COST OF PRODUCING MANGELS

The production of an acre of mangels requires approximately fifteen days of manual labor. In the past this item of expense has confined the growing of this crop to instances where labor is plentiful. This season, due to cheap labor and the high price of hay, mangels have proved to be a profitable crop. At the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, the Field Husbandry Division obtained a yield of 26.15 tons per acre this year at a cost of $47.68 per acre or $1.82 per ton. With hay valued at $12 per ton, and assuming that 600 lbs. of mangels are equal in feed value to 100 pounds of hay, mangels are worth $2 per ton.

A speaker at a by-election meeting asked his audience: "Are you Englishmen going to take all this lying down?"

"The reporters are doing that," someone shouted.—Exchange.

"But, my dear," bleated the poor little henpecked husband, "you've been talking for half an hour, and I haven't said a word."

"No," snapped his wife, "you haven't said anything, but you've been listening in a most aggravating manner, and I'm not going to stand for it."—Border Cities Star.

OLD FENDERS AS TOBOGGANS

During the past few years we have seen old cars used for almost every conceivable purpose. Some have been turned into trailers, some into two-wheel carts, others are serving as jiggers for the section men on the railways. But a youngster who was sitting as snug as a bug in a rug in an old fender and gliding merrily down an incline the other day, we believe has discovered an entirely new and delightful use for old automobile fenders.—Milverton Sun.

Parked Cars And Fined

Recently several Flesherton citizens were considerably inconvenienced when they paid a visit to our Queen City, Toronto, by being taken up to the city hall and being forced to disgorge $1 for supposedly having left their cars parked on the street for too long a period. Two of the drivers so treated did not have their cars parked longer than ten minutes and there was supposed to be a half hour parking at those places . Needless to say the action of the Toronto police in these cases did not make the gentlemen in question take the "cops" in their arms and kiss them for supposedly doing their duty. Apparently the city money bags were running low at the time of the imposing of the fines.

IN MEMORIAM

PAUL — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, who departed life January 15th, 1930.

Ever remembered by

—Wife and Family.

All governments have their problems. But it may be said for them that they all wanted the job.

Consider The Cow

If your advertisement was in this space as many people would read it as are reading this. But your advertisement is not here, and people do not worry whether you are selling real estate, gasoline, peanuts or popcorn.

Did you ever sit down in the pasture with a pail between your knees and wait for a cow to back up to be milked,

Of course not. You know better than that.

Well, business is somewhat like a cow. You've got to go after it and round it up. The fellow with the milk pail between his knees may get some milk, but the odds are all in favor of the fellow who drives up the cow and feeds her.

Some kind of advertising must be done if a business is to amount to anything. Either walking and talking or writing, or printing. But the leats costly, most profitable and dignified way is by the regular newspaper — people pay for it. They value it and have faith in the advertisements in it.
