Mrs. Hugh Walton is confined to her bed at present.

Mr. Thomas Camack spent last Tuesday with friends here.

Mr. Geo. Allan's sale last Tuesday was very successful. His stock was in fair shape and everything went reasonable.

The recent storms of last week drifted the roads full, compelling the people to cross their farms. In one township of this county (Holland) there are wire fences along all the roads. It would be a grand thing if that same principle was carried out here.

The people of this part regret to learn of the sudden death of Dr. Park which took place at Feversham over a week ago. The deceased had come over from the west to see his mother, who was dangerously ill. The doctor was well known in this part and leaves a widow and one child to mourn his loss.

10th Line Osprey

Dr. Bond of Maxwell has had quite a bad time making his rounds during the storm of the past week, he having to use snowshoes in place of a horse and cutter.

Miss Ruby Cooper is still at home having started for Collingwood last week to go back to her school in Parry Sound, but finding the roads so bad she has had to postpone her trip till the roads get better.

Mr. Wm. Park of Banks is staying in town awaiting the arrival of Mrs. (Dr.) Park from the west, so they may bury the late Dr. J. Park, who died here on Feb. 2nd. The railroads were blocked with snow and Mrs. Park was delayed in getting here until Saturday last.

We understand that the friends of Mrs. (Dr.) Park were dissatisfied with the undertaker who had embalmed the body of the late Dr. Park and had another undertaker come and exchange coffins after the body had lain for a week. The other undertaker had to make the change while the people were waiting for the funeral. The Coroner was called from Flesherton on Monday before the funeral took place.

One of the coldest and heaviest storms experienced for some years visted this part last week and no mail has reached here since last Tuesday week, the C.P.R. being snow-bound this side of Orangeville and unable to get the mails through The country roads are filled six feet deep in some places and are almost impassable. There are about three and a half feet of snow in the bush and this has stopped the timber cutting for a time. The sawmills have a very small stock of logs, as yet.

Proved Beyond Doubt.

The disappointed victims of poor Catarrh remedies should read the statement of J. R. Smith, of Lake Stream, N. B. In Catarrhozone he found an absolute cure and says: "Last winter my little girl of eight caught cold which lodged in her ears in the form of Catarrh. She became sick and deaf and nothing helped. By inhaling Catarrhozone she got relief and gradually the discharge went away. She was cured perfectly of Catarrh. Personally I can recommend Catarrhozone for coughs and throat irritation; its a wonderful medicine." Sold everywhere, 25c. and $1.00.

Died In Winnipeg.

The following obituary notice appeared in the Winnipeg Free Press of date Jan. 31: "The death of Miss Alice A. Hind, of Suite 1, Laurel block, Osborne street, aunt of Miss E. Cora Hind, commercial editor of the Free Press, occurred this morning. For the past two years Miss Hind has been an invalid, but her final illness was of less than two days duration. Miss Hind was born in Pittsburg 69 years ago and was brought to Toronto by her parents when only a baby in arms. When quite a young woman she assumed the responsibility of taking charge of her brother's orphan children and to them she devoted her life. They moved to a farm near Flesherton, Ont., remaining on it until 1882, in which year Miss Hind came to the west, accompanied by her niece, Miss Cora Hind. She was a woman of beautiful character and while of a retiring disposition was greatly beloved by her intimate friends. She was devoted to works of quiet and unostentatious charity and for the poor and suffering she had an abundant sympathy. For many years she took a deep interest in the Woman's Home on McDermott avenue. Miss Hind leaves to mourn her death, her sister, Mrs. Jacques, widow of the Rev. George Jacques of Calgary, her neice, Miss Cora Hind, and a number of nephews in various parts of Canada."

Scientsts, after puzzling for months over a pile of small heads and skulls found in the Catacombs, have discovered that they are the skulls of common tile prowlers dropped down through an air shaft from a restaurant which makes a specialty of jugged hare at popular prices The scientists have decided that the fact has had no bearing upon the name given to the underground place.

SNOWBOUND

Greatest Storm on Record.

The storms of last week beat the record for this country. From Tuesday until Sunday we were pelted by strong winds hitting us from every point of the compass, making the complete circle once in every twenty-four hours, while the theremometer danced from ten above to twenty below zero, and dense snow storms blinded the air for hours at a time. On Tuesday the railway gave up the fight and allowed the elements to do their worst. Only one of the country mails-Kimberley—came in on Wednesday, the others called it off. The Durham stage from here got stormbound at Durham. Seven travellers were forcibly detained here, divided about equally between the two hotels. The merchants found it a good time to take stock as they were not bothered with customers. There is now somewhere between three and four feet of snow in the bush on the level, and every hollow in the fields is filled level, with the beautiful. It is Whittier's "Snowbound" with the poetry left out. From Wednesday until Friday not a team could get from this village to the station. Friday a gang of shovelers was put on and the road opened. Armstrong Bros. snow plow was hired by Councillor Best and put in commission with Adams' team and did splendid work on the main roads Friday and Saturday. The first mail to arrive after the storm was brought in from Markdale on Saturday afternoon by stage. Saturday evening a stage arrived from Orangeville with Wednesday and Thursday's Toronto mail.

The blockade was raised on Sunday when a train came through from Orangeville bearing the mails up to Friday. This arrived about 4 p. m. and was distributed by Postmaster Sproule. On Monday the trains were running about on time.

Since Friday the weather has been all that could be desired, with bright sunshine. We do not hope for a repetition of the storms of last week. Let them pass as a bad dream.

This storm was general over Ontario from North Bay southward, and reaching from Sackatchewan to New Brunswick. Every railway in the country was more or less seriously affected by it.

Aged Hermit Dies

Robert Bruce, an old man who lived a hermit's life near Wiarton, is dead. For nearly sixty years he had lived his solitary life about two miles out of the town, associating with none and telling no one his strange history.

As near as can be learned, he was born in Scotland about eighty three years ago. He was the son of well-to-do and respectable farmers. He enlisted in the Scot's Guards, but when the Crimean war was breaking out, not caring for the dangers and hardships of war, he deserted and fled to Canada. In his desire to get as far as possible away from arrest he made his way into North Bruce, building a shack near the present Wiarton. Summers he spent in railway construction, while the winter was existed through in his little cabin.

When the Indian land was sold Bruce secured about 300 acres, and this he kept until his death. It is also supposed that he had a considerable amount of money in an Owen Sound bank. When he grew too old to care for himself he was committed to the Owen Sound jail, but even there his independence showed itself in his determination to pay for his keep.

All his years his dress was very fantastic—a cut and style of his own; but when his shack was searched after his death a fine suit of English broadcloth of the pattern of the early 50's was discovered. It bore the stamp of a Glasgow firm of tailors.

As far as known he leaves no relatives of any kind.

A remarkable coincidence exists in connection with the family of Mr. Wm. Monday, who resides on Princess street, east hill. Of a family of six members, consisting of father, mother and four children every one was born on a Tuesday. This itself would be something remarkable, but the family name makes it all the more so —O. S. Advertiser.

COLLINSON BBOS.

John Bryant of lot 8, con 7, Amaranth had his fine barn destroyed by fire on Saturday last. He lost all his feed and grain, six head of fat cattle, ten pigs and all his implements. Mr. Bryan and his hired man were working in the building. They had filled the hopper of the grain crusher with grain and started the windmill to do some grain crushing. They then went into the stable, which is in the basement to do some work. After a short time Mr. Bryan went upstairs to see if the crusher needed more grain and he found the whole of the upper part of the barn in flames. The fire is supposed to have been caused by an over heated boxing or some nails getting into the rolls of the crusher. His loss will be heavy. He carried only $1100 insurance on the building and $1200 on the contents. The risk was held by the Dufferin Famer's Mutual Fire Insurance Co.—Grand Valley Star.

R. J. Ball, Hanover's second-largest furniture manufacturer, is the new warden of Grey County. Mr. Ball lives on the Bruce side of Hanover, and his big factory is also on the west side of the county line. He really is a bruce man but was handed over with the rest of Hanover to Grey County to give our neighbors to the East a few capable public men like H H. Miller M. P., Warden Ball, Dr. Mearns, and Val Kirchner.—Chesley Enterprize.

John Addis of Walkerton was fined $5 and costs for burning his neighbor, Columbus Schnitzler, in effigy, to the words of the Beggar Song. Columbus recently lost a team of horses and a subscription list was passed around to help him in his loss. Addis maintained that his neighbor was wealthy, had no need of alms, and the effigy was intended to bring ridicule on the modern Columbus.
