talk in a very vague manner and imagining all kinds of theories. In other respects he enjoyed to a large extent good health and appetite for one who had reached the ripe old age of 84 years. He was a long life and devoted adherent of the Methodist church, of which he was a consistent member. He had led a true christian life, and while here was very devout and fervent in his desire to serve God and to induce others to follow his example; he was never known while here to utter an angry, profane or unkind word to anyone around him, was intelligent, notwithstanding his second childhood, and there is no doubt but that his long and faithful journey on earth has led him to a happy, eternal life in heaven. His remains were interred in Markdale cemetery by relatives on Monday.

Andrew Kelly was granted a couple of days leave of absence on the 1st inst., but has not yet returned, and it is quite probable that his absence will be self prolonged until frost, snow and hard weather terminates his leave and drives him back to the shelter of the house of refuge.

Alexander McLellan was discharged on the 2nd inst., his 2½ months term of admittance having expired. Alex has spent three winter seasons at the home not being sufficiently robust to stand outside labor in winter. Wm. Wiggins of Markdale and John Hillis of Craigleith took their departure Monday. One or two others will leave at the end of this or beginning of next week, while others again purpose severing their connection with the home during the next two months; even your scribe entertains the hope (however hopeless) of sometime taking his departure and not having to end his days in a house of refuge, however good it may be. If all go who are contemplating doing so, very few will be left who are able to assist in the planting of corn, potatoes, etc.

The House Committee met in the [illegible] office on Friday afternoon last for [illegible] erly business transactions in [illegible] with the institution.

[illegible] glad to notice in Stone Settlement [illegible] of last week's issue that his young friends, Roy Fletcher and Miss Laura Whittaker, were taking a course of instruction in higher class educational institutions and hopes they will succeed in passing creditable exams. with honors.

John Teesdale, a respectable old inmate who has been for several weeks severely suffering from some disease affecting the right eye, with severe pains through the temple and the whole of his head, was examined at Dr. Ego's request by Dr. Burt, eye and ear specialist, on Friday last, who pronounced it to be an abscess and recommended that John be sent to Owen Sound Hospital for further examination and treatment as soon as possible. It is expected that an operation will be necessary.

Your cor. is restored to his usual condition of health and feels like outliving a few years.

Portlaw

Intended for last week

Mr. Richard McMullen took unto himself a life partner on Wednesday, March 27th, in the person of Miss Mary McLennan, daughter of the late Mr. William McLennan. Further particulars of the happy event are not to hand. We extend congragulations.

Mr John Haney Sr. lies in a critical condition with what his doctor has diagnosed a cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Robert Hill had the misfortune to cut one of his feet quite severely last week. He displayed more than the average amount of courage by sitting down and stitching and dressing the wound himself.

Willie White, a little boy who lives with his grandfather, Mr. F. Shier, is down with inflammation of the lungs.

Mr and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Markdale, visited with old neighbors last week.

Mr. Alex. Anderson, who had his hands severely burned at the time his house was destroyed, is improving but very slowly; and it may be a long time before he is able to work.

Mr. Wm. T. Clark has removed to the 12th consession, to engage in saw milling. Mr. Shires takes possession of the farm which Mr. Clark has vacated.

Mrs. James Wilson has been laid up for some time, but is recovering.

Mr. James McLennan arrived home from Lions Head to attend his sister's wedding.

When Children are Sick.

They eat something that disagrees, catch cold, have cramps or colic. If there is pain just apply Nerviline,—it's good to rub on, and for the inside it's most comforting. Effective and pleasant, you can't find a household panacea to equal Polson's Nerviline. Used with satisfaction for half a century and in better demand every day because it does stop pain, ease suffering and cures the thousand and one ills that constantly arise in the family. Large bottles at all dealers for 25c.

Treas., Jasper Stuart; Referee, Geo. Cairns; Medicine man, Earnest Proctor. Committee—Fred Hutchinson, Leslie Lawrence, William Read, Jasper Gilbert, Harry Thompson. Auditors—Robert Lawrence, Fred Stuart.

Frank Rennie Dead.

Frank Rennie of Victoria Corners passed away on Thursday last, after a short illness of pneumonia, at the age of 37 years. Mr. Rennie was highly esteemed and had been employed by Mr. James Best, of that place for the past twenty years. He was an Orangeman and master of the Proton Station lodge, which turned out on Saturday in full force to do honor to a deceased comrade, when the remains were laid to rest in Flesherton cemetery. Deceased was widely and favorably known and the fueral was a large one. On the bier was a beautiful arch of flowers, presented by his lodge, and a lovely wreath of carnations, cream roses and lilies of the valley, presented by George and Ella Best. Deceased leaves his wife, who was a Miss Tucker of Dromore, and two daughters. To mourn the loss of a kind and loving father. Much sympathy is expressed for the widow and her little daughter in their breavement.

The Thompson-Patterson Case.

Hugh Thompson of Osprey, who was committed for trial last week by A. S. Vandusen, J.P., has been granted bail. This case has created a great deal of interest on account of a sidelight which was brought out at the trial and which has placed Solicitor Birnie of Collingwood and Dr. Parks of Feversham in a rather unenviable position. It was sworn by the Pattersons that Dr. Parks brought them to his office and got them to sign something, after which he advised them to see Mr. Birnie. The girl swore she made her mark but did not know what she was signing—it was not read over to her. The next day when they went to Birnie's office in Collingwood they found Parks there and Birnie seemed to know all about the case. He persuaded them that a civil action would pay them best. Mr. Birnie then wrote to Thompson, who went down and after hearing what Birnie had to say made a settlement, paying $600 in cash and giving a mortgage on his farm for $200. Birnie, then paid Parks $200 on Patterson's account, the Dr. having treated the family for typhoid fever. This is where Birnie and Patterson disagree. The former says this payment was made on Patterson's verbal order. Patterson says he never gave such an order. As a matter of fact none of the money was ever paid to Patterson, although the $200 mortgage was, according to Mr. Birnie, recently turned over to Patterson. In Mr. Birnie's evidence as given at the trial he said the balance of the money was there to be handed to the proper parties when be found out who they were. When Paterson went to Birnie for his money the latter said he could not hand it over as he heard there was likely to be a criminal action brought and he did not think it right to shoot a man with both barrels. The curiosity of this incident is that Mr. Bernie was engaged by Patterson to get what money he could, and after the settlement had been made undertook to protect Thompson from a double punishment by witholding the money from the man for whom it was paid. Both sides have been heard in the daily press, and the public is now awaiting further developments. There may not be anything further in the matter, or there may.

This aspect of the case, in the meantime, has rather overshadowed the criminal side of it.

Mr. Henry Moon of Wiarton has been advised by a firm of solicitors in the old country that an estate estimated to be worth twenty million dollars has been left to him and eleven others to be divided equally.
