Stone Settlement

(Intended for last week.)

The elections are now over for another year; five gentlemen, good and true, have been chosen vox populi, to represent them at the Municipal Council Board and we hope everybody is satisfied with the result.

We are now well emerged into the new year. The holiday season has passed and everybody seems to have quietly settled down to their several occupations and this terrestrial ball continues to revolve on its orbit just the same as at the beginning.

The days are getting perceptibly longer. The winter may be said to be half gone, yet the spinal cord is not yet broken. With one or two exceptions the fore part of the winter has been unusually mild, but some rough weather may naturally be expected ere old Sol shines forth with sufficient power to dispel the beautiful white carpet from under our feet and conquer the biting power of old Jack Frost; but let us cheerfully await the will of our Divine and Infinite Creator and all will come in due season and be well with the faithful.

Mr. Roy Fletcher returned to the Owen Sound Collegiate on Monday the 6th inst.

Miss Sadie Fletcher commenced her initial year as a public school teacher on Wednesday the 8th inst We predict a useful and eminently successful career for Miss Sadie, feeling assured that her aimable disposition and unremitting attentions to those under her charge, will cause the esteem and respect of both pupils and parents.

We very much regret to have learned of the sad accident which recently befel our esteemed friend, Mrs. P. Holman, but sincerely trust that she may speedily recover, and be restored to her family in her former good health. We also regret to learn that the injuries received in the Caledon wreck by Mr. Henry Holman have proved to be of so precarious a nature as to necessitate his removal to a Toronto hospital, but we sincerely hope he will soon recover and continue to be the head of his happy family circle for many years to come. We further trust that his case will be reconsidered by the railway company and that he will be more munificently compensated than hitherto, for the serious injuries he received.

Jack and Harry Hazzard with their father's horses, left here on Monday morning the 6th inst, to join their father, engaged at Seaman and Kent' saw mills, Dyer's Bay. They were accompanied by their sister, Miss Lavina, who saw their safe arrival at their destination and will return by stage to Wiarton, thence by rail, home, where she is expected to arrive today (Tuesday). The distance from here to Dyer's Bay is but little short of one hundred miles, and Miss H. displayed much pluck for a girl of nineteen, in undertaking so long and cold a journey to insure her younger brothers' safe arrival at their journey's end.

Mr. Albert Hazzard recently dug a new well near his house to a depth of thirty-four feet. He informs us that at present there is eighteen feet of good pure cold water, which is still slowly rising.

This Week's Items

The past week has been a stormy one, snow drifts in every direction and the roads in this locality rendered well-nigh impassible for pedestrians, and totally so for teams.

Miss Lavina Hazzard returned home from her trip to Dyers' Bay on Tuesday last. She will remember the drive for years to come. However, she landed the boys and team safely at their destination. It was well she went with them for there is no telling where or when the boys would have landed had she not accompanied them.

We are informed that Mr. James Whittaker, and child, of Alberta are visiting the former's cousin, Mr. R. Whittaker and family. J. W. left these parts with his parents, about twenty years ago, for South Dakota, where they resided several years, subsequently removing to the north west.

On Wednesday night last a number of residents of Stone's Settlement and west back line invaded and took unresisted possession of the handsome new brick residence of Mrs. T. McArthur and family obviously with the intention of running things ad lib. After a few formal negotiations the invaders sprang a great surprise on the inmates by revealing baskets well filled with a variety of choice viands. A little later on, a still greater surprise was sprung on Mrs. McC and Co., when Mr. E. Purdy rose to his feet and in a clear, audible voice, read, on behalf of those present and absent, an appropriate address, the object of the unexpected invasion. In the meantime Mr. D. Harrow, and others, busied themselves unloading from a sleigh an elegant parlor couch, centre table and fruit plate, which were introduced and duly presented to the worthy and astonished lady as a slight token of the esteem of her many friends and neighbors, trusting that she would live to enjoy the comforts of her hard-earned, but pleasant home, for many years to come. Mrs. Mc. in a few appropriate words expressed her gratitude for the very kind and unexpected proof of their friendship. Although during so many years of residence among them she could think of nothing she had ever done to merit so great a favor, but assured them that this occasion of their magnanimity would ever dwell in the gratitude chamber of her heart. After the presentation the merry party regaled themselves with a sumptuous repast, mingled with wit, humor and repartee. Music, vocal and instrumental, games, conundrums, speeches, etc., were indulged in until a late, or rather early, hour when the party separated for their respective homes well pleased with a well spent night in a laudable cause. P. S.—We have since been informed that owing to the inclemency of the weather and bad roads, many were prevented from being present and some of the more elderly ones present were obliged to remain until daylight before they could venture homewards. To the absent ones Mrs. Mc. desires to express her gratitude, and to Mrs. Mc. your cor. desires to express his thanks for a basket of good things.

10th Line Osprey

Pretty stormy weather the past week and the roads in bad condition, is the language of everyone we meet at the present time,

Miss Ada Kaitting of the 12th line spent a few days with her friend, Mrs. R. J. Colquett, last week.

Miss Rodgers spent Sunday at "Fair View Farm."

The Farmers' Institute of Centre Grey held their annual meeting in Maxwell on Saturday last when a very successful meeting was the result. The speakers, Miss Maddock, Mr. Campbell and Mr. Elliott, handled their subjects in a masterly manner. At the evening meeting the lectures, or talks, were interspersed by songs by Mr. Fairey, with Miss Elsie Brownridge as accompanist, and were heartily applauded.

Mr. R J. Colquett is in Toronto this week.

The trustees of No. 6 have secured a teacher—Miss Gill of St. Marys.

The funeral of the late Robert Brackenbury took place on Thursday last from Flesherton to Bethel cemetery.

Mr. Richard Brackenbury is on the sick list at present.

We understand that at the conference of the Holiness Workers church this fall that the pastor, Mr. B. Armstrong, was moved to Bayview, near Meaford, and Mr. C. McNicol takes Mr. Armstrong's work here. We wish Mr. Armstrong success in his work in his new field of labor. He preached his farewell sermon on Sunday last.

Do Your Boots Pinch?

If so, look out for a tiny corn. Cure it before it grows big. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is the best. Try "Putnam's."

PRICEVILLE

Abundance of snow.

The construction engines have been snow bound between here and Durham for some days. An effort will be made to get them to the junction immediately. The steel is laid to the Saugeen bridge at Hanover. The cement foundations for station buildings at Priceville and Durham are completed and the builders will be on hand to erect the buildings as soon as possible.

Mr. D. McIntyre of Durham is preparing to open a hardware businds in this town, and no doubt it will fill a long felt want.

Mr. O. McRae has moved into the late Crown hotel building, and several carpenters will now commence alerations on part of the house in order to fit it up for a store for the new purchaser, Mr. Aldcorn of Swinton Park.

We are glad to see Mr. Malcolm McInnes around again after his severe illness.

Mr. J. Burnett, South Line, who has been prostrated with pneumonia, is getting along nicely now.

Mr. Alex. Whyte, O.D.R., has been ailing and confined to the house more or less for the past two or three weeks.

Mr. W. Meads has not been in his usual health during the last month. He was out several miles from home and got his clothing wet, the day being very damp, and then drove home at night. He feels the bad effects ever since.

Mr. James Reid, 20th sideroad, has also been ailing for some time, and will now adopt treatment that will no doubt prove beni-ficial.

Mr. Malcolm McDougald, who has been in failing health for the last two years, passed away from this life on the morning of the 15th at the age of 77 years. He became rapidly worse a few days before his demise and nothing more could be done for him except an operation, which he could not survive On the evening of the last day he gathered all the members of his family, who were able to arrive at the old homestead, around his bedside and bade them farewell, and then his life ebbed away during the night, and at 8 the next morning his spirit took its flight. Deceased emigrated from Scotland when a young man about 19. He lived for a time in Proton and also in Egremont township and then moved to the present farm east of the village in the early 70's. The funeral took place on the 17th, when he was laid beside his wife, who preceded him two years ago. Rev. J. A. Matheson officiated at house and grave.

The annual meeting of Artemesia Agricultural Society was held here on the 17th, D. McMillan, Esq, President, in the chair. The meeting was very harmonious, as this society is succeeding so well every person connected with it is in excellent humor. The auditors' report showed a large surplus on hand. We expect to have an interesting statement from the secretary at an early date, published in the local papers.

Mrs. Riley was prostrated with paralysis on Saturday last and has been in a precarious condition ever since.
